Mrs. Frances Marsh Whitford, widow of Frederick Eugene Whitford, died Tuesday evening, Dec. 31, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. C. Sanderson, 2 Dix street, following a 10 weeks' illness. She was in her 74th year, and had been for more than a year in declining health.

Mrs. Whitford was the daughter of Abram and Olivia (Goodspeed) Marsh, and was born in Hudson, N. H., after the death of her father. Her education in the Hudson schools, the Attitash Academy in Nashua, N. H., returning to Hudson to teach.

She was married June 9, 1869, and her first husband died in Nashua, N. H., in Winchester in 1870, her husband being associated with his uncle, Charles Bowman, in the provision business.

After two years she returned to Nashua, and shortly thereafter her

After spending some time in the West she returned to Winchester and for seven years served as assistant to the pastor of the First Methodist church. Later for 10 years she served as matron of the Home for Aged People in Winchester, and since retiring has been employed by the city of Winchester with her daughter on Dix street. She was a member of the First Congregational Church and for 70 years was an active member and interested in all phases of church work.

Besides Mrs. Sanderson she leaves Andrew, Walter L. Marsh, 84, of Hudson, N. Y.; a son, John, 67, of a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson, 102, also living in Hudson; one daughter, Edith, Whitford Sanderson of Sandeview, N. Y.; and two grand children.

Prayers were read this Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the First Congregational hurch. Services were held at 3 o'clock in the chapel at the Hollis cemetery in Nashua, N. H., where the interment was made.

LIUT. HARROLD ENDS SERVICE

Last Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock toll call, on the last day of the old year, Police Lieut. John A. Harrold retired from active service at Headquarters in the presence of his broth-

As the veteran officer answered the roll for the last time Police Chief William H. Rogers presented him with his gold lieutenant's badge, the first ever worn by a member of the Winchester Department. The retirement order was read by Chairman Harold J. Farnsworth of the Board of Selectmen, who paid high tribute to Lieut. Harrold, both as a police officer and man, his sentiments being echoed by the remaining members of the board; William N. Beggs, W. Allan Wilde, Raymond S. Wilkins and James Patrolman John E. Hanlon, as president of the Winchester Police Association, presented a check for $100 to the retiring officer in an easy chair and foot rest as a token of the esteem in which he is held by police associates. The veteran lieutenant also showed the emotion he felt as he thanked his brother officers for their gift and for their co-operation during the 33 years he has spent in the force. Finally, he thanked the board and to Chief Rogers for their kindness.

ERITREA: ITALY'S 50-YEAR-OLD COLONY ON THE RED SEA

The recent outbreak of hostilities near the Ethiopian border of Eritrea drew attention to that Italian colony on the west coast of the Red Sea. What is now known as Eritrea in 1891, says an article by Harald Lechenper in the September, 1935, National Geographic Magazine, when the Italian Emperor Menelik II, who had just needed a cooling station in the Red Sea and bought the Bay of Assab from the Sultan of Raheita.

By 1872 a small Italian military force had landed in Assab and it held the Italian flag in this corner of the world. Today, that red, white and green banner flies over a strip of Red Sea coast which is 120 miles long. Inland from Assab across the desert rises the cool highlands of Ethiopia—Abyssinia.

Torrid, barren and fever-stricken is the coast that stretches northward from Assab, but as you approach the Red Sea coast which is 120 miles long, inland from Assab across the desert rises the cool highlands of Ethiopia—Abyssinia.

It was when Italy occupied Massaua in 1885 that Eritrea took definite shape; now the area ruled by the Italian Government is 120 miles long and 220 miles wide. The frontiers of Ethiopia and the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan.

Named for "Mare Erythraeum" of Ancient Rome. In brief, within 20 years after the Italian Government had been established, Italy's colony here had come to cover nearly 40,000 square miles.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis W. Nash of Lawson road held open house on New Year's afternoon.

Wednesday night on 10:15 a Pack and sled, owned by Howard Morrison of 12 Glen road and driven by Howard A. Morrison Jr., crashed into a north on Cambridge street, was in collision near the Boat Club with a Plymouth sedan, owned by Mary Goldman of 14 Elm street, owned by her husband, David, Goldman was driving south and the police say the accident occurred as Morrison attempted to pass another car. Both machines were damaged but no one was injured.

Sergeant Edward W. O'Connell of the Police Department arrested Albert J. Morosse of Borchester at 3 o'clock Thursday morning for the Arlington Police who charged him with larceny by check. He was turned over to Lieut. Sullivan of the Arlington Department after being booked at Headquarters.

Chief Rogers is much pleased with the job being done on the interior of Headquarters by "Gus" Hakanson, local handy man. Among the innovations is the doing over of the emergency room in white enamel so that it can be easily cleaned.

The seven months' old son of Fire Lieut. and Mrs. David J. Moskoll is ill with pneumonia. He was reported yesterday as getting along as well as could be expected.

Quite a few "old timers" were out on the runners over the holiday, and among them was Harold Boardley of the Star press room force. If Harold showed some of the speed on the runners he used to display with spiked shoes on, it cinders the young idea at an eyeblink.

Wilmot Whitman of Abington, who died Tuesday Dec. 31, at that town, at the age of 72, was the father of Warren C. Whitman of Prospect street.

Mr. W. L. Davis of Central Green, accompanied by her brother, Mr. Charles E. Edgerton of Concord, left yesterday for a short visit at Lake Wales, Florida.

Miss Ruth Aseltine, one of Winchester's best young tennis players, leaves Saturday to enter Edgewood Park Junior College at Greenwich, Conn.

"Dick" Townser, son of Mr. Clifford Townser of Everett road, has been at home for the holidays from Exeter Academy, returning Jan. 6. He was the winner of the Christmas scholarship at Exeter.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick White of Glenwood avenue were pleasantly surprised last Sunday evening, Dec. 29, when they were tendered a reception at the home of Mrs. White's sister, Mrs. John Murray, on Salem street, in honor of their 29th wedding anniversary. Members of the immediate family attended the party, the feature of which was the presentation by Miss Mary Murray of a purse of money and beautiful bouquet of cut flowers to Mr. and Mrs. White with the hearty congratulations of all present.

F. William Aseltine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Aseltine of Cabot street, has returned to his studies at the Boston University College of Business Administration after the Christmas holidays.

Building in Winchester up to Dec. 1 totalled over $300,000, and there was considerable building done during the month not accounted for.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

There is at least one man abroad in the land who left Winchester the happier because of the ministrations of Chief Rogers. The members of the Police Department. A tramp was picked up over the Christmas holidays, kept over night at Headquarters, fed and clothed anew from head to foot through the generosity of the Chief and his men. He left happily for his home in Keene, N. H.

"Squire" George Franklin of Fairmount Hill celebrated New Year's Day by playing golf with R. V. "Ray" Hayward and Otis Alley of the high school faculty at Saugame. Our New Year's resolution prevents our doubting the figures the Squire gave us for his round and also prevents us from checking up with "Ray" or Otis. Congratulations, George!

Mr. Frederick W. Aseltine of Cabot street left Jan. 1 for Grand Rapids, Mich. and Chicago, where he will be among some 7000 furniture men from 48 States of the Union to attend the furniture market openings in those cities. Mr. Aseltine will spend a week at Grand Rapids, the furniture capital of America, and a week in Chicago. He is widely known in furniture circles as president of Hill-Welch Co. in Lynn.

Among those who held open house over New Year's were Judge and Mrs. Curtis W. Nash and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Stern.

RETIREES AFTER 45 YEARS TOWN SERVICE

On New Year's Day, John Tansey, known to most of Winchester's citizens, young and old, the operator of the Town's steam roller, completed 37 years continuous service with the Highway Department and was retired on a pension by the Board of Selectmen.

"John" as he is familiarly known, joined the Highway Department in 1899 and for a time cared for the horses in the old town stable on Winchester place. In 1913 he was put in charge of the town's steam roller and continued in that capacity until his retirement, driving the big new gasoline roller in later years and being considered by his inspectors, one of the best men in his line in the entire state. Contractors and engineers who had occasion to inspect his work never failed to praise him and the ease with which he handled his unyielding machines was something to wonder at.

Mr. Tansey is a native of Ireland and came to this town as a boy of 16, working first for the late contractor, Nicholas Fitzgerald, father of James J. Fitzgerald and grandfather of the present Selectman, James J. Fitzgerald, Jr. For 17 years he was a full member of the Fire Department and was driving the old steamer "Mary Ann," on that memorable occasion when it swerved while coming down Winchester place from the old Fire Station and crashed into the building then in process of construction, now occupied by the S. K. Ames store. He was for some time in the hospital recovering from that thrilling experience.

In his younger days, Mr. Tansey was a well known athlete, being a fine bicyclist and an expert at the tub racing which always featured July 4 celebrations. He was well known among firemen for his ability to win hose coupling contests, often held at firemen's festive gatherings. Mr. Tansey made his home at 10 Nelson street and his sons, Joseph J. and Francis W. Tansey, have evidently inherited their father's athletic ability, "John" having been on the Norwich University's finest line men while Francis was one of the best left handed pitchers in the Greater Boston semi-pro ranks.

ENGAGED TO WINCHESTER DOCTOR

Dr. and Mrs. Oliver H. Howe of Cohasset announce the engagement of their niece, Miss Emily Howe of New York, to Dr. George Aaron Marks of Winchester, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter DeWitt Marks of Old Forge, N. Y.

Miss Howe, who is the daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. Walter Clarke Howe of Beacon street, was graduated from the May School in 1928. She made her debut the following year. Dr. Marks was graduated from Hamilton College and in 1928 from Harvard Medical School. He makes his home on Lewis road.

SLEEPY GOING

The light snow of last night made the hills about town treacherous and the police received several complaints from motorists whose machines skidded on Bacon street. One woman complained of injury to her head and neck after three cars, two parked and one in motion, bumped as the result of a skid. A truck driver notified Patrolman James G. Farrow that his machine was struck on Swanton street near Chapin court and unable to move because of the slippery conditions on the roadway. Says had to be liberally used before the big truck could move.

WYMAN SCHOOL NEWS

A Christmas opera, "In Quest of Santa Claus," was given at the Wyman School Friday, Dec. 20, in the assembly hall.
The leading parts were as follows:
Santa Claus—Fred Chamberlin
Mrs. Claus—Mrs. J. M. Martin
Wendy—Donald Marchant
Lore—Joan Blanchard
Children from all grades played the parts of goblins, fairies, brownies, dolls, sunbeams, rabbits and soldiers. The costumes were delightful and the songs and dances were very well done.

Between acts the various classes sang songs.
Plans are being made for the February issue of the "Wyman Messenger." This will be the patriotic issue coming out just before the February vacation.

LOTTERY QUESTIONNAIRE

The Massachusetts Council for Legalizing Lotteries, Inc., announces that its questionnaire relative to the legalizing of lotteries will be placed before the citizens of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts within the next few days.

The Council fully realizes that the people of the Commonwealth are eager and anxious to voice their opinions on legalized lotteries. Mrs. Oren Cheney Sanborn, president of the Council is of the firm belief that the public at large is in sympathy with the movement and anticipates immediate co-operation.

WINCHESTER GARDEN CLUB

The January meeting of the Winchester Garden Club was held at the home of Miss Blanche Eaton, 30 Everett avenue, on Wednesday at 8:30.

The topic for discussion was "Difficult Vases," the members bringing many lovely and unusual vases for suggestions on flower arrangement.

After the meeting, the members enjoyed Miss Eaton's famous collection of dolls, more than 400 in number, representing every country, some of the dolls dating back to the year 1700.

Miss Eaton also has a wonderful collection of tape measures, which are most interesting. There are more than 300 of these and each one different.

Tea was served with the president of the club, Mrs. Reginald Robinson, presiding.

IN-DOOR PICNIC

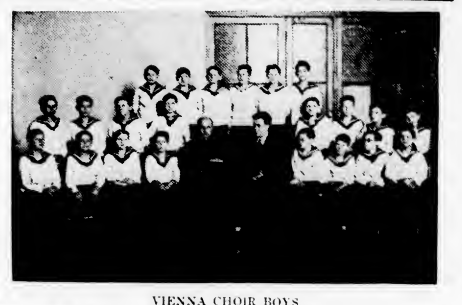

Miss Althea "Zoe" Tibbets of Sheffield road gave an indoor picnic for her friends last Saturday afternoon. The living room of her home was converted into a grove of Christmas trees and in one corner was a gypsy fortune teller's tent, Mrs. Stanley B. Pattison, formerly of Winchester being the gypsy. Supper was served, picnic fashion and as far as possible the games were like an outdoor picnic. The guests wore shorts, slacks and summer play clothes.

Those who came were: Sheila Carr, Brenda Pattison, Nancy Nowell, Beatrice Patter, Anne Peniman, Geneva Underwood, Barbara Spaulding, Anne Cole, Nancy Christianson, Bonney Wilson, Priscilla Pratt, Muriel Field, Berta Magnusson, Claire McGrath, John Rooney, Doris Thornton, Anne Jo Woodward.

Mr. Percy Bugbee of Symmes road was the guest speaker last evening at the meeting of the Rhode Island Fire Chiefs' Club at Providence.

VIENNA CHOIR BOYS

CHOIR BOYS IN COSTUME
THE VIENNA CHOIR BOYS SPONSORED BY THE WINCHESTER TEACHERS CLUB

Performing a light opera in costume, including the feminine roles, the Vienna Choir Boys, an ancient organization of internationally famous boy singers, will be sponsored by the Winchester Teachers' Club on Jan. 16 for the establishment of a scholarship fund. Famed for their beautiful voices throughout Europe and America, these boy singers, whose average age is 12 years, will present a repertoire that includes arias from Schubert, Haydn and Mozart.

The Choir Boys are members of a musical hierarchy that was founded in 1498 by the imperial decree of Emperor Maximilian. For nearly 500 years, up to the present time, the traditions of this organization have been strict and their ideals inviolate. The members of the Saengerknecht Singing Boys' live today—as all ways, in the ancient imperial castle, the Vienna Hofburg, where one Hapsburg royalty tread its venerable corridors. Here these boys work and study, eat, play and sleep. They put nothing, but they have delighted their boyhood to music.

Crowned heads and presidents of nations have listened with admiration to these children in their charming costumes, white wigs, and early chignons.

Haydn, Schubert, Mozart and other illustrious composers received musical training from the Saengerknecht institution of Vienna.

Boys are rigidly investigated before they are admitted to this organization. Applicants must not only show marked vocal and musical abilities but must manifest high qualities of character.

In presenting this concert, the proceeds of which will send some boy or girl to college, the Winchester Teachers' Club invites all music lovers to subscribe to a worthy cause and enjoy one of the outstanding musical and social events of the season.

ENTERTAINED FOR VISITORS

A large gathering of friends and relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mullin, Bridget street, last Friday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest M. Polley of Juneau, Alaska.

This is Mr. Polley's first visit east in 20 years and during his stay, he addressed the Peabody Rotary Club at their noonday luncheon last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Polley left Sunday for Washington, D. C., where Mr. Polley has about a week's business before returning to Alaska. They have one son, Dr. Clayton L. Polley who is married and living in Skagway.

Friends and relatives were present from Beverly, Peabody, Watertown, Somerville, Dorchester, Gloucester, Medford and Winchester.

Refractions were served and games and general singing was enjoyed by all. Mr. Polley, whom we remember as having a fine voice, rendered several songs. He is now a soloist in the choir of St. Paul's Cathedral in Juneau, Alaska.

This is Mr. Polley's first visit east in 20 years and during his stay, he addressed the Peabody Rotary Club at their noonday luncheon last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Polley left Sunday for Washington, D. C., where Mr. Polley has about a week's business before returning to Alaska. They have one son, Dr. Clayton L. Polley who is married and living in Skagway.

Friends and relatives were present from Beverly, Peabody, Watertown, Somerville, Dorchester, Gloucester, Medford and Winchester.

Refractions were served and games and general singing was enjoyed by all. Mr. Polley, whom we remember as having a fine voice, rendered several songs. He is now a soloist in the choir of St. Paul's Cathedral in Juneau, Alaska.

There may be no justice, but it appears that we have a Constitution.

Well—there's one thing about the President's speech; the dignified statesmanship of a Washington leader was amply manifest.

The fact that a project to build 70 houses on Main street appears to be of little interest to the town at large. If this statement is true, the continued hearing on the matter before the Selectmen next Monday night should call for a record attendance.

In this issue of the Star the Kellaway Plan for the abolition of Winchester's grade crossing (and also a solution of its automobile traffic problem) is printed. This plan has been previously printed, but numerous residents have requested that it again be shown—which the Star is pleased to do. Of all the plans for the elimination of our railroad crossing, this has seemed to the Star to be the most suitable from every viewpoint. Now that the automobile has entered into the picture, its desirability appears two-fold.

Notwithstanding repeated report that no petition is before the Selectmen for a motion picture theatre license, rumor persists that the Board is on the verge of granting such a permit. The location, so it is said, is to be on South Main street. If no petition is before the Board, and the rumor is correct, someone must be carrying this petition around in his pocket, ready for the opportune moment to present it. The story goes that election time is approaching and not all of our Selectmen are reconciled to retire to private life. The setting of the important matter of granting a license has thus far, since the Town voted to permit it, hinged upon location. Just how many votes there are in any one section of the Town is problematical. However, application or no application, denial or not, there seems to be a considerable amount of motion picture smoke floating about Winchester at this time.

Dear Mr. Wilson:

Today's mail is carrying to you a copy of "THE BULLETIN," a standard size 14 page newspaper which is designed to give you the opportunity of increasing your volume of local advertising in the month of January while at the same time co-operating in a great humanitarian cause. "THE BULLETIN" contains a series of newspaper advertisements prepared by the William H. Rankin Advertising Agency which are designed for local use in increasing the sale of tickets for the Birthday Ball to be held in your community on Jan. 20. Your local advertising department will find in "THE BULLETIN" the opportunity of securing the co-operation of local business men and philanthropists to sponsor these advertisements at your regular rates. You will note that we have pointed out to local chairmen in the right-hand column on page 1 that newspaper should not be asked to contribute advertising space free as they are already the largest contributors to this charity through their generous use of news and pictorial matter. The news and pictorial material in "THE BULLETIN" is for your consideration and for such use as you may care to make of it.

Complete details and suggestions on the sale of the advertising space are contained in the story appearing in the right-hand column on page 1 of "THE BULLETIN."

May I urge you to look on the lookout for this newspaper so that it will be delivered to your desk promptly for I am confident that you will want to give it your personal attention.

On behalf of the National Committee and its Chairman, Col. Henry L. Doherty, I would like to express to you our sincere appreciation for the generous support and co-operation which the newspapers of our country have contributed to this fight against infantile paralysis.

Sincerely,

Carl Boyer,

General Director

E. P. H. CLASS GIVES FIRST TEA

The first of a series of teas to be given by members of the E. P. H. Class of the Baptist Church, was held on New Year's Day at the home of Mrs. Charles Downer, 17 Willow street, with Mrs. Downer and Mrs. R. M. Rushton as hostesses. Mrs. Emily W. Chandler (Mrs. Rushton's mother) and Miss Edna Knowlton presided.

The dining room was attractive in its glow of candle light. The table was decorated in soft green and sparkling silver.

TWO SPECIAL OFFICERS NAMED

Two special police officers were appointed by the Selectmen this week. William A. Nowell and Joseph S. Parlett of the Water Department being named for emergency duty.

PSYCHIATRISTS TO STATESMEN

A letter signed by 340 psychiatrists from 26 different countries addressed to the statesmen of the world reads as follows:

To the Statesmen

Sir: We psychiatrists, whose duty it is to investigate the normal and diseased mind, and to serve mankind with our knowledge, feel impelled to address a serious word to you in our quality of physicians.

It seems to us that there is in the world a mentality which entails grave dangers to mankind, leading, as it may, to an evident war-psychosis.

War means that all destructive forces are set loose by mankind against itself.

War means the annihilation of mankind by technical science.

As in all things human, psychological factors play a very important part in the complicated problem of war.

If war is to be prevented the nations and their leaders must understand their own attitude towards war.

By self-knowledge a world calamity may be prevented.

Therefore we draw your attention to the following:

1. There is a seeming contradiction between the conscious individual aversion to war and the collective predisposition to wage war. This is explained by the fact that the behaviour, the feelings, the thoughts of an independent individual are quite different from those of a man who forms part of a collective whole. Civilized 20th century man still possesses strong, fierce and destructive instincts, which have not been sublimated, or only partly so, and which break loose as soon as the community to which he belongs feels itself threatened by danger.

The unconscious desire to give rein to the primitive instinct, not even without punishment but even with reward, further in a great measure the preparedness for war.

It should be realized that the fighting-instinct, if well directed, gives energy for much that is good and beautiful. But the same instinct may create chaos if it breaks loose from all control, making use of the greatest discoveries of the human intellect.

2. It is appalling to see how little the peoples are able to realize. The popular ideas of war as they find expression in full-dress uniforms, military display, etc., are no longer in keeping with the realities of war itself.

The apathy with regard to the actions and intrigues of the international and philanthropists to sponsor these advertisements at your regular rates. You will note that we have pointed out to local chairmen in the right-hand column on page 1 that newspaper should not be asked to contribute advertising space free as they are already the largest contributors to this charity through their generous use of news and pictorial matter.

The news and pictorial material in "THE BULLETIN" is for your consideration and for such use as you may care to make of it.

necessary for the maintenance of peace, even at the cost of national sacrifice. If any statesmen should think that the apparatus to ensure peace is, as yet, insufficiently organized, we advise them to devote to this purpose as much energy and as much money as is now being expended on the armaments of the various countries.

We cannot close without expressing our admiration of those statesmen who show by their actions that their culture and morality are so far advanced that they can lead peoples to a strong organization of peace. In our opinion they alone are truly qualified to act as the leaders of nations.

We have the honor to be, Sir, your obedient servants.

FELLSLAND COUNCIL ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Fellsland Council, Boy Scouts of America, will be held at the Winchester Country Club on Thursday evening, Jan. 10, at 6:30. This year's annual meeting will be a gala occasion for every Scouter in the vicinity in the fact that the Council, under the leadership of President Charles L. Oxnard, has succeeded in bringing the Council out of the "red" for the first time in the history of the Council.

The chief speaker of the evening will be Harley E. Erb, Assistant National Director of Camping for the Boy Scouts of America. Mr. Erb has had a long and varied experience in Scouting, starting as a boy of 12, and then traveling through the various ranks of Scouting until he reached the rank of Eagle Scout. Then in successive steps became Scoutmaster, Scout Commissioner, Council President, Scout Executive, Deputy Regional Scout Executive, and only a short time ago, became affiliated with the National office as Assistant Director of Camping. Mr. Erb has also been engaged in business and civic affairs in the South for more than 12 years, during which time he served as Club President and Lieutenant Governor of Kiwanis International; President of Retail Merchants' Association; Director of the Chamber of Commerce; and a member of the American Legion 40 & 8.

Mr. Erb is at the present time in the South for the purpose of attending here at 5:30 p. m. on Jan. 16, arriving directly from the State of Maine and immediately after departing the annual meeting, will depart for New York.

In addition to Mr. Erb, reports will be presented by the various Council committees for the enlightenment of everyone connected with or interested in Scouting. Prof. Crosby F. Baker will present some 50 training course certificates that have been earned by the various men in the Council during the fall months. The election of officers for the year 1936 will also take place at this meeting, and it is understood that quite a number of new faces will appear on this year's Executive Board.

The Edward W. Nelson, the Scout Executive of Fellsland Council, will present a very heavy list of objectives for the year 1936 that will keep everyone connected with the Council on their toes for the next 12 month stretch.

Although written invitations to the annual meeting have only been sent to registered Scouters, within the Council, it is understood that any citizen who is particularly anxious to attend this annual meeting can make the necessary arrangements by getting in touch with the local District Chairman, Mr. Robert Sibley.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

At the next regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. to be held Friday, Jan. 17 at 2:30 p. m. at the Second Congregational Church, Mrs. Bernard and a committee will present a symposium on "Peace," a very pertinent topic at this time. If ever there was a subject in which we should be interested and on which we should be informed at present it is the question of peace. Mrs. Bernard is especially well fitted to present this subject and we are very fortunate in securing her.

Winchester's movie situation appears today to be the burning subject in town politics. The sudden granting of a movie permit by the Selectmen is a move which has caused a great deal of discussion at the coming March meeting are reported by enthusiastically movie-minded voters to be slated for defeat—some for granting a movie permit; others for refusing. The whole picture seems to be over the town location and others oppose it. Some say that if the Selectmen could not grant a permit last spring, why is it imperative to grant it now? Others say that if it was thought advisable to wait and take plenty of time in granting the permit, such time has now arrived. The Star has no direct interest in the present movie situation, now that it is definitely decided that the Town may have them. It has not changed its opinion that a movie theatre here will be a sad financial venture for those who put their money into it and that the Town will continue, by and at large, to go to those nearby theaters which produce the show they most desire to see. However, since the Town is reported to have voted on the question of whether to have movies or not, and as this question was constantly brought before the Town for successive votes, until it was finally carried, what is to hinder a further expression of Town opinion on location? If the Town's decision on movies themselves is so important, and if the controversy over location is now so important that aspirants for election on the Board of Selectmen are to be selected or rejected solely over the location question, why cannot another vote of the Town be gained on this matter? Why all this secrecy? If a permit is about to be granted, why not let the Town know it? If aspirants for election to the Board of Selectmen are to be selected with defeat over this or that, surely nothing can be gained by any secret haggling! Anyone with a grain of sense knows that it is impossible to please everyone. What better triumph can there be than a vote of opinion by the Town itself? If this action by the Star certainly recommends a continuance of the location deliberations. Let us see just where this action smokes the pot of official truth, though we do lose some good official timber.

ECONOMIC PITFALLS IN THE FEDERAL SOCIAL SECURITY ACT

By the circumlocution of being in the machinery business instead of the motor car industry, a firm may be required to pay twice the pay roll tax levied under the Federal Social Security Act; by the accident of being located in New England it may pay two to four times the tax of a Southern competitor. So point out Allen W. Rucker and N. W. Pickering, business economists, in their pamphlet published by Farrel-Birmingham Company, Inc.

Termining the act as either "an unfortunate blend of radical politics and reactionary economists," or a remarkably clever socialistic device for subverting economic freedom while maintaining the pretence of political liberty," the authors draw attention to striking effects produced by the legislation.

Under the subchapter entitled "Centralized Wealth Control" the fact is emphasized that Section 807-a of the Act requires that proceeds of the pay roll tax collections shall be paid, not as often supposed, into a special fund, but into the Treasury of the United States as internal revenue. Thence, from the Treasury (Section 201-a) there is to be appropriated to the "Old Age Reserve Account" only such part of the tax collected as may be an "amount sufficient as an annual premium to provide for the payments required under this title." * * * and upon an interest rate of 3 per cent per annum compounded annually.

Thus, any excess of collections over premium requirements may be used for any purpose to which Congress may care to appropriate the funds, even though American workers and American business paid those funds for a single, specific purpose.

Likewise, any deficiency in the fund (the usual experience with Government enterprises) can be made up by appropriations from the Treasury without the political hazard of directly increasing the pay roll taxes on the salaries and wages of some 30 million citizens.

It is thus evident that the enterprise is not to be conducted under the rigid "make-good" requirements of private insurance companies, but to be run on the basis of ready recourse to the public purse.

That, however, is the least feature of the Act. Section 201-b, concerning the investment of funds transferred to the Old Age Reserve Account simply bristles with implications of the gravest nature, thus:

"It shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Treasury to invest such portion of the amounts credited to the Account as is not, in his judgment, required to meet current withdrawals. Such investments shall be made only in interest-bearing obligations of the United States or in obligations guaranteed * * * by the United States. For such investments such obligations may be acquired (1) on original issue at par, or (2) by purchase of outstanding obligations at the market price. The purpose for which obligations of the United States may be issued under the Social Security Act, as amended, are hereby extended to authorize the issuance at par of special obligations, the proceeds of which shall be used for the Account only on such terms as to provide an investment yield of not less than 3 per cent per annum.

The meaning of this section is very plain: The Secretary of the Treasury must invest the Account's funds only in government securities; there being not enough for the purpose, the Government may issue the needed securities, may go into the market and buy them, but only at a price which will yield 3 per cent per annum. The possibility of these provisions must be as thrilling to the originators as they are staggering to industry and labor, they can only be touched upon here:

1. With the nation's banking system overloaded with Government securities, some of the value of such assets can be substantially lowered at any time the Treasury cares to bring down the market to a 3 per cent yield in order to acquire U. S. Bonds for the "Account." Under the Act the Treasury may buy outstanding issues, but only "on such terms as to provide a yield of not less than 3 per cent." Little wonder that forward-looking banks are heavily increasing the amount of their surpluses, even though a reduction in capital is thereby necessitated.

2. With the "Account" and or the pay roll tax destined to absorb every year amounts double the normal annual increase in savings banks deposits, and virtually equal to the total annual life insurance premiums, these two major sources of funds for industrial expansion are diverted to the Government's vaulting pot. One cannot grasp readily the implications of this situation in their full extent. If, however, the nation is now saving to the best of its ability, and those savings are diverted to the United States Treasury, by whom and under what conditions will industrial expansion be financed in the future? And who will dictate industrial policy?

3. Will the Government be enabled to issue and then "buy its own bonds from itself" what becomes of the money collected in pay roll taxes by the Treasury? Under the provisions of Section 807-a and 201-b, the Federal Government will in time have and own both the bonds and the money! The simple mind finds it difficult to grasp the significance of this situation; the following discussion is merely suggestive.

Under section 807-a pay roll taxes go into the Federal Treasury as internal revenue; under Section 201-a the Treasury is required to invest in the Old Age Reserve Account as a necessary Federal expense; under Section 201-b the "Account" must buy U. S. Government obligations. The Government is then empowered to issue 3 per cent bonds especially for the "Account" and then to purchase of exchanging bonds for money, being right back into the Treasury the "savings" of American industry and labor imposed on it twice the pay roll tax.

The second point is: By such means the entire proceeds of pay roll taxes are potentially available for whatever the Administration may conceive and a willing Congress approve.

This is a very important fact at hand for the Federal expense account will range from one billion dollars in 1937 to almost three billion dollars a year by 1949.

It is no wonder that there has been so little genuine concern about the unbalanced Federal budget and the astronomical mounting of the Federal debt. Pay roll tax collections can be used to bolster up Federal revenues via bond sales to the Old Age Reserve Account while at the same time bond purchases of the Old Age Reserve Account can be used to apparently "pay off" the Federal debt.

The liability represented on the Federal balance sheet by outstanding bonds is cancelled in whole or part by the "assets" of the Old Age Reserve Account which belong to the "Government." The Government owns its own debt; hence, it will be argued, there is no need for any repair. The potentialities of such a situation are numbing to the senses. Under the Act it is not only possible but virtually required that the Federal debt be continuously expanding to provide investment for the funds of the "Account." (Sec. 201-b). That debt and permanent market for Federal bond issues, industry and labor are compelled to save and then compelled to invest the savings in Federal debt which can never be liquidated.

This is the law as proscribed in Section 201-a and 807-a of the Federal Social Security Act. By this compulsory issuance of new debt, by imminent concentration in Federal hands of nine to thirty billion dollars, and by the continuance of credit by the Federal Government, there is brought about a centralization of wealth control, and not to the advantage of credit, by a bureaucratic government which would make John Law writhe in his grave.

Nor is that more than the beginning. The destructive inequalities of the innocent-looking and apparently equal pay roll tax are equally as formidable.

However, praiseworthy the intent of the Act, business cannot afford to be blinded to these facts:

1. It excludes from monthly old age benefits over 90 per cent of employed workers and all persons never employed; it limits benefits in any worth while amount to those who have been employed to take care of their own old age;

2. It will divert into the Federal Treasury annually sums equal to the total of all life insurance premiums and nearly twice the normal annual increase in savings bank deposits, and

3. It thus delivers into Federal control the bulk of the nation's savings out of which business expansion is ordinarily financed;

4. It compels a constantly expanding Federal debt which can never be liquidated, and requires the Old Age Reserve Fund to surrender the savings of millions to the Federal Government in return for bonds;

5. It will place in the hands of the Secretary of the Treasury a fund estimated at nine billion dollars in 1942 and 30 billions in 1949, power of almost absolute dictatorship over the market value of Government obligations;

6. It imposes a tax, apparently equal, but actually falling up to ten times as heavily upon some industries as upon others—a fact that forecasts the liquidation of a greater portion of the 40 per cent of American corporations which never earn a taxable profit in the most prosperous years. The potential unemployment and poverty of the unequal tax is appalling.

The pamphlet contains a table showing for nearly all lines of business the amount by which prices must be raised or sales volume increased in order to enable a firm to absorb the pay roll tax.—(Paper Trade Journal)

"IN MEMORIAM"
The Star learns that inspectors of the State Registrar of Motor Vehicles this week condemned the old Park Department Chevrolet, once driven by the late Superintendent Aaron Johnson, and more recently coaxed along the highways by "Tom" McGowan; said vehicle being 11 years old and having cost the town $15. The inspectors ordered the "ancient mariner" off the road, and the Park Department has blossomed out with a late model Ford.

WINCHESTER WON FROM WAKEFIELD

With "Long John" Eshbach leading the way, Winchester High rode up and trounced Wakefield High in a Middlesex League basketball game Wednesday afternoon in the local gymnasium, 41-31. Winchester scored on an even more conclusive victory, taking the Wakefield Jay-vees, 35-17.

Eshbach had something of a field day on the court, scoring 17 points on seven floor baskets and three goals from free throws, "labby" Gaudin topped all the Wakefield scorers when he tallied 10 points on four goals from scrimmage and two from the foul line. Gray and Provanza scored eight and six times. Price leading Wakefield with eight points.

Wakefield made a game of it during the first period, but Winchester had an 11-7 advantage at that point and thereafter was never in danger, having a 27-19 advantage at the half. The win kept the locals in the league running with two victories and a single defeat.

WORK ON MYSTIC VALLEY SEWER COMMENCED

Work has already been begun upon the first section of the new Mystic Valley Sewer which is being constructed to relieve the sewage nuisance in Winchester and surrounding towns. The section under construction is at Cuddick Bridge in Medford, the southernmost point of the sewer. It is expected that the contract for the second section of sewer will be let next week, and it is hoped to have work commenced on all eight sections within three months.

OBSERVATIONS

By the Observer

Not long ago a flapper here in Winchester was heard telling her chick to use his head for "something besides a funnel."

The grub of old Winchester—that's what we like! But to the old Winchester we'd like to like where there was chicken every meal, buttermilk to make a fellow squeal! In his day, Oh, modern chicken's canned! Increases us no just a bluff.

By the way, remember the good old days when Jersey was a golden butter was to be found on 85 per cent of the tables of Winchester folk?

One Winchester gentleman says he has no wish to live to be 100 and then shuffle off this mundane sphere because people might speak of his burial as a century plant.

We note in an exchange coming to the Star that there are said to be 1,000,000 germs in the average bunch of whiskers. Now how many bunches of whiskers are there in Winchester?

It took $5 for a pair of silk stockings and then roll down all but $2 worth.

Save a fellow in Winchester Square the other day looking at his fedora rolling along the street and it was amusing to hear him remark: "Why, the blamed thing runs just like it had legs."

Winchester fellow who recently returned from Florida says Winchester motorists should take a lesson from the lightning bugs he saw down there. This little insect puts on the dynamo frequently while flying through a dangerous weed patch.

That Winchester motorist who thinks he had hard luck because he ran into a telegraph pole can think of the aviator who smashed up against a mountain out West.

When you see smoke rolling out of the windows of a modern home on a pleasant day at this season when windows are frequently opened it may be a female bride party instead of the housewife.

Don't fail to study yourself if you would know others.

If a Winchesterite would get along smoothly he must do his level best.

One fellow here in Winchester says he is going to trust to luck for his happiness. Well, he'll be lucky if he ever gets it.

Too much of the repentance now-days is done in broadcloth and roses.

Sunshine is the greatest blessing nature gives man, but a few months hence Winchester folk will find an electric fan a thing not to be despised.

Winchester fellow once told us that he had a fine vacation when his wife went on vacation last summer. He was wise enough to tell us rather than her.

Winchester man says he picked up a harpin on Main street the other day. Not many harpins around these days, 'tis a fact.

One woman here in Winchester certainly is raising her leg in the wrong way. She brings in her breakfast at 10 a. m. and allows him to eat it in the bed.

The average Winchester man's idea of a good dinner is a lot of meat—the average woman's a lot of salad. And, may we add, the small boy's a lot of pie.

When a staid citizen of fair Winchester says he likes the Star better than fried chicken and chocolate pudding we feel justified in recommending this paper for a steady diet for every man, woman and youth in Winchester.

Some people here in Winchester seem to use their heads for nothing more than to keep their cars separated.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

Somewhat more favorable consumer prices are noticeable in four-quarter cuts of lamb, fresh pork, eggs and butter. Vegetables in general are fairly plentiful and moderate in price, the outstanding exception being string beans.

Greens including spinach are perhaps cheapest. Green peas and lima beans are moderate in price and cauliflower is fairly plentiful.

Iceberg lettuce continues to be an outstanding bargain. Tomatoes are cheaper.

Strawberries are becoming more plentiful but the outstanding fruits continue to be the citrus varieties, apples and bananas.

Here are three menus at different budget levels for Sunday dinner.

Low Cost Dinner
Lamb Fricassee with Dumplings
Carrots
Onions
Vanilla Pudding with Sliced Bananas
Tea or Coffee

Medium Cost Dinner
Braised Beef
Mashed Potatoes
Sweet-sour Beets
Lettuce
Olive Dressing
Bread and Butter
Snow Pudding with Custard Sauce
Tea or Coffee

Very Special Dinner
Fruit Cup
Baked Ham with Sweet Potatoes and Apples
Spinach Vinaigrette
Hearts of Lettuce
French Dressing
Bread and Butter
Frozen Custard
Coffee

MASSIVE BARRIER HAS ISOLATED ETHIOPIA FOR CENTURIES

Ethiopia's terrain, over which many land troops invading the country must pass, is described vividly by B. Roberts in an article in the September, 1935, National Geographic Magazine. He also tells of the people and their customs.

Ethiopia's population has been variously estimated at from five and a half to twelve millions, writes Mr. Roberts. I believe about seven million is more correct, although no census has been taken. Officially, Ethiopia is a Christian country, but within the confines of the empire there are also Moslems and pagans.

Nine Times as Large as New York State

In size Ethiopia comprises about 424,000 square miles, or is nearly nine times as large as New York State.

West of Eritrea and French Somaliland there is an Ethiopian desert belt 100 miles wide; its lava formations resemble Arizona malpais country at its worst. The lava formation strikes here with terrific force; water here is far apart.

In north and central Ethiopia are five Christian provinces: Tigre, Amhara, Gollam, Wallo, and Shoa; to the south is the home of coffee, which took its name therefrom; farther south and east are smaller provinces conquered by Emperor Menelik II.

West of the desert is one of the world's most striking topographical features—an escarpment rising a mile or more above the lowlands. This massive barrier has isolated Ethiopian mountain dwellers from the outside world for centuries.

Hailstorms a Menace in Winter
These highlands extend west from the eastern escarpment some 200 miles, in an equally steep slope to the west. Much of the area between the western escarpment and the Sudan border is unwrapped, but it is known that this land is densely forested and the soil is the black, greasy, gum-like type. In the east and west lowlands, heat is terrific on the highlands, which vary from 15,000 to nearly 17,000 feet above the Red Sea, it is generally cold.

Two distinct seasons exist—a heavy rainy season lasting from June until the end of September, and a dry season for the remaining eight months. Hailstorms are a menace; often the storms are so large that they cripple mules in a caravan. They usually occur in December and January. I saw the ground covered a foot deep with hail-stones that did not melt for two days.

Time means nothing here. The Ishi nomads, some of Ethiopia's most primitive, are more common than the nomads of Mexico.

Highland Ethiopians are essentially an agricultural people. To them, one of the dwarf varieties of millet, is the principal crop. Some maize is cultivated, as barley and chick peas. Peppercorns are grown extensively and used daily on meat and bread. Cattle are scarce, and thousands of sheep graze on the hills.

Salt Hare Used as Money
Village life is placid. The people are content with few possessions. Men spend much of the day in the fields and yet have plenty of time for gossip. Women are modest; they work steadily, yet not too hard.

No newspapers are known, but all news is broadcast at the market, each village having its weekly market day.

In the vicinity of Addis Ababa, coins and the paper money issued by the Bank of Ethiopia are used as mediums of exchange. In the interior, however, salt hares are used as a trade value of about half a Maria Theresa thaler, are a more desirable currency than silver coins.

Southern Ethiopia is reported to have lions. Many types of antelopes are to be found in the high Aruse country and ibex in the mountains of northern Tigre; but in Shoa and Gollam game is scarce. There are a few small gazelles; and hyenas laugh in the night, but hide during the day. Rabbits and little monkeys are plentiful and respond quickly to decent treatment. In the lagoonal reaches of the Blue Nile, as well as in the lake proper there are herds of hippopotami. I saw as many as fifteen at one time enjoying the water.

Forests along the Sudan frontier shelter elephants, lions, and leopards. By far the most important factor in the life of the people of Ethiopia's highland country is their church. There is a church on almost every hill and on every slightly piece of land. It has been estimated that at the present time there are between 15 and 18 thousand recognized churches in the Empire.

Churches are built in groves of trees and are circular, with successive round enclosures where all ranks (the people, the deacons, and the priests) have definite stations. Location of the church is chosen on almost every hill and on every slightly piece of land. It has been estimated that at the present time there are between 15 and 18 thousand recognized churches in the Empire.

LOCAL GIRL AT THE UNIVERSITY THEATRE

Jean Rogers, known to her many friends and admirers as Eleanor Lovegren, was born at Belmont, Mar. 25, 1916, had planned on an art career, but after graduation from Belmont High in 1933, a friend, however, entered her picture in a national beauty contest which she won, receiving a part of the prize money as her reward. Then Universal gave her a flattering contract and the leading feminine role in "Stormy," the spectacular drama of the great outdoors which comes to the University for a special showing on Saturday morning, Jan. 25, at 2 o'clock.

Five feet, five and one-half inches tall, Miss Rogers has naturally blond hair, dark blue eyes and weighs 116 pounds. A true outdoors girl, she is a devotee of horseback riding, swimming and tennis.

Jean narrowly escaped a fatal injury during the filming of the picture. Watching the sensational stampede of more than 1500 wild horses which is a highlight of the film, the sandy ledge on which she was standing crumbled and she was tossed into the path of the oncoming herd.

Cowboys Jim Phillips and Jack Shannon dashed to her rescue, diverting the herd while Phillips lifted her to his saddle and rode to safety.

Filed entirely in the Painted Desert and other beautiful spots in Arizona, "Stormy" is the picturization of the popular Cherry Wilson novel.

Noah Berry, Jr., plays the title role, and other principals include Fred Kohler, Jr., J. Farrell Manton, Raymond Hatton, Walter Miller, James Burtis, Rex, the king of wild horses, his seven-week-old colt, and the original Arizona cowboys, a septet of real frontiersmen popular on the radio.

Rex, the king of wild horses, seems so wildly beautiful and untamed than ever. But the real hit of the picture is his seven weeks old colt. Brought in wild from the range, it is obvious that he has been permitted to act himself and the result is scenes that will tug at the heart-strings of all.

MALDEN MYSTIC THEATRE

George Arliss in his new picture, "Mister Hobo," will head the double bill opening at the Mystic Theatre in Malden on Saturday.

In this story of a lovable vagabond, the former well-dressed "first gentleman of the screen" disports himself in the tattered garments of a tramp. Mr. Arliss as "Spike" plies his tinker's trade and enjoys dropping in on his stacks. He meets another knight of the road and they start South for the winter. Arrested, he gives his right name which is Rothschild. The other telephones the banking family of that name and he is given a check for 2000 francs. He presents it for payment at a bank which is ready to fail. The president, thinking he has encountered a member of the multi-millionaire banking family, makes the tramp succeed in his mission. The result of this gives Arliss his chance and produces some very funny sequences.

"Charlie Chan's Secret," the newest of the Chan series, with Warner Oland again playing the wise Oriental sleuth, will be the second attraction on the bill starting Saturday.

It is Chan's task to track down the missing heir of the Colby millions. Until the heir is discovered no one knows to whom the Colby fortune will go. Herbert Mundin provides the comedy relief.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS
"Rendezvous," with William Powell, Rosiland Russell, Cesar Romero, Binnie Barnes and Lionel Atwill as the featured players, will head the double bill opening at the Granada Theatre in Malden on Saturday. "Rendezvous" is the story of America's famous spy, catching bureau during the World War.

"Stars Over Broadway," with Pat O'Brien, James Melton, Frank McHugh, Jane Froman and Jean Muir, will be the second attraction on the bill starting Saturday. The story reveals the private lives and loves of successful radio stars. The songs are sung mostly by James Melton and Miss Froman, although Jean Muir does sing one, the first time she has ever sung for the screen.

MALDEN STRAND THEATRE
George Raft and Joan Bennett battle their boisterous way through laughs, thrills and romance in "She Couldn't Take It," which opens at the Strand Theatre in Malden on Saturday. Led by this stellar pair the picture relates the colorful tale of an ex-gangster who undertakes to manage the affairs of the socially prominent Van Dyke family, whose escapades and front page scandals have kept them tabloid headlines for years. George Raft plays the reformed racketeer, who is commissioned by the father, Walter Connolly to "rough 'em up and tame 'em down."

"His Family Tree," with Jane Bryan, William Harrigan, Maureen Delaney and Margorie Gatenon, will be the second attraction on the bill starting Saturday.

"Coronado," Paramount's new musical romance with Eddie Duchin's Band, Leon Errol, Alice White, Andy Devine, Jack Haley and two talented newcomers, Johnny Downs and Betty Newberry, will headline the Strand's bill for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. "Coronado" is one of the best of the year's musicals, mainly because of the presence of Eddie Duchin and his popular orchestra, and the singing and dancing of the 18-year old Betty Burgess.

Lionel Barrymore in, "The Return of Peter Grimm," a secret version of the David Belasco stage hit, will be the second attraction on the bill starting Wednesday. Mr. Barrymore's support includes Helen Mack, Allen Vincent, Edward Ellis and Donald Meek.

READING THEATRE

"The South Seas could not come to Hollywood—to Hollywood went to the South Seas!" Hence "Mutiny on the Bounty," which opens Sunday at the Reading Theatre for four days. The native cast totals 2500 men, women and children. With the aid of Polynesians, two native villages were built as they existed 150 years ago, the largest village capable of accommodating 250 families of islanders.

When the company left the United States on the unusual "location" jaunt, more than 100 tons of equipment were taken along. The tonnage was augmented on the return voyage by native "props" to be used in the picture.

Charles Laughton, Clark Gable and Franchot Tone have the leading roles in the epic outdoor drama. An exceptionally fine selection of short subjects will be included on the same bill. Next week Thursday, Friday and Saturday, the program will include Henry Armetta and May Robison in "Three Kids and a Queen" and Edward Everett Horton in "His Night Out."

WAKEFIELD AND PRINCESS THEATRES

It is the privilege of these theatres on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week to present Will Rogers in his last and greatest picture, "In Old Kentucky."

Diversified as were his interests, he was best known, and most beloved, in motion pictures. This was the medium that brought you his real self, that captured for young and old, rich and poor, the mellow humor of this great American.

Millions, the world over, loved him for his homespun humor and kindness, the qualities which are so sympathetically caught in this famous play acclaimed for three decades as the favorite of all Americans.

In this glorious romance of hearts, horses and humor, Will Rogers again reveals that simple, unassuming Americanism that endeared him to you and your neighbors.

We have called "In Old Kentucky" his greatest picture. That is just what it is. You will agree after coming under its spell.

POCKETBOOK
TAKE ITS PICK!

THEY'RE ALL BIG
...ALL BEAUTIFUL
...ALL BUICKS!

THERE was a time when the price tag told the main story about a car's quality. Low price, low quality—high price, high quality.

But Buick has changed that. For example, the sleek Buick Special at $765* factory list has the same basic Buick quality as the lordly Limited at more than twice the price!

It has the same more efficient type of valve-in-head straight-eight engine. The same smooth, lash-free torque-tube drive. The same tiptoe hydraulics, solid steel "Turbo Top" roof, "Knee-Action" gliding ride.

The difference is in size and capacity and finish. All Buicks are big in power and ability, beautiful inside and out, Buicks to the innermost fibre.

Bring your pocketbook here and let it choose from four cars that range in price from $765 factory list to $1945*.

YOU CAN AFFORD THE NEW BUICK $765 to $1945 are the list prices at Flint, Mich., subject to change without notice. Standard and special accessories groups on all models at extra cost. All Buick prices include safety glass throughout as standard equipment. Convenient new GMAC 6% TIME PAYMENT PLAN.

NO OTHER CAR IN THE WORLD HAS ALL THESE FEATURES

Valve-in-Head Straight-Eight Engine ...
Anodized Pistons ... Sealed Chassis ...
Luxurious "Turbo Top" Body by Fisher with Fisher No Draft Ventilation ... Tiptoe Hydraulic Brakes ... Knee-Action Comfort and Safety ... Torque-Tube Drive ... Automatic Steering, Spark and Heat Control ... Built-in Luggage Compartments ... Front-End Ride Stabilizer.

Then look upon the best buy money can produce. Whatever Buick you pick you'll get longer life, more tasteful style, deeper comfort, a more satisfying car to own.

The new GMAC 6% Time Payment Plan brings down the cost of buying on time. You'll be surprised at how little per month lets you own a Buick. Come in and let us show you how you can use this saving to get a better car than you've been driving.

The present Water Works force will be entirely adequate to care for the situation during the winter season.

To satisfy many questions, the Star asked Police Chief William H. Rogers, whether there is to be a lieutenant in addition to the present Lieut. V. Harrold, recently retired. Chief Rogers stated that eventually a new lieutenant will be appointed but that this will not be done until the end of the next three months.

Representative William E. Ramsdell of Winchester and Senator Charles T. Daly of Medford have both filed bills in the Legislature asking for an appropriation for the dredging of upper Mystic Lake, called by some "Bacon's Pond," and located entirely in Winchester.

Early passers along Fairmount street last Sunday reported to the Star that the eminent golfing expert, "Squire" George W. Franklin, has evidently gone in for landscape gardening or is conducting a golf course in the Christmas decorations. At last they were led to that position by the appearance upon his front doorstep of an artistically decorated Christmas tree. We're glad to know about this "George" and will bear you in mind when it's time to decorate the Star another Christmas.

GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

Lecture

The first morning lecture of the 1936 series will be held on Friday morning, Jan. 17 at 10:30 a. m. at the home of Mrs. Herbert Dawes, 7 Rainsford road. Rev. Timothy Fay, S.J., will be the speaker and his chosen as his subject, "Problems of Sociology." Miss Mary Louise Hickey, Literary assistant of the Hickey School of Expression, probably will assist in making this morning an interesting and beneficial one. Morning coffee will be served one half hour preceding the lecture.

Cabaret and Dance
The Gold Coast Orchestra of Harvard University will make a stop at the Guild members at our poverty party will again be with us and furnish the music for dancing at our cabaret. They alone would make an evening most enjoyable, but when you have a master of ceremony such as Jack Shannon, Boston, to conduct a large show and to keep things moving it is bound to be a huge success.

The little McLean girls, Mary and Betty Ann, who are so popular, will give their clever tap dances and with Miss Elsie Thomas to share the laurels we know that end of the program is in very capable hands.
John Winchester made such an impression as she gave her ballet dances at the recent at Alcorn, estate of Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Downes, last spring that her audience will greet her most enthusiastically at the cabaret.

Miss Mary Devine and Mr. Francis Felt in a group of lovely diets and Miss Sylvia Daly, soloist will cover popular and semi-classical songs. Freddie Houson, accordionist, and Miss Gertrude Hamilton, violinist will add variety with their splendid music. Mrs. Thos. Houson and Miss Mary Devine will be the accompanists. The ushers in charge of Mr. Spencer O'Leary, will be Mr. Dana Kelly of Medford to replace Lieut. V. Harrold, Fred Dudley and Herbert Cleary all of Cambridge. In charge of the serving will be Miss Lucia McKinnis, assisted by Miss Gail Gaffney, Lorretta Gaffney, Barbara Hickey, Mary Culley, Eileen Underwood, Catherine McDougall and Ann Tarquin.

EMBLEM CLUB AFFAIRS

The next social night is Wednesday evening, Jan. 22, at 8 o'clock in Layton Hall. A New Year's bridge and party is being planned for the occasion with the following sisters acting as hostesses: Mrs. Fred Schell, Mrs. Joseph Callahan, Miss Alice Sullivan, Miss Edna Latham. Each member is urged to sell tickets enough to make up a table—either a bridge or whist table. As usual, prizes are solicited and that means a large quantity of beautiful and worthwhile prizes to attract the general public.

As Ash Wednesday falls on our February social night, many of the sisters are planning house parties to take the place of the larger social. All who wish to run house parties before the end of the month should notify the President, Mr. Frank O'Neill, or the secretary, Miss Katherine E. Fallon, requests the return of all chance books in aid of the charity fund, in order to set a date for the drawing of the prize. The fiscal year of this club ends in May and election of officers for the Supreme visitation always means installation followed by a banquet and entertainment.

Supreme President Helen L. Homer announces the date of the Supreme Star's visitation to Winchester, Wednesday evening, April 22. A long time ahead, say you, but we need every day and hour of that time for the election of officers and the Supreme visitation always means installation followed by a banquet and entertainment.

Now that the hustle and bustle of these visitations has started, Assistant Supreme Marshal Emily A. Schell will be as busy as the proverbial one-eyed carpenter until they are over. We don't envy her job of prancing all over the U. S. A. in her endeavors to keep up with the gang. It surely is one of the jobs. But Big Brother Fred will see that she does not fall by the wayside, which is a consolation to her many well-wishers in the club.

MEETING OF THE JUNIOR CIRCLE OF THE FLORENCE CRITTEBORN LEAGUE

The regular business meeting of the Junior Circle of the Florence Crittenden League was held at the home of Mrs. Eleanora Mayfield, 15 Cabot street on Tuesday, Jan. 14.

The speaker was Mrs. James Duncan of the Volunteers of America, who spoke of the importance of summer camps for the poor people and also told what the Boston Branch is doing for the people who come in there for help.

Mobile, Ala., Named for Indians
Mobile, Ala., got its name from the Maribou or Maribou Indians, who lived near there.

Apricot Traced to Asia
The apricot is believed to be a native plant of western and central Asia, extending eastward to China.

FIRST BIG STORM OF WINTER

Winchester experienced its first big snow storm of the winter over the past week-end, a fall of 15 inches being reported by Supt. Harry Dettou of the Water Department.

The storm started Saturday morning and by noon was in full swing, abating during the early evening but starting in again during the night. Throughout Sunday the snow fell steadily and during the afternoon was accompanied by a wind of considerable force.

Superintendent Parker Holbrook started the street scrapers and sidewalk plows Saturday afternoon, and had large crews of men and all available scrapers at work Sunday, the men working through until midnight and plowing out all streets about town with the exception of some private ways. Generally conditions were very good Monday morning even for those who had to turn out early.

Only one automobile accident was reported during the storm, that taking place on upper Main street near Blanchard's lumber yard and involving a pleasure car and a street railway bus. No one was seriously injured.

Sunday, shortly after 6 o'clock Dr. Richard W. Sheehy phoned for the Police Ambulance to remove a patient from a house on Ledyard road to the Winchester Hospital for treatment. It was found that the road was impassable and Assistant Superintendent Michael Grant of the Highway Department was notified. The latter immediately sent plows to Ledyard road and the ambulance manned by Sgt. Edward W. O'Connell and Patrolmen James F. Noonan, Irving Reardon and Joseph Quigley removed the patient to the hospital.

A single fire alarm rang in during the storm, a phone call sending apparatus to the residence of Mr. C. I. Foster at 67 Church street, where a chimney fire had been discovered.

CHEESE SHORTAGE AND WEATHER BOTTERED WHARF RATS

The annual meeting of the Megansett Wharf Rats, held over the weekend at the summer residence of Charles L. Nutter at North Falmouth, was attended by three Winchester Rats—Preston E. Corey, William R. Walker and T. Price, Wilson. With one exception the whole drove of Rats attended, including besides Mr. Nutter the host, East Bridge-water, Bertram Pickers of Bridgewater. The big meeting was on Saturday. At the afternoon session William O. Ormsby and Howard White of Taunton were present and lectured various levies. "Five Shirts" Corey presided at the evening session, which was held with the Megansett members of the South Finance Committee, Albert Landis and Dr. Harold O. Hunt. Important and far-reaching matters pertaining to the future welfare of the wharf rats were discussed at length and cordial relations established between the Cape and the remainder of the State.

For the second time in the existence of the organization, the supply of cheese was exhausted and Mr. Walker was commissioned to interview American grocers and manufacturers in view of rectifying this situation.

Owing to the inability of the Rats' secretary to contact the weather man, the train home on Sunday night was not all it might have been, but this error is to be rectified at the Washington's Birthday session.

MRS. NETTIE M. HIGHT

Mrs. Nettie M. (Wildes) Hight, a life-long resident of Winchester, passed away Sunday, Jan. 22, at her home, 5 Swan road, after a brief illness with pneumonia.

Mrs. Hight was born in 1845, the daughter of John and Sarah Jane (Fiske) Swan, who were early settlers in this town upon the property in the location of Shillineau street, Everett avenue and Swan road.

Mrs. Hight in her earlier years was active in church work and at the time of her death was the oldest member of the First Baptist Church.

She is survived by her son, H. Wadsworth Hight with whom she had made her home.

WINTON CLUB CABARET NEWS

With the rehearsals of the Winton Club Cabaret in full swing at the Country Club, tickets are going fast and the Town Hall will soon be filled by capacity audiences on the evenings of Friday and Saturday, Feb. 7 and 8. This is the largest cast yet assembled for the Cabaret and the daily rehearsals are slapping up the talent that Winchester has reason to be proud of. The mid-winter season would seem incomplete if the Winton Club failed to produce a Cabaret and it is due to the hundreds of interested patrons that it has been possible to stage the beautiful effects that are produced each year for the benefit of the Winchester Hospital.

Mrs. Robert S. Hunt is the able chairman of the committee with Mrs. Irving Jennings in charge of the music. With Mrs. Paul Elliott and Mrs. Hattie, Mrs. Hunt and the committee have been preparing for the show since last spring when the Rogers Co. were engaged to coach it (a new venture for the Winton Club) and Jack Marshall's popular ten-piece orchestra was engaged to provide the music.

Mrs. James O. Murray of Crescent road finds her telephone ringing day and night by those who are reserving tickets for the performance. Mrs. T. Price Wilson in charge of costumes, has proved herself invaluable in similar work last year. Mrs. Edwin Rooney is chairman of a large and very active committee who are handling the advertising for the program and are bringing in glowing reports of their progress.

Mrs. Richard Hill is to be in charge of refreshments both evenings of the show. Mrs. Alfred White is in charge of the selling of cigarettes and cigars, with Mrs. James O. Murray planning for the sale of the beautiful gardenias from the Belmont gardens. Mrs. Helen Schuchter and Mrs. Edward French are handling the door committee. Mrs. Burton Gove plans for a very effective Spanish setting for the show and Mrs. Donald G. Crowell is handling the publicity for the Cabaret.

MISS AVERY'S LECTURE

Africa, exclusive of Ethiopia is not a common topic these days, yet Miss Avery found the time to devote a minute ahead of the news material in it for her lecture at Wyman School hall last Wednesday.

Dividing the continent roughly at the southern edge of the Sahara, the natives to the north are Arabic and those to the south are negroes. The lecture dealt with the southern section, particularly the Union of South Africa.

One of the world's youngest experiments in democracy is going on. The cities are modern and growing so fast that they say Johannesburg is making races to the white is optimistic. Till now there has been no bitterness in Africa but the war in Ethiopia is forcing race consciousness. Among others, Miss Avery met and talked with General Smuts while in Africa. He seemed very hopeful for the future of the white in spite of the tremendous race problem.

The exhibits were very interesting especially the horns of various animals. There were also 21 exquisite small color sketches made on the trip by Miss Avery's uncle, Mr. Albert M. Graves, R.A.

PRESIDENTS' CLUB

On Monday, Jan. 27 at 2:30 o'clock the Eight District Presidents' Club will be entertained by the Melrose Highlands Woman's Club at their club house, 325 Franklin street, Melrose Heights.

This meeting is to be a social get-together, with an old fashioned singing in charge of Mrs. MacNair. The hostesses will be the Board of Directors of the Eighth District Presidents' Club. Mrs. Ernest R. Brackett, Mrs. Wilbert Lindquist, co-chairman.

At this zone meeting, President "Boby" was in the chair as usual. The attendance was very encouraging despite the inclement weather. Especially gratifying was the large number of our own members. Representatives were present from Wakefield, Watertown, Lynn, Lowell, Melrose, Somerville and New York City.

LIIONS MEETING, JAN. 20, THE DAY AFTER THE "BIG STORM"

Owing to the hard traveling the attendance was small, but it was interesting to note that the great majority of those who were present lived in the "outskirts" or the wild and woolly suburbs.

Not much business was transacted the time being spent in general and informal remarks.

As the report of the zone meeting of Jan. 13 was inadvertently omitted from the "Star" of last week we consider it of sufficient general interest to include it in this week's issue.

At this zone meeting, President "Boby" was in the chair as usual. The attendance was very encouraging despite the inclement weather. Especially gratifying was the large number of our own members. Representatives were present from Wakefield, Watertown, Lynn, Lowell, Melrose, Somerville and New York City.

Immediately after the sumptuous meal, Dr. Howard J. Chidley was introduced and gave his talk on "Strange Rights I Have Seen." The Reverend Doctor was never in better form and has seldom been heard to better advantage. He took us to Alaska, Norway, Spain, Egypt, Sahara and the ancient Pyramids of Jerusalem, Jericho, and other countries, giving us the "low-down" or first hand information about all of these countries that one could obtain in no other way. His talk was inspiring, instructive, interesting and amusing.

He held his audience in rapt attention for over an hour and we all regretted that he had to close leaving us hungry for more. His speech, which was really more in the nature of an informal talk, was agreed by all to be one of the best they had had the pleasure of listening to.

Dr. J. H. Bailey also addressed the meeting, giving an illuminating talk on Lionism and its sidelights.

Other speakers were Fred Clement, zone chairman, of the Melrose Lion and Dr. Clayton Walker of the Somerville Lions.

Although it was an evening held to be remembered by those fortunate enough to be present.

CHILD INJURED BY TRUCK ON WENDELL STREET

Mary E. Greaney, four year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Greaney of 48 Wendell street, sustained injuries to her left foot when a truck backed into the sled on which she was sitting near her home early Monday afternoon.

Joseph L. Lane of 16 Lee street, Somerville, operator of the truck, owned by the Mitchell Baking Company of 29 Vine street, Somerville, told the police he was backing the machine when a rear wheel struck the little girl who was sitting on her sled in the road. He took the child, accompanied by her mother, to the hospital where she was treated by Dr. Milton J. Quinn.

X-ray pictures showed bruises to the instep of Mary's left foot and after treatment she was taken to her home by Lane.

BOY SCOUTS NOTES

Winchester Boy Scouts were today preparing to welcome a new troop to their district while Fellsland Council is having the new troop organized at its objective of 10 troops and two Sea Scout units in the council expansion program for 1936.

The new group has been designated as Troop 4 under the sponsorship of Sons of Italy, Lodge No. 1080, and will be mustered into the Boy Scouts of America officially at 7:30 p. m. on Feb. 6 next in the hall at 17 Holland street.

Under good auspices will Troop 4 make its bow to Winchester. Full cooperation of Fellsland Council has been pledged by the new president, Robert H. Sibley, of Winchester. Assisting the sponsors are Scout Executive Edward H. Nelson and District Commissioner Francis H. McCall of Winchester.

Well known to Winchester are the adult leaders of the new troop. Chairman of the Troop Committee is Frank P. Zappa, of 14 Hill street, World War veteran, former assistant Scoutmaster of old Troop 5, and town constable. The other committeemen are Gartho Frontello, 40 Harvard street, past president and present trustee of the Sons of Italy Lodge; Angelo Tofani of 43 Harvard street, boxer, Scoutmaster of Troop 1; Donato Simo-netta of 25 Marion street; Enrico Fazio of 308 Washington street; Raffaele Savonuzzi of Washington street and James Violante of 63 Florence street.

Unanimous choice of these committeemen for Scoutmaster of the new troop is Anthony Barbato of 10 Quincey court. A national guardsmen of three enlistments is Scoutmaster Barbato has much juvenile contact experience he has had as a leader in the Junior Sons of Italy.

Assistant Scoutmasters are Carroll Innamore of 160 Weston street and Domenico Provinzano of 20 Florence street, a brother of Frank Provinzano of Winchester High School football team.

Parents living in the general vicinity of the homes of the new troop's leaders are urged by Fellsland Council to send their sons between the ages of 12 and 16 of the opportunity that is being afforded them to join the Troop. Scoutmaster Barbato, Chairman Zappa and the other committeemen will provide information as to requirements.

Scoutmaster Barbato has already prepared a program of Scouting activities and like all Scouting activities their aim is to teach the boy to be of high character and good citizenship. Boys of the old troops will be on hand at the first meeting of Troop 4 to extend a welcome to the tenderfoot. After the meeting, Feb. 6, the regular meeting nights of the troop will be on Monday.

Meanwhile the other troops of Winchester are busy. The busiest four weeks of the year—a period which will not only include celebration of Boy Scout week in commemoration of the founding of the organization but also a campaign to raise Winchester's quota of the $274 budget of Fellsland Council for 1936. Contributors to the budget will receive "dividends" from their investment in the training of Boy Scouts by a new plan, which proposes to keep these benefactors in constant touch with the activities of the boys.

Troop 2 today reported six of its members passing outdoor tests at Camp Lane. Troop 7 enjoyed a skiing trip through the Fells at its Monday meeting.

Troop committeemen in active contact with their organizations, scoutmasters and assistant scoutmasters will sit down to a dinner cooked by Scoutmaster John Kennerly of Troop 1 in Camp Lane, Burlington, tomorrow night at 6 o'clock. To some of the adult leaders the dinner will serve as an introduction to the Scouting attractions of the camp which has aroused virtually its every visitor to deep appreciation of the good fortune of its advantages being available at all times to Winchester Scouts.

More than a score of the adult leaders of the Winchester Scouts accepted yesterday invitations to attend the informal affair which is being arranged by Committeemen A. O. Held, Wayne Thompson and Kingman Case.

Several of the leaders plan to remain overnight and the remainder of the 12 beds of the bunkhouse is open for reservation.

Pioneers of overnight trips to Camp Lane last week were from Troop 1. The boys cut a large supply of wood which together with their frolics whetted appetites for a supper of spaghetti, bread and cocoa, a breakfast of pines, oatmeal, pancakes and cocoa, and a dinner of stew, milk, peas, bread, butter and jam.

With the bunkhouse filled to capacity, the fire at 36 above proved to be a disadvantage. Several windows were opened. Personnel of the trip was as follows:

Leader, C. Shack; B. Meek, J. Carlin, F. Novelli, N. Zamparo, F. Meliace, J. Campbell, R. De-Tes, A. Feeney and C. Luongo.

Troop 2 is being assured of a big attendance of adults at its Parents' Night meeting on Feb. 10 next, when advancement awards will feature the evening's program.

Appreciation by Fellsland Council for the interest manifested by James J. Quinn, superintendent of schools, in Scouting was indicated by his election as honorary vice president of the executive committee of the council. Quinn are Charles L. Oxnard as honorary president, Mayor John J. Irwin of Melford as honorary vice president and Edward B. Colledge as honorary vice president. Mr. Oxnard is the retiring president of the council. Ex-Mayor Colledge of Melford is a former president of the council.

E. P. H. CLASS MEETING

The E. P. H. Class of the Baptist Church held their regular meeting in the E. P. H. room on Tuesday evening, Jan. 20, 1936. The following were their guests. There were 27 present.

The guests were: Ethel Parsons, 1919-20; Charlotte Gilmour, secretary 1919-20; Ethel Jewett, 1921; Helen MacDonald, 1922; Alice Winn, 1923; Edna Mitchell, 1924-25; Persis Richardson, 1926-27; Florence Jewett, 1928; Anne Purdy, 1929; a poem was read in memory of Lizzie Johnson, who was president in 1930; Persis Richardson, 1931-32; Maude Jakeman, 1933-34; Anna Holbrook and Belle Macphail, 1935. After the business meeting, conducted by the President, Vivian Jones, the party gathered around tables in the recreation hall, which were decorated for the occasion with a favor for everyone. Each of the past presidents found a beautiful corsage awaiting them. An interesting hour was spent in reminiscence of the past 17 years of work together, after which refreshments were served.

The next meeting, Feb. 18, will be guest night, in the form of a Valentine party. A very interesting program is being prepared.

Present day inconsistencies have been vividly illustrated this week. With millions of dollars being spent and advocated for the building of sidewalks to protect pedestrians from the menace of automobiles, now, with traveling conditions never worse, nearly places are not even plowing out existing sidewalks, thus forcing people to walk in the streets! No wonder the nation is said to be at the crossroads! And along with this condition, we are told that a man being fined $50 for a violation of the N.R.A. The fact that this imposition upon the American people has been declared unconstitutional, apparently did not apply to his case, which was prosecuted under "title 2" of the AAA, also declared unconstitutional, is reported by the Associated Press continued: What are laws anyway?

IF HOUSEHOLDERS USED A SHOVEL

To the Editor of the Star:
After about 15 years cogitating I've come to the point of writing you about a matter that I think all our fellow townsmen might act upon.

This is a good town we live in. At times like this morning it is brought forcibly to our attention by the splendid job of plowing done on our streets and sidewalks. The town cannot do a better job, but the citizens can't do it, and only at little effort to each one.

I refer to the sidewalks. The horse-plows do a good job of moving the greatest burden of snow but they leave just enough to make the walks not quite good enough.

Then comes a thaw followed by freezing and one has the choice of risking a broken leg on the sidewalk or a more serious encounter with a fast moving vehicle on the roadway.

What I wish you would advocate in your paper is that each household use a shovel on the walk before his house as soon after each storm as possible.

I've lived in this town 23 years on a little used street where each resident does just this, and when walking is had elsewhere it's always good and safe on the sidewalks of that particular street.

If there isn't an able-bodied man in the house here's a way to help deserving men looking for work.

Yours for a little better town.

OFFERED TECHNICAL LIBRARY

To the Editor of the Star:
On Dec. 12 I wrote to the Librarian of the Winchester Public Library that I had a personal technical library consisting of approximately 50 volumes in 21 Globe-Vernice bookcases in my office in Boston that I would be glad to give in whole or in part to the Winchester Public Library if they were interested and would care to call at my office any week day excepting Saturday, when the library would be shown to them for their consideration.

On Dec. 21 I received a letter from the Librarian stating that it was necessary for her to take this matter up with the Trustees and that on Dec. 20 this was discussed with the Trustees who would be glad to visit my office shortly and consider the acceptance of same. Since then I have had the library called twice, asking when they would inspect same and as yet I have not had any information from them. Due to this fact, and the fact that I am anxious to dispose of the books to someone who might be interested, I have now disposed of this library to men who were extremely interested in obtaining same.

It would seem to me that if the Trustees of the Winchester Public Library are not sufficiently interested in obtaining a library such as I have offered them that it would be an opportunity to get Trustees who are somewhat interested in the welfare of the library when they have an opportunity to obtain such a selection of scientific books as I have indicated.

Very truly yours,

F. C. Sargent

"SNOWBOUND"

All last weekend we had rain, sleet and snow. A storm like the one of just a year ago.

And Winchester town was really "snow-bound."

Like Whittier's poem so well remembered.

Our town's frozen places our streets with ice.

Then a tractor saw our sidewalks a taste

Then snow to left, tractor three to right.

Result: snow lanes, between, of starting light.

Now these lanes lined our street and end of.

From corner to corner and around the bend.

So it was we were to use our cars, we had work to do.

It was cut that that drove or back tunnel then.

I've shovelled that snow 'til back and hands are raw.

Now the Bureau forecasts snow, rain and more.

The Power of the Press is GREAT, it's claimed.

Please, Mr. Editor, do your stuff. I'm maimed!

And while you're at it order small snow-falls.

It's getting all at once that so greatly excite.

Arrange for small dews, Mr. Editor, please. I'll be done for broken and with my miseries.

GOOD WILL TOUR

An unusual opportunity is being offered to one, or possibly two, Winchester boys 15 to 18 years of age, to become members of a European Fellowship Tour for Eastern Massachusetts boys which is being conducted during the summer of 1936 by the International Committee of Y. M. C. A's. The group will be limited to 24; and will be in charge of two local leaders, Howard O. Russell and Fred W. Lacey, General Secretaries respectively of the Wakefield and Melrose Y. M. C. A's.

The Eastern Massachusetts boys will go aboard the new 14,000-ton motor liner Plaisidus at the Sixth street pier, Hoboken, N. J., at 10 o'clock on the evening of Monday, July 6, sailing at 12:05 a. m. The ship will make a special call on the 14th at Edinburgh, Scotland, from which point the itinerary includes the Trossachs, the English Lake country, Shakespeare country, London, Brussels, Paris, Geneva, Lucerne and Engelberg. Arriving at Zurich, the boys will then go to Warsaw, Poland, for a brief visit, sailing from Gdynia, Aug. 11, spending several days in Poland, and then sailing, and arriving in New York Aug. 20.

It will be seen that here is the experience of a lifetime which would benefit any young man interested in the ideal of international fellowship. All arrangements for entertainment in Europe are made by the World's Committee of Y. M. C. A's which has headquarters in Geneva.

Mr. Russell and Mr. Lacey have been in charge of their respective Y. M. C. A's for the past ten years. Mr. Russell is a member of the Wakefield Rotary Club and is well known to Albert K. Collins and Richard A. Harlow of Winchester.

The sponsoring committee includes Lester N. Woodland, President of the Melrose Y. M. C. A.; William Blanchard, President of the Wakefield Y. M. C. A.; William Sprague, Principal of Melrose High School; Robert Friend, President of N. Goodspeed and Sidney S. Watts.

A prompt expression on the part of any interested parents is necessary in view of the demand for admission to the Olympic games and the consequent call for steamship reservations. The earlier this group is complete, the better sections of accommodations will be given to the first applications received.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Eight members were absent from the meeting of Jan. 23.

It is requested that members give particular attention to the club's attendance record. For no easily discoverable reason the attendance has very distinctly declined during the past two months. The president and members are on leave of absence.
Therefore, in order to keep reasonably near the mark every member must be scrupulously careful to observe the remainder of the season to among this important obligation.

We report a highly satisfactory meeting of the Aims and Objects Committee of this club on Tuesday evening, Jan. 21, at the residence of President "Billy" Beggs. Club activities, present and projected, were thoroughly discussed. The committee takes pleasure in acknowledging the delightful hospitality of President "Billy" and Rotary Ann Betty.

Seven officials represented this club at the mid-year assembly of the 31st District, held on Jan. 22, in the beautiful new city hall at Newton. The total attendance at the assembly was 329, including six Past District Governors. Sixty-three of the 70 clubs in the district sent representatives.
District Governor Henry Porter presented an unusually large and comprehensive list of topics for treatment and discussion. A most feature was the presentation of the Past District Governor Robert W. Hill of the six oldest New England Rotarians, all members of the club. The speaker these we recognized Clifford P. Nutting, a well known resident of Winchester. This assembly with its close-to-the-record attendance gave conclusive evidence of the enthusiastic support which the Rotary movement commands in those who have experienced it.

Reverting once more to local club affairs we would emphasize the announcement which President "Billy" made at the current meeting, to wit:
That club members who are to bring guests to any meeting should notify the club steward of such intention at the earliest time possible, thereby avoiding needless expense and other inconveniences. This is a courtesy due to a faithful and efficient officer.
Let us be careful.

Kindly note these contributors to the February issue of the "Rotarian" —Bruce Barton, Irving Bacheller,
Mark Sullivan, Dr. Donald A. Laird and many others. Your pride in your magazine will be the greater in proportion to the attention which you grant it.

We were pleased to welcome as guest speaker, this week, Charles "Sandy" Chapman, who addressed us on a subject which is of vital interest to him and ourselves as well, namely "Devices for affording protection from the fire menace." "Sandy" fully lived up to his reputation of being an uncommonly witty, forceful and entertaining speaker, and we do not overlook his complimentary and well deserved remarks concerning our general Fire Chief, "Jays" McCurry.

Percentage of attendance, Jan. 16—
87.10 per cent.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

New York was the first city in the world to see the picturization of Dostoievsky's "Crime and Punishment."
Rare judgment was shown in casting the film. Those who are familiar with the classic will know that Edward Arnold is a perfect choice as the canny, subtle yet dominating police inspector and that Peter Lorre cannot be surpassed as the principal, Raskolnikov. It is the story of a brilliant young man, a student of the criminal mind, who, out of pure desperation, attempts to commit the perfect crime. Possessed of an extraordinary mentality, he believes that he can outwit the blundering police.
How he goes about perpetrating the crime, why he does it, and how he finally defeats himself, make for of the most stirring dramas the screen has yet shown. Marian Marsh,
Robert Allen, Edward Risdon, Tala Birell and Mrs. Patrick Campbell are featured in the important supporting roles. The film will be shown at the University for three days starting Sunday.

"Stars Over Broadway," the companion feature is a stirring drama with music featuring Pat O'Brien, Jean Muir, Jane Froman, James Melton, Frank McHugh and Frank Fay.
On Wednesday, Review Day, the program includes Victor McLaglen in "The Informer," one of the ten best pictures of the year, and "No More Ladies" starring Joan Crawford.
On Thursday "Mary Burns, Fugitive," starring Sylvia Sydney will be shown and "The Man Who Broke the Bank at Monte Carlo." The March of Time, No. 10, will also be shown.

READING THEATRE

If there is any truth to the saying that "a laugh a day keeps the doctor away," the medics will be put out of business by the riotous Marx Brothers comedy, "A Night at the Opera," on the spot of the Reading Theatre
Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

By actual stop watch timing there are 70 minutes of solid laughs in the latest hit of the Merry Madcaps.
Fifty minutes of laughs were actually timed when the Marx Brothers took their story on a tour of Pacific Coast cities as a musical comedy scene was filmed. The additional 20 minutes of chuckles were added in the studio.

Groucho, Chico and Harpo decided that this picture should be new departure in Marx Brothers' comedy—and it is! It is chuck full of romance, brilliant singing and original humor.

In the notable cast are Walter King, who also has a fine singing talent, Siegfried Rumann, Margaret Dunham, Edward Kane and Robert Emmet O'Connor.

On the same bill will be George Brent and Sylvia Sydney in "In Person," and Mary Morley play today and tomorrow includes Edward Everett Horton in "His Night Out" and May Robson with Henry Armetta in "Three Kids and a Queen."

Telephone calls

All day Sunday you can make out-of-town telephone calls at week-day night rates.

— the mother who hasn't heard from you lately
— a son or daughter away from home
— a friend who is ill
— someone who has a birthday or anniversary soon.

THREE MINUTES of family news, of encouragement, of cheer, of congratulation, will be an ideal Sunday afternoon interlude, and will undoubtedly mean as much to you as to the person you call.

Ever since last June, when telephone night rates went into effect at 7 o'clock instead of at the old hour of 8:30, we have been saying "Save after seven"

Now we say, in addition: "Save on Sunday" because, beginning January 19th, regular telephone night rates apply all day Sunday. This means that from 7 o'clock Saturday evening until 4:30 Monday morning, you can make most out-of-town telephone calls at bargain rates.

STATION-TO-STATION CALLS

When you call by number or for "Anyour"

Beginning Sunday, January 19th, and on every Sunday thereafter, the regular night rates (in effect from 7 p.m. to 4:30 a.m.) will also be in effect all day Sunday. This means you can make most station-to-station telephone calls from 7 o'clock Saturday evening until Monday morning, at rates ranging from 12 to 50 percent lower than week-day rates.

PERSON-TO-PERSON CALLS

When you ask for a particular party

Beginning Wednesday night, January 15th, and every night thereafter and on Sundays, lower rates are available for the first time on all person-to-person calls which have a day station-to-station rate of more than 35 cents. These rates are in effect during the same hours as the night rates for station-to-station calls — from 7 p.m. to 4:30 a.m. nightly and all day Sunday.

Sundays

NOTE

When you wish to make a station-to-station call but you do not know the number, ask for information for it. Then give the number to your operator. When you wish to make a person-to-person call, ask for or dial Test (operator). For further information about telephony, write for a free booklet, Think Communication.

JUNIOR FORTNIGHTLY NEWS

Our last meeting, which was held at June Phelps' house, was really lots of fun.

The guest speaker for the evening was to have been Miss Marcia Hosmer, but due to the storm, she was unable to get here. She will come to some near future meeting, as so many girls are quite interested in her subject, Interior Decoration. Be sure to watch for the next date when she will be here.

At a last minutes notice, Mr. Clifford Cunningham kindly agreed to come down and speak to us on his experiences with dramatics. As all of you must know, he was very interesting, and it seemed quite natural for him to speak on dramatics just before we start our own play. We do appreciate even more his willingness to come to us on such short notice.

After refreshments, delicious chocolate icebox cake, Mrs. Chamberlain, our coach, held tryouts for the play. The method of describing a character and making each girl present in pantomime her own conception of it, got us all into a hilarious mood.

A committee was appointed to start work on money-raising ideas. Several girls seemed to favor a poverty party. If you have any bright ideas get in touch with Marjorie Mountain or Janet Sargent.

Our next meeting is going to be very novel and I hope everyone will come. We are all going in town to the Headquarters Club rooms which have been reserved for us for the evening.

Girls who can drive cars will be down to Fortnightly Hall to pick up the rest.

Now don't miss it, and read next week's Star for exact time of meeting which may be a little earlier.

N. H. Co., Pub. Chairman

Although the weather man's prediction of cold and clear weather for Monday night held true in most of Winchester, a local shower was conspicuous at the home of the O'Neills at 9 Allen street. Miss May O'Neill had invited some 30 of the past and present neighbors to arrive quietly at 8 o'clock and a suppressed group sat whispering while Miss Mary McAuley, ex planning guest of honor and talked at length on snow trains and skiing and electric irons, until the last of the guests had sneaked into the house.

Finally a closing front door just across the street announced that Miss Phoebe Dotten was on her way. Everything was silent. Then a stamping of feet, the opening of the porch door, the doorknob and as the door opened, "Here comes the bride" sounded and a flabbergasted Phoebe was hurried into the bedchamber.

There was no doubt of her complete surprise. She had been casually invited to come to the "new" some things" May had recently got and she came over, intending to spend an hour and then get home to an early bed. When Phoebe got her breath she was led to a decorated chair before a head-up table. She looked around, welcoming familiar neighbors.

With a smile she looked at the lovely gifts as composed this shower, it is no wonder Phoebe was delighted. Big, bay bath towels, kitchen cloths and holders, beautiful table cloths, relish dishes, a toaster, bread carvers, a braided rug, a bath mat, sandwich cutters, an ironing board and cover, an embroiled dolly and a beautiful set of bowls, cups and refrigerator dishes, in the new blue opaque glass.

Lovely shower cards expressing the kindest of wishes accompanied the daily wrapped gifts. But one was wrapped in brown paper and tied with twine containing the following verses:

The verses were full of lovely things,
Gay things, silver, glass,
The ones I wanted for too much,
And the others had no class!

So I hunted up a ruffled skirt,
And last year's bathing suit,
An outdoor coat, an under-shirt,
And pants of an old suit.

And then I made a rug for you,
It is no very much,
But it's full of love and wishes true
For health and wealth and such.

So use the rug made just for you,
In front of bureau, chest, or bed,
Or just inside the door.

It's soft to put the burden on,
I'll surely please the one,
And many uses you may find
For a little headed man.

The present neighbors who attended the shower were: Mrs. Esther O'Neill, Mrs. F. L. Marion, Mrs. Chaffield, Mrs. Harry Dotten, (maid of the bride-to-be), Mrs. Glover and Helen Glover and Mrs. Lillian Winn Snyder.

The erstwhile neighbors, who once lived "on the hill" but now live elsewhere, were Mrs. McAuley and Mary McAuley, Mrs. Streeter and Ellen Streeter, Ruth Claffen Heinlein, Alberta Songrave Baker, Phoebe's mother, Mrs. Walter Dotten, her fiancée's mother, Mrs. Low, her sister-in-law-to-be, Mrs. Anderson and her son, Mrs. Deebie Peters completed the guests. Mrs. O'Neill and Miss Frances Duncan helped serve the delicious cakes and ice cream and each guest was given a slice of the beautifully decorated bride cake which Phoebe cut during the evening.

The rest of the time was spent in renewing old friendships, reminiscing and singing popular songs. There is nothing like a shower for bringing together people who have lived close by for years and then been separated and not only Phoebe Dotten, but everyone present passed a most enjoyable evening.

The statement is made by a competent town official that the repayment of the five billion, (so-called) relief money given President Roosevelt to spend will tax the Town of Winchester about one million dollars. How do you like this, Mr. Taxpayer?

And how much do you suppose the Town of Winchester has spent for relief during the past three years? Nearly a million dollars! We are going to give you a little summary of this shortly.

Movies continue to boil. The latest dope, in case you have not heard it, is that if the Selectmen grant a theatre permit for the North Main Street site, a new composition of the Board will be elected at the coming election, which will then grant a second permit for South Main Street.

With interest we note the following in the daily news: "At the conference in the Governor's office, their (the strikers') representatives intimated their willingness to guarantee that there would be no further interference (sousing two carloads of rayon silks with water and running it) with the company's output if the management would accept arbitration." New Deal days—here, there and everywhere! If you do as we suggest—ask otherwise who can tell what will happen! What would be the reaction if the mill management went out and wrecked the strikers' automobiles? Possibly someone might be arrested.

From newspaper reports, "Al" Smith is now being taken to task on the regular, old-line New Deal ballyhoo for his recent speech. We ourselves, agree with "Al" all along the line. The cry that he offered nothing constructive is, in the opinion of the point, for his plea for adherence to the party platform, upon which the New Dealers were elected and which the people of this country expected they would follow, is lacking as constructive, what further plan could be advanced? The act is nothing which is critical of the New Deal is worth considering! With the mess it has gotten us into, no one could hope to come out and present a comprehensive program of plan which would meet with their approval. The tangle is so great that we doubt if it will be unraveled during this generation, if ever. The most constructive plan which could be offered is to scrap the whole outfit and take up the problems of the country where we were when we started to the discard by the present administration three years ago when they started to tear things apart and find out what made them work. That the "Old Potato" echoed the sentiment of the nation is evident from the newspaper comments, only needed his own comments to start the New Deal ball rolling for a million-dollar appropriation "to gather and disseminate information regarding the crop (of potatoes). Such idiotic expenditures are right in line with the raising of flowers, counting the birds and picking up stones. The sky is the limit these days. Along with the million for potatoes, a move is started to investigate the Liberty League and its other organizations which oppose the New Deal. Truly this New Deal nation is wandering about in a daze, destroying the fertility of the country and beggaring its people.

MR. SARGENT'S BOOKS

To the Editor of the Star:

The letter of Mr. Francis S. Sargent in last week's Star criticizing the delay in accepting his generous offer of his engineering library to the Public Library is thoroughly justified, except that the criticism should be directed not against the Board of Trustees as a whole but against the undersigned personally.

At the first meeting of the Board of Trustees after the offer of Mr. Sargent was received, the undersigned was appointed a sub-committee to examine Mr. Sargent's library and to see whether it was such a collection of books as would be of value and interest to the town. On account of illness and absence, there was delay in finding a date when the sub-committee could get together and meet with Mr. Sargent. When a date was found it was impossible to reach Mr. Sargent. The same thing happened when a second effort was made. When we finally got into communication with Mr. Sargent we found that he had disposed of his library.

We hope that the delay is the part of two members of the Board will not deter citizens from following Mr. Sargent's generous desire to contribute to the Library.

Edgar J. Rich
Ralph T. Hale

MR. SARGENT'S REPLY

To the Editor of the Star:

The attached article evidently was sent to me by Mr. Rich at the time it was sent to your paper. I dislike to prolong the issue, but in justice to myself I am carefully pointing out at the time I offered this library that it was not necessary to get in touch with the library, but the library could be seen at any time on any week day except Saturday. I made this statement particularly for the reason that I have been in the of-ice only infrequently for the last two months and I did not want anything to stand in the way of getting some quick action on whether or not they desired the library.

Very truly yours,
F. C. Sargent

WILLARD V. FLETCHER

(In Memoriam)

The passing on of Willard V. Fletcher, vice president and general manager of the Paine-Furniture Company, means to his countless friends in Winchester an irreparable loss. For many years he served the Paine-Furniture Company with an unfailing and unselfish devotion and his interest in Winchester and its institutions cannot adequately be described by mere written language.

Willard V. Fletcher was possessed of an ideal. He closely followed it through his long life. There are those who say he contented with things as they are. Many voices would have men away from their ideal in life. But not Willard V. Fletcher, who, like Carl Schurz, believed that "ideals are stars. We cannot touch them; but, if we follow, they lead on to destiny." Mr. Fletcher cherished the ideal in the realm of character and surely that is a most commendable ideal. In his relations with his business associates, in his contacts with his fellow citizens, in his devotion to his family, he always found satisfaction in renewing faith in the supreme Master and from the mountain view of His life gaining fresh outlook and insight.

Willard V. Fletcher delighted to ascend the hill of friendship. It is interesting to follow this theme through literature from the immortal essay of Cicero, with which as youngsters we struggled, down the lines of Ralph Waldo Emerson: "A friend knows all about you, but likes you just the same." To his friends he was a genuine friend.

The death of a friend is just as when, at a feast, one passes into another chamber in which we were once in time follow him, and find him there as we knew him before. Our friends pass away from earth behind the veil of our mortal sight, but let us remember that there is life beyond the grave. Those faces which beam around us like stars in the gloom of life in this old earth glow daily fewer, and soon we too shall fade away into the morning light of a brighter heaven.

His was a life of star dollars. Till all are passed away. As morning light and hope shines. Nor sink those stars in cloudy night. In the future, in the future, we can fight. Let the friends of Willard V. Fletcher remember that they shall all be over, they shall live on in God's Kingdom together. The same attachment to one another, one far happier than here on earth. Men shall no more tremble in the face of death, for there men die no more! As we think of the passing on of Willard V. Fletcher let the words of Bishop Hall: "Thou hast lost thy friend;—nay, rather, thou hast parted with him. That is properly lost, what is left is just as good as new. It is not so with this friend thou mourest for; he is but gone from thy sight, thou art following him; you shall meet in your Father's house, and enjoy each other more happily than you could have done on earth."

Eugene Bertram Willard

Many residents of Winchester saw the late King George V. of England during the war and there are some interesting stories told about both he and his son, King Edward VIII. The writer attended a review held for the King and when he went by the Australian section of the British Army a soldier spoke up and said: "Here we are George from way down under." The King could hardly believe his ears as no resident of the British Isles would think of anything like that. But he took off his hat and waved it to them and laughed.

People who have never had any contact with the British Royal House cannot imagine the dignity and pomp that go with a ruler who reigns over an empire of 450,000,000 people. Immediately after the armistice, King George and his whole family came to Paris and the reception given them was like that of a Roman Emperor. To those who saw it, the impression given will live as long as memory holds. The procession had hardly started when out of a side street rushed a taxi cab and joined the line. As it passed, who should be in it but Herman Dudley Murphy, Jr. and Robert Colt, both of Winchester, then in the naval aviation service. Just what they were doing there no one seemed to know and I doubt if they did themselves.

During the reception that followed, Prince of Wales, now King Edward VIII and the Duke of York, his brother, suddenly disappeared and the secret service of both France and England were sent in search of them.

The writer decided after the parade to see the sights of Paris and while in a snappy cabot two British Army officers entered and took a table next to him. Upon a close inspection, who should they be but his highness, the Prince of Wales, and his brother, the Duke of York, and they had no secret service men with them. They seemed to enjoy the whole affair greatly and finally went out discussing where they should go next. Late that night both of them arrived in a taxi cab and told King George and Queen Mary that they had had the time of their lives as they saw the first time they had been able to see Paris in the ordinary citizen sees it. Strange as it may seem, none of the secret service men or detectives of the city of Paris reported that they saw them, but they may have been boys themselves once and just looked the other way.

POLITICS AND RADIO

The November election's still nine months away. Radio waves are already getting a real big "play."

All sorts of parties buying the best radio time. Talkabout themselves and accuse others of crime.

Surely you've heard broadcasts by New Dealers, Democrats and delivered by their very best "speakers."

There was "Al" Smith of the Liberty League. Roosevelt an hour without any fatigue.

Ex-President Hoover recently gave us his thoughts on farm problems and the harm the AAA wrought.

His Sunday Father Coughlin explains what's wrong with us. Money, money, social security and why all the fuss.

The Townsendites, exposed an Old Age Pension Plan. And for every other claim they'll have their man.

This radio thing's getting very much involved. And is a tangle which must be solved.

For music, have radios for the entertainment they bring. For music, for plays and beautiful voices that sing.

Why are we forced to listen at this early date? To scratch up opponents' names? Why not wait?

Even that we will know later the fight will be long. Nine months on the air seems needless to me. It is far to now take favorite programs from us.

And in their place give us hate, yelling and give us a respite until fall, you Political Leaders.

Prize your set for consumption by newsmen. And let us enjoy, until then, quiet evenings with our radio, our pipe and... ends this "jam."

HEART TO HEART TALKS

Dietress As the Soul's Humanizer

Wordsworth in some legions verses has said, "A deep distress has humanized my soul." Is it too much to suppose that men and women by their intended or unintended wrongs to others, create or transmit 19-20% of the sufferings of humanity? This leads us to reflect that one purpose of trial and tribulation and sorrow is to make us considerate of our fellows. It is true, too true, that the temper of some men is little improved under trial. They never learn to see anything except in its relation to themselves. They keep growing larger and smaller, and deader the longer they live—thinking less of other people, and more of themselves and their past experience, as they go on withering.

On the other hand, as a result of long observation in his travels in this and other countries, the writer of "Heart to Heart Talks" must bear testimony that under the discipline of suffering, asperity has been taken away, and exquisite sensibility has come over a hitherto "hardboiled" nature, and there has been developed a sweet-mindedness, an invincible meekness and gentleness very touching to witness. The sympathy, patience, benignity and interest in the welfare of our brother, which complete the character of the worth while man, are the flowers of a soil watered by tears. Men of a noble, albeit hard integrity have been strangely softened by the sorrows they have endured.

"The good are better made by ill." As others crushed are sweetest still. I once knew a man of a naturally noble nature who occupied a dignified and influential position in a Greater Boston community. With a granite-like integrity there was a stern and cold bearing. Strangers were repelled by his unsympathetic manner. The people of his community held him to be upright, but of a forbidding and severe disposition. Death took him from a dear little child. He was seen to stand, first by the side of the casket, and then by the little coffin where his beloved child's body lay, with his big tears splashing on the white foldings of the Grim Reaper. After the burial his nature underwent a complete change. The man grew tender and gently considerate. Without the loss of mental strength his nature had become richer in sympathy. His fellows did not learn the secret for some years. After the burial of his beloved child he found his work in a drayer. He wore it hidden in his bosom, near to his heart, and that man's heart beat more gently from that hour.

OBSERVATIONS

By the Observer

One Winchester man's New Year's resolve was "to keep in good health and so keep the undertaker away."

Let's see, how many gas filling stations are there in Winchester?

The world is a stage. Some people right here in Winchester act natural and make good clowns.

The best dispositioned man in Middlesex County lives right here in Winchester. He is always able to shield a light opera while he is changing a tire afar from the old home town.

Time has changed the past 1000 years. We can't recall ever having seen in Winchester a woman with an Adam's apple.

Recently when two doctors' noted interests and removed a Winchester man's appendix that is what a real co-operation.

A word to automobilists: If you can't count the telephone poles along the highway you are headed for Paradise.

And by the way, getting run over by one of those cushion tread tires will not keep a person out of Winchester Hospital.

According to one Winchester woman the family clothes line gives one a line on the prosperity and the number of members of any family.

Time and tide wait for no man, but many a man waits for his wife to dress when they start for some social function.

We agree with that Winchester dominie who recently told his congregation that "making excuses is a poor occupation."

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By Ann Pace

Apples are the big news in this week's markets—cooking, eating and all-purpose apples are being featured at attractive prices. Fresh pork is cheaper and beef and lamb as well. Fresh eggs are now plentiful and even the top grades are reasonable. Last week's lower price of butter has been maintained due to increasing production.

Many vegetables are in market—most of them fairly inexpensive. Worthy of special mention are broccoli, spinach, beets, peas and cabbage. Iceberg lettuce continues to be an excellent value.

Florida oranges, navel oranges, Temple oranges, tangerines, grapefruit and bananas are the outstanding fruits with the big exception of apples.

Here are three menus at different budget levels for Sunday dinner.

Low Cost Dinner

Baked Potatoes Creamed Parsnips
Bread and Butter
Dutch Apple Cake
Tea or Coffee Milk

Medium Cost Dinner

Roast Pork Apple Sauce
Sweet Potatoes Buttered Cauliflower
Beans and Potatoes
Floating Island
Tea or Coffee Milk

Very Special Dinner

Grainfruit
Roast Beef Broccoli au Gratin
Lettuce Russian Dressing
Rolls and Butter
Deep Apple Pie Cheese

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

"Kondovans" which starts Sunday at the University Theatre, is the startling, dramatic story of the U. S. Cryptographic Bureau as told by the man who organized and headed it throughout the World War. It is crisscrossed with the intimate revelations of the secret counter-espionage department, where foreign diplomats or enemy communications were secretly "tapped," decoded and deciphered for official information. William Powell contributes one of his finest screen performances. Powell is supported by Rosalind Russell, Blanche Barnes, Lionel Atwill, Cesar Romero and Samuel S. Hinds.

New names, new faces, new songs, new rhythms. You're been asking for them for a long time and now we give them to you in a brilliant new musical movie—"Coronado," the companion feature. You'll meet Johnny Downes and Betty Burgess, two of the most charming youngsters who ever stepped in front of a camera. Jack Haley and Andy Devine, two "wise-guys," Alice White, cute and witty and good old Leon Errol and his Leon Errol leg.

On Wednesday, Review Day, the program includes Elizabeth Bergner in "Escape Me Never" and Jack Holt in "Storm Over the Andes."

Presenting Katharine Hepburn in the most difficult and different characterization of her brilliantly successful career, Sylvia Scarlett comes to the screen Thursday as a vital and colorful tale of romantic adventure. Playing an English girl with a Robin Hood complex, the dynamic star adopts a disguise of boy's clothing to embark upon a series of thrilling escapades. Brian Ahrne, portraying a young English artist, is the cause of the heart tumult which brings an amusing end to the misperceptions. Cary Grant, in a diverting character role, Edmund Gwenn, one of Britain's foremost comedy stars, the exotic and lovely Princess Natalie Paley, and Dennis Moore, New York stage favorite, are other members of the supporting cast.

The tenth Charlie Chan picture, "Charlie Chan's Secret," the companion feature again stars Warner Oland as the round detective who uses Oriental subtlety to solve a murder mystery.

MERRY MOVIES

At the "Merry Movies," Saturday, Feb. 1, at the Repertory Theatre, there will be two interesting and unusual events. First—the letter of thanks for the "Merry Movies" Autographed Book and a scenic photograph from Shirley Temple will be on exhibition in the lobby of the theatre, together with 50 other photographs of this entrancing little actress. The second item is—two Silly Symphonies which have not been given before at the "Merry Movies," "Who Killed Cock Robin" and "Broken Toys," both of these Sillyies are unusually interesting.

MALDEN STRAND THEATRE

"Escape from Devil's Island," with Victor Jory, Norman Foster and Florence Rice, and "The Casino Murder Case" with Paul Lukas, Rosalind Russell, Donald Cook and Alison Skipworth is the double bill opening at the Strand Theatre in Malden on Saturday. "Escape from Devil's Island" opens with gay Paris scenes, continuing with inside glimpses of international spies and their clever machinations. With many breath-taking moments, the film moves swiftly to a gripping climax, cleverly contrived and convincingly executed.

The "Casino Murder Case" is taken on from one of S. S. Van Dine's celebrated mystery tales with Paul Lukas in the role of Philo Vance. It is rich in mystery and thrills, chills and humor, with inside glimpses of international spies and their clever machinations. With many breath-taking moments, the film moves swiftly to a gripping climax, cleverly contrived and convincingly executed.

A new innovation at the Strand each Monday evening which is making a big hit with the ladies is the giving away of free silverware. Every woman attending on Monday evening receives two pieces of silver absolutely free. The entire set is 50 pieces and nothing in the premium line the Strand has offered in the past has caught on like this silverware.

"The Merry Widow" with Maurice Chevalier and Jeannette MacDonald as the stars, will head the bill for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. It is the story of the debonair Prince and the bewitching widow whom he waltzes away to romance, amid the nocturnal delight of gay Vienna and Paris. The support includes Una Merkel, George Barbier, Donald Meek and Herman Bing.

"Two Sinners," a screen version of Warwick Deeping's story, "Black Sheep," with Otto Kruger and Martha Shearer as the stars, will be the second feature on the bill opening on Wednesday.

WAKEFIELD THEATRE SCHEDULE

Friday and Saturday, Jan. 31, Feb. 1, "Fighting Youth," 3:35, 9:25; "A Feather in Her Hat," 2:24, 7:54.

Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, Feb. 2, 3, 4, "Mary Burns Fugitive," 3:42, 9:12; "Lady Hobbs," 2:24, 7:54. Sunday matinee at 3 p. m.

Wednesday and Thursday, Feb. 5, 6, "Remember Last Night," 3:55, 9:25; "Jalna," 2:24, 7:54.

MYSTIC THEATRE MALDEN

Katharine Hepburn has two of the screen's favorite leading men, Brian Ahrne and Cary Grant, appearing with her in her new picture, "Sylvia Scarlett," which heads a big double feature program at the Mystic Theatre, Malden starting Saturday, Feb. 1. London and rural England are the principal backgrounds. In addition to these three stars the cast also includes the famous English comedy star, Edmund Gwenn, who will be remembered for his work as the star in "The Bishop Misbehaves."

"If You Could Only Cook" is the title of the laugh-filled second feature at the Mystic Theatre, this coming week. Herbert Marshall, Joan Arthur, Leo Carrillo and Lionel Stander are the stars and principals in this new romantic comedy. Briefly, the story concerns itself with a disgruntled millionaire who allows a strange but attractive girl he meets on a park bench, to coax him into going with her to answer an ad for a domestic couple. He becomes a butler and she a maid.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

Joe Penner is back on the screen again with Jack Oakie, Ned Sparks, Lynne Overman and Frances Langford, in "Collegiate" which opens at the Granada Theatre in Malden on Saturday. "Collegiate" is a swell musical, crammed with original comedy situations, sparkling gags, plenty of music by that unbeatable combination of Gordon and Revel, and legions of beautiful girls. All in all, "Collegiate" makes for grand entertainment and should be as pleasing to the eyes and ears of grown-ups as to those of the youngsters.

"Ah Wilderness," with Wallace Beery, Lionel Barrymore, Aline MacMahon, Eric Linden, Cecelia Parker, Charles Grainger and Eddie Nugent as the featured players, will be the second attraction on the bill starting Saturday. The film is said to be a smashing triumph for both Wallace Beery, who stars as the lovable, alcoholic, Uncle Sid, and Lionel Barrymore who plays the father role. "Ah Wilderness" is the story of an American family told in an intensely human manner, with characters every person in the audience can recognize.

READING THEATRE

Leading celebrities of the stage and screen have been gathered in one picture by 20th Century to provide a tangle, mirth-filled romantic story in "Thanks a Million," which comes Sunday for three days to the Reading Theatre.

Starring Dick Powell, the picture features Ann Dvorak, Fred Allen, Paul Whitehead and Ramona Patsy Kelly. Rihonoff, Raymond Walburn and the Yacht Club Boys.

A gigantic ocean liner was constructed on the First National lot for scenes in "I Found Stella Parish," which also comes to the Reading Theatre on Sunday for three days.

Complete in every detail, the boat is patterned after several of the more modern luxury liners which traverse the New York to Cherbourg and Havre routes.

Several of the most important scenes in "I Found Stella Parish" were made on this new ship. There is an all-star cast which includes Kay Francis, Jan Hunter, Paul Lukas, Sybil Jason, Barton McLane, Jessie Ralph, Eddie Acuff and others.

Prehistoric Island Temple
A prehistoric temple, "Gigantia," is located on Gizo, an island of the Maltese group in the Mediterranean.

NOW THAT IT COSTS LESS TO BUY A CAR "ON TIME"

Use These Savings to help you get the kind of car you've always wanted

ALL of the mystery and a lot of the expense have gone out of time payments with the new GMAC 6% Time Payment Plan.

It's simple as A-B-C. Delivered price, less trade-in, plus insurance, plus 6%—that's about all there is to it. And it not only saves brain-racking—it saves money.

One result is that you can buy a Buick for little if any more than you're used to paying for a car in the lowest-priced class. Two or three dollars more per week puts a big car at your doorstep—maybe less, if you're used to "dressing up" low-priced cars to make them stand out from the crowd.

Why don't you let us show you what your money will buy under this improved plan—and with Buick's new low prices? There's no obligation at all in a demonstration—we get as much fun out of watching your eyes pop as you get out of Buick's thrilling ride. And how are you ever going to know whether you can afford a Buick unless you let us show you in dollars-and-cents terms?

EVER STEP FROM 10 TO 60

in less than 21 seconds? That's the kind of hair-trigger getaway you get, when you need it, in the Buick Special Series 40. All the speed a sensible driver could ask for—and hydraulic brakes to keep your stopping line straight and smooth. But come around—take a demonstration—see for yourself why Buick's the buy.

YOU CAN AFFORD THE NEW BUICK
$765 to $1045 are the list prices at Flint, Mich., subject to change without notice. Standard and special accessories groups on all models at extra cost. All Buick prices include safety glass throughout on standard equipment. Convenient new GMAC 6% TIME PAYMENT PLAN

Preservation of Antiques

Friday, Feb. 14, 2:30 p. m., Fortnightly Hall the Preservation of Antiques Group are sponsoring a lecture and exhibition of American Pottery. We have been very fortunate in securing Dr. Madeline R. Brown of Cambridge for our lecturer. Dr. Brown is treasurer of the Pottery Collectors' Club of America, and had charge of the arrangement of the American pottery at their recent exhibition held in the Boston Public Library.

Alice Morse Earle, author of "Customs and Fashions in Old New England," tell us of the newer platters or chargers, and dishes made what was called a garnish of pewter, and were a source of great pride to every Colonial housewife, and much time and labor was devoted to polishing them until they shone like silver. Diney pewter was fairly accomplished Virginia gentleman in his day gave as a positive rule, in 1728, that "Pewter Bright was the sign of a good housekeeper."

Many valuable pieces of pewter were lost during the Revolution. Patriotic citizens gave quantities of their cherished "table furnishings" to the cause to be melted into bullets to help retain American independence.

Unearthing a bit of American pottery to add to your collection will bring you a joy hard to define. It is so full of romance, when we remember its close association with the every day life of our forefathers.

The co-chairmen are Mabel Nichols, Adelaide Partridge and Grace Caruthers. The tea chairman are Dorah Hadley and Beatrice Campbell, assisted by Marion Gilbert, Ruth Hilton and Dorothy Wiley. The hostesses include Elizabeth Hall, Marion Symmes, Anna Burroughs, Ruth Carter and Mildred Mitchell. The custodian is Ruth H. Cornwell.

All Fortnightly members are invited to exhibit. The hall will be open at 10:30 and a custodian in charge.

"Literary Reminiscences" is the theme of the Fortnightly on Feb. 10, Monday at 2:30 in Fortnightly Hall, Dale Warren, who is the publicity director for Houghton Mifflin Company, will speak on "The Publisher Goes to London." Mr. Warren's association with both American and English authors of note and his knowledge of literary affairs gives him a large fund of entertaining material, and his lecture promises to be a very interesting one. Concourse Baritone, lyric soprano, will sing. She received her training at the Boston University College of Music and with William Hicks, a member of the Lotus Male Quartette, and is doing many interesting things along musical.

Another popular "Morning Musical" is scheduled for Feb. 12, Wednesday at 10 o'clock in Fortnightly Hall. Mrs. Sophia G. Bartlett is program chairman and the music of Mendelssohn is the theme of the morning.

Alice R. Andrews, Chairman Antiques Committee

RECOVERY NOTES

Just how wasteful a government can be is well illustrated by the fact they have made out blue prints for a plan in detail the route of every individual milkman and every house that he visits. A certain House can taxpayer get any benefit whatsoever from this immense amount of work? It is out of date before being completed, as changing concerns, etc. Round and round we go in this land of Alice in Wonderland.

SEVERAL INJURED IN WEEK-END MOTOR ACCIDENTS

Several persons were injured and considerable property damaged as a result of two automobile accidents which took place in Winchester over the past week-end. The first of the two accidents occurred at 8:20 Saturday morning when a Ford sedan, being driven south on upper Main street by its owner, Miss Helen E. Foley of 778 Main street, skidded upon the ice at the westerly side of the road and crossing the sidewalk, struck the cement base of an island in the yard of the Gulf Filling Station at 668 Main street, being then thrown against a nearby telephone pole.

The car was badly damaged and all its occupants were injured. They were taken in the Police Ambulance to the Winchester Hospital by Patrolmen John Hogan, John J. Dolan and Winthrop Palmer.

The injured passengers were Margaret Higgins of 28 Beacon street, Woburn, who sustained a fractured nose, contusions and abrasions; Margaret L. Matthews of 17 Warren avenue, Woburn, contusions and abrasions; Eleanor Hanley of 487 Main street, Winchester, abrasions and contusions to head and neck; and Ann M. Connelly of 37 Clark street, Woburn, right ankle and sprained right wrist. Miss Foley sustained abrasions and contusions and a fractured right shoulder. All were treated at the hospital by Dr. Richard W. Sheehy.

According to the police the accident occurred as Miss Foley swung her car to the westerly side of the road to avoid a collision with a Chevrolet sedan, being driven by the Porter Square Chevrolet Company of Cambridge and driven by James W. Wallace of 47 Vine street, who was driving out of the driveway of the Sun Oil Station. The authorities state that a parked automobile and a tow car heading north on Main street obstructed the view of both drivers.

The second of the two accidents took place at 2:50 Sunday afternoon when a Chrysler sedan, owned and operated by Robert E. Welburn of Fletcher street, while headed east on Church street opposite the National Bank, was in collision with a Packard sedan, owned by Frank A. Cohen of 73 Walnut park, Roxbury, and driven by Abraham Goldman of Washington street, Dorchester, who was heading west on Church street.

Both machines were damaged and several passengers riding in the cars complained of injuries. They were Beatrice Litcha and Rose Riffon, both of 83 Atlantic avenue, Beachmont; Bessie Richman of 77 Baller avenue, Dorchester; Etta Axman of 15 Duman street, Dorchester; and Rose Zack of 171 Boudreau avenue, Dorchester. Miss Litcha and Mrs. Riffon were taken to the office of Dr. Philip J. McManus, who ordered them removed to the Winchester Hospital. Miss Litcha was found to have sustained a broken collar bone and possible fracture of the right shoulder and arm and was detained at the hospital. The others stated that they would go to their own physicians.

Welburn told the police that his car skidded on the ice.

ROYAL EATS

Many residents of this town probably never knew that the extra eats and entertainment given them when in the great military camp at Southampton, England, were paid for by the late King George V's brother, his Royal Highness, the Duke of Connaught. In case veterans do not remember this camp it can be identified as the place where embalmers from Australia were served on the ship. The English Army served these to the Australian Army and they arose as one man and broke everything in sight. Rabbits are sent to the camp in great numbers every citizen looks on them as we do rats. Anyway, there is at least one resident of Winchester that has some of his Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught's stationary as a souvenir.

Mrs. Charles Symmes of Main street has left recently for Lauderdale, Fla., where she will remain for the winter.

AIR RACE DWARFS GEOGRAPHY

All aboard for Baghdad, Allahabad, and Singapore. Suddenly these far-flung cities of Asia have become neighbors. To the pilots of the race sponsored by the St. Louis Mercantile Association, they are simply way stations, compulsory stops between London and Melbourne. Distance once reckoned in months and measured over deserts, jungles, and stormy tropic seas have been reduced to days and hours.

On October 20 fifty planes took off from Millenham Aerodrome, London for the dash to Melbourne, where a gold cup and $75,000 in prizes await the winners. There are really two races, although many contestants are entered in both. One is a straight speed race with required stops at Baghdad, Allahabad, Singapore, Darwin, and Charleston. The other is a handicap race for smaller planes, allowing more from longer landings at intermediate points along the way. The races are part of Australia's celebration of the hundred anniversary of Victoria State of Australia.

Modern Races to Aht at Sindbad's Baghdad

It is fitting that Baghdad, home of Sindbad the Sailor, should be the scene in this twentieth century adventure, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society. Long years of poverty and fighting have rolled over the city since the days of the mighty Caliphs, when Baghdad was the brilliant capital of Islam and the study under her wise men. Caravan trails from all parts of Asia met within her gates and brought her wealth. Then came invasion and destruction by Mongol hordes, and later centuries of oppression under Turkey. When the British captured Baghdad during the World War, Baghdad was known as the city of seven great smells. The winding, narrow streets stank of dust or unmanageable mud. A rickety string of boats bridged the sluggish waters of the Tigris River. Tearing down houses and tearing the earth out a wide gash through the center of town to make way for their retreating troops. Today this thoroughfare, paved and electric, is the heart of the city. Two new drawbridges span the Tigris; the modern capital of Iraq has taxi cabs, traffic lights, and modern conveniences. It can be 120 in the shade artificial ice.

Allahabad is Pilgrimage Center of Hind. Allahabad, which pilgrims leave regularly for Cairo and Basra, lies just outside the city. From the air, Baghdad looks more like the plan of Jerusalem and history. Domes and slender minarets rise above a sea of flat, Moorish houses. The empty, treeless plain of Mesopotamia stretches away on all sides, cut by the winding, yellow waters of the Tigris. Green clumps of date palms break the shore line, and round water boats, like ducks, float slowly down the stream.

Allahabad, the city of central India, is the most important city of the United Provinces is built on a wedge of land between the Jumna and the Ganges. The Jumna, which flows into the Ganges, has been a sacred place of sacrifice and pilgrimage for centuries. As early as the seventh century, the city was the center of all the way from China to bathe in the holy waters. Religious zeal has not weakened through the years. In 1930 at the annual mela, or bathing festival, 4,000,000 devotees crowded the city in a single day. A sturdy fort, built by Akbar in 1563, guards the city from the north, and a British garrison. This fortress witnessed hard fighting during the great mutiny of 1857.

Tigers Gave Way to Trade at Singapore. Singapore, last stop in Asia, began life as a trading post. A hundred years ago it was a small island, inhabited by a handful of natives and numerous tigers. Today it is a great world port, and England's most important naval base in the Far East. Singapore guards the narrow Strait of Malacca between the Indian Ocean and the China Sea. Rich resources in rubber, tin, and diamonds, and a strategic location make it the town of the little settlement. Half the world's supply of tin and three-fourths of its rubber are shipped from the great docks along the water front. Assorted ships from every port in the world crowd the harbor. The city is a curious combination of East and West, a jumble of solid government buildings, Malay mosques, Hindu temples, and Chinese joss houses. The concrete roads, once elephant paths, automobiles honk past slow two-wheeled carts drawn by humped cattle. Across the blue waters of the Strait the solid, green Malay jungle fills the skyline.

Southeast from Singapore, across the many islands of Netherlands India, lies Darwin, a seaport of New Guinea. With a population of 2000 Darwin is not exactly a busy metropolis. Commerce is desultory, the east coast steamer leaves once a month and the steamer for the west coast, once every two months. There is also one railroad which stretches 300 miles through the interior. Darwin comes to a dead end nowhere in particular. Cattle, men, miners, and a small pearling industry provide Darwin with a certain amount of life. The town is built high on the cliffs of a promontory, surrounded on three sides by the deep harbor waters. Recently communications have been improved by a regular air service between Darwin and Melbourne. At Charleville the racing planes will touch base for the last time before their final sprint. This is the center of a vast sheep raising district. It is 500 miles west of Brisbane, with which it is connected by rail.

Yes, we have some MONOPOLY games at the Star Office.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

Troop 31 will entertain their fathers at a Valentine supper party at Saturday, Feb. 8, 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. This father-daughter get-together has been one of the troops' happiest evenings in the past years and if rumors may be trusted there will be many very original bits of amusement during the party.

Winter carnival at Cedar Hill on Saturday, Feb. 8, 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. Skating, snowshoeing and coasting. Races for all. A queen will be crowned. Exhibition of fancy skating by Olivia Stone and Joan Foster. Special luncheon served in the Main House at 50c for adults with parties of children.

Come and enjoy the facilities for winter sports that Cedar Hill has to offer.

WEEK-END FIRES

The first of several week-end alarms came in at the Central Fire Station at 8:13 last Friday evening for a chimney fire at the residence of Mr. George S. Tompkins in Gilegarry. Saturday afternoon at 1:50 the department was called to put out a slight fire at the residence of Mr. Main street. Sunday evening at 6:12 there was a chimney fire at the residence of Mr. Harrison Lyman, 15 Lawson road, and on Monday afternoon at 12:37 there was a chimney fire at the residence of Mr. K. P. Munroe, 2 Lagrange street.

EL-AZHAR, "OXFORD" OF THE MUSLIM WORLD

Another frontier has crumbled before modern science. El-Azhar University in Cairo, Egypt, has admitted courses in modern science into a curriculum that for more than 900 years has taught its scholars that the world is flat. El Azhar has also hired a librarian to completely modernize its archaic library.

the building from the Washington, D.C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. Is teachings profoundly affect the thinking of thousands who study there and of the millions of Moslems whose leaders they will be.

Once a Mesque

Few universities have as unusual a past as this one, as picturesque a setting as has the Al Azhar. In its early years the school was a mosque, and in 1666, 16 years after its completion it was turned over to Moslem scholars. For two centuries its voice has been a powerful one in the Mohammedan world.

The present day rectangular structure, east of modern Cairo, and so the heart of the native city, has been so often noted that little of its history is dated in the records.

100,000. This is for purely military purposes. It is simply and solely what we are spending during this year in preparation for participation in the Great War. It is divided as follows:

For the Navy Department
General Appropriation	$155,000,000
Allocated from Emergency Fund	126,000,000
Provision in Deficiency Bills and Additional PWA Funds	25,000,000
Total available for our Navy	$206,000,000

For the War Department for Military Purposes
General Appropriation	$311,000,000
Allocated from Emergency Fund	100,000,000
Provision in Deficiency Bills and Additional PWA Funds	15,000,000
Total available for the Army	$426,000,000

Adding these two totals you find that you are making available for the military purposes of the Great War military purposes for the fiscal year 1936 the vast sum of over $1,000,000,000. This is more than Great Britain, France, Germany, Italy, Spain and their armies and navies are spending and both are close to areas of possible invasion.

Both Services Demand Increases

For the fiscal year 1937, both the War Department and the Navy Department have submitted their budgets. After giving a gratuitous inroad to the peace forces of the country and particularly the great rear-guard of the peace forces, the War Department is demanding a compulsory military drill in our educational institutions by calling efforts to abolish this un-American program. It is also demanding an increase of 2000 officers in the regular army, an increase of 15,000 in the National Guard, an increase of 10,000 in the number of reserve officers to be given active duty each year, an increase of 20,000 in the Citizens' Military Training Camps, an increase in the number of the aircraft procurement program and in munitions procurement program, and the construction of a new war department building in Washington.

Admiral Standley before going to Japan, advised the Council that the naval program for the navy, calling for not only a "treaty" navy but also the launching of a program of replacement of the fleet by modern vessels and an "adequate" merchant marine, with a large increase in the officer and enlisted personnel.

Admiral Standley said that this was not for peace but for waging a foreign war. The time to prevent that war is now! Let everyone ask his conscience if the present "adequate" navy, "adequate" for what?

THE KURILS: WHERE VOLCANOS AND MOSQUITOES ABOUND

Seiji Yoshihara, the Japanese Lindbergh, forced down by fog in the Kuril Islands, the Japanese islands between the United States, was back-tracking the route of the U. S. Army Round-the-World Flyers in 1924.

"People of the Sea"

This distant string of fog-enshrouded, storm-lashed islands, strung like a necklace between Japan and Kamchatka, are the "People of the Sea," the islands of the north Pacific's bridge of islands, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society. The islands are known to the casual visitor, however, as the home of the Hairu Ainu, a curious people with a few remnants of the old, pre-agricultural, subarctic Alutians.

Like the Aleutians, the Alaskan Koniag and the British Columbia Haida, they are a string of smoking peaks, dead and alive, whose volcanic heads protrude above the cold and stormy waters of the Sea of Okhotsk and take out the Sea of Okhotsk. Thus they form a haven for the Japanese fishermen who swarm over this island-group, and the Japanese fishermen of Kamchatka and the Japanese Island of Yezo, they have long been known to the Russian who exploited them for their fur and fish. The Russians have the Japanese become interested in these next door neighbors.

The desolate islands are "a cradle of storms," says the bulletin. "The winds and aviator alike. Storms and squalls spring up from nowhere, low-lying fogs hug the water's surface in the night, and the waves are always in wait for the unwary navigator and swift currents race through narrow straits. However, the sea surface may be calm, but the bottom is a field of brown seaweed or kelp which float on the water. Old salts who can "smell" the bottom will find it useful when sailing these foggy waters. Even landlubbers know when the Kuril Islands are close, for the sea is full of volcanic ash which exudes from many of the smoking volcanoes. The rear of landlubbers fighting for their homes, sea and sky, is a constant reminder of the increasing coldness of the temperature are other signs of danger.

Volcanoes and Mosquitoes

Perhaps as he flew over these steaming safety belts of the Kuril Islands, the old biplane of the World Flyers, the host of Vulcan's breath. Certainly when he landed he encountered a host of mosquitoes and other insects which make life unpleasant in these far north islands.

Many of the islands are not so inhospitable. Yotofora, the largest, has a Japanese naval air station and to the Ainu. There children in uniform go to school daily, are taught judo and wrestling, and learn to swim.

Nevertheless, life is not much more advanced in this distant colony than it was in the days when Perry visited Japan. The natives still cling to the ancient customs, as the Army Flyers soon found out when they swooped down from the northern skies. Remembering that the natives wear no shoes when entering a spotless home seemed strange to the islanders, who did the opposite and the more sensitive, the more they were in contact with the natives, the fiercer were the natives. The natives were giants. In fact, everything was small. The houses were small, the people were small, the horses, dwarfed, and stunted.

BE FIXED

Many schools and colleges have begun to observe the Christian festival of "spring vacation" including Easter Day, since this great religious festival may occur on any date from March 22 to April 24 inclusive. The date of Christmas was definitely fixed in the fourth century but the date of Easter has been subjected to many controversies. It was pointed out in a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the United States Geographic Society, Early Christians Celebrated Easter on Week-Day

During the second century, says the bulletin, before the Christians migrated to the East, Easter was celebrated on Easter on the 14th day of the month of Nisan, the seventh month of the Jewish calendar, no matter on what day of the week it fell. In the West, the first Sunday after the full moon, which occurred on or immediately following March 21. This was the same day as the feast of the Ascension. The Creed which is used by many Christian churches. There were many differences in the methods of reckoning the date of Easter among all sects, so that the English and Irish accepted the Roman or Nicene date for Easter.

Gregorian Calendar Reform Affected

Since the Nicene Council, the same method of determining Easter has been employed, although there have been a major calendar change which was made in 1582. In March 1582, Pope Gregory XIII ordered that the Julian Calendar, the method of reckoning time used by the great Roman Emperor Julius Caesar, be abandoned in favor of the more accurate calendar worked out by the great Neapolitan astronomer, Simon Stevinus. The new calendar was called either the Gregorian or New Style Calendar.

At the time Pope Gregory's decree there was a difference of 13 days between the "old style" and the "new style" calendars, a difference which was caused by the accumulation of Julian errors. Catholic countries soon adopted the Gregorian calendar system, but it was not until 1752 that England and her colonies accepted it. By that time there was a difference of 11 days in the two systems. When the calendar change was made in England in Sept. 3, 1752, became Sept. 11, 1752. In some places mobs demonstrated with the demand "Give us back our 11 days."

The Gregorian Calendar has now been accepted by most of the world. Japan started using it in 1873; China in 1912; Russia in 1918; Greece in 1923; and Turkey in 1924.

13 Month Calendar Proposed

One of the most prominent recent movements for calendar reform have given birth to a new system, the 13-month calendar which would provide for 13 months of four 7-day weeks. Some of the main suggestions of the new calendar would be to divide between June and July. This 13-month calendar would make a year of only 364 days, on the basis of the present system, called Year-Day. February would not vary in length as it now does. In Leap Years it would have only 29 days. The extra day would be June 29, Leap-Day. This system would work violence to many present customs. Its accomplishment would be to provide a uniform, but would not the same number of weeks in each month and the same date for each day of every month.

A second and less drastic reform proposes a 12-month year with eight months of 30 days and four months of 31 days. According to the present system, which in ordinary years has seven months of 31 days, four of 30 days and one of 28 days. This would give an irregular number of weeks in a month, and the week days would not fall on the same date in each month. In addition, it would be necessary to have one "leap day" every year and two in leap year. Both would be "blank days" and would permanently be out of the calendar system. Under this plan, Jan. 1 would always fall on the same day of the week.

The equalization of the quarters of the year would consist of two months of 30 days and one month of 31 days, is a third proposed reform. Here again the annual "leap day" would be necessary, but would not be "blank." As a result the calendar would not be perpetual. Although this last proposal would occur only once in 100 years, the present system has the other two, it would result merely in an improved variable calendar.

The variable calendar would not remove the evil which most reformers are endeavoring to avoid.

...n number of days instead of 30 or 31 days, 31, 32, and 22 at present. The salaried person also finds it difficult to budget his income if his plan must cover expenses for only 28 days one month and 31 days to cover 31 days the next. Machines which are issued according to days are discontinued when the date occurs on Sunday. If any day comes on Sunday, the collector prefers to have his money the day before rather than the day after the stipulated time.

To solve these problems, numerous organizations have been studying calendar chances for a number of years. In 1922 the Congress of the International Astronomical Union took up the question. As a result of this agitation, the matter was added to the agenda of the Committee on Communications and Transportation at the League of Nations. After surveying the problem, this committee decided that there is no calendar reform, but that its first step must be to obtain the sanction of religious authorities. Not only religious groups but also governments and international associations, such as chambers of commerce, postal unions, trade groups, teachers' associations, etc., were asked to express opinions on calendar changes. The committee received 185 plans in reply. From these it received the three major plans outlined above. The committee may adopt a definite plan for world acceptance at the League of Nations meeting in September.

England has been interested in calendar reform and especially in the fixing of a date for Easter. In 1923 Parliament passed a law, conditioned upon international acceptance, establishing Easter on the fixed date of the first Sunday after the second Saturday in April.

Lake Tides Small

Lakes are affected by the pull of the sun and moon and have tides just as the ocean has. In Lake Michigan, in most cases these lake tides are so small as to be hardly noticeable. The tidal government measurements have recorded a mean of 1.5 inches in Lake Michigan of one and a half inches and a spring tide of about three. Pattininder Magazine.

Great Auk Did Not Fly

The great auk, or greatfowl, became extinct about 1851. It lived in Iceland and on islands off New England, and it could not fly.

WORLD'S "BLIND SPOTS" SHIRK AS RESULT OF 1935 EXPLORATIONS

A few more of the world's fast dwindling "blind spots" were explored or mapped during 1935, says the National Geographic Society in an annual review of discoveries and outstanding geographic expeditions issued from its Washington, D. C. headquarters.

The geological party of the Byrd Antarctic Expedition II completed in January, 1935, a 1410-mile sledging trip which penetrated to within 180 miles of the South Pole continues the review. The party discovered extensive coal deposits within 200 miles of the pole.

Numerous other important discoveries were made by the expedition in 1934. Byrd and his party returned to the United States on May 7, 1935. Nineteen New Peaks Found in Yukon. Bradford Washburn, leading the National Geographic Society Yukon Expedition explored and mapped 2000 square miles of previously unknown region in the southwestern corner of Yukon Territory, Canada, discovering 19 new mountain peaks more than 10,000 feet high, and a number of extensive glaciers. Two of the newly discovered mountains were named for King George and Queen Mary of Great Britain in honor of their jubilee year.

Great Britain in honor of their jubilee year.

Mount Steele, Yukon Territory, Canada, 16,429 feet high was scaled August 15, by Walter Wood.

An airplane journey of 4000 miles by Dr. Charles J. Camsell in northwest Canada disclosed that the Rocky Mountains come to an end in a plateau north of the Laird River at 60 leagues north latitude.

A low narrow island, one mile long was discovered January 6, 1935, in miles northwest of Broom, Australia.

A waterfall, estimated to have a drop of more than 1000 feet, was discovered last summer from an airplane, by Penny Rogers, in the Rio Negro Mountains of Costa Rica.

A previously uncharted sub-sea peak, rising from a depth of 20,000 feet to within 300 feet of the surface of the Atlantic, was discovered near the Madeira Islands by a French cable repair ship.

Underwater Mountains in Bering Sea. An underwater range of mountains, some rising almost sheerly for 11,000 feet, were discovered in Bering Sea, between the Aleutian and Priof Islands, by an American cutter.

Ice-breakers of the Soviet Government established new firmly the northeast passage between ports of the White Sea and the Far East. A number of ships made the trip in each direction during the summer. Previously unknown islands were discovered by Russian expeditions in Arctic waters north of Siberia. Ushakov Island was found Sept. 1, by the ice-breaker Sadko about midway between the northern end of North Land (formerly Nicholas II Land) and Graham Bell Island. A week later the Sadko discovered three additional islands to the eastward. Strange Race Disclosed in New Guinea.

A hitherto unknown agricultural people, the Tari Furoa, light brown and with certain Asiatic characteristics, was discovered early in 1935 in previously unexplored territory in the interior of New Guinea by H. G. Holes, an assistant resident magistrate, during a patrol trip.

A pygmy tribe was discovered in July in a mountainous region of Annam. An expedition into the Gobi Desert of Mongolia led by Professor Nicholas Roerich brought out a collection of drought-resistant plants.

An expedition headed by Dr. Otto Geist obtained from St. Lawrence Island in Bering Sea, skeletal remains believed to bear on the migration of man from Asia to America.

THE COST OF THE DEPRESSION

Interesting Facts and Figures on Winchester's Part in This Problem

To the Editor of the Star:

Enclosed is the fourth "Annual Report" on the cost of the Depression in Winchester.

Reference to the final table shows that expenditures for four years have totaled $955,000, of which $591,000 has come from the citizens of the town either by taxation or voluntary subscription.

The opinion has been expressed, not only in Winchester, but in many parts of the country, that it would have been better if the straight dole had been used, instead of work relief.

The answer to this problem in any community seems to depend upon the type of work projects which have been carried on, and whether or not they have a permanent value when completed.

In Winchester, work relief certainly has proved to be the proper choice. The average number of families that have required relief of some type has remained pretty constantly at about 300, and with an average of 42 persons per family, this means 12,600 persons; thus 9 per cent of our population is on relief.

The Welfare Board estimates that a fair average weekly cost of supporting these families would be about $10 each.

On a "direct relief" basis, which is another name for a straight dole, it would have cost $120,000 per year, and $600,000 in four years, which turns out to be almost the exact amount which the town itself has actually disbursed under the work relief program.

In Massachusetts, contrary to some other states, there has never been any straight relief under the Federal program, and it is well that there has not. Under this kind of aid, a man comes in once a week, gets his check, and goes home to sit in idleness until the next pay day. This method has been in force to a large extent in New York City, because of the inability to find work enough to keep the recipients employed. Four years of this can result only in complete demoralization of the individual.

Now, what has happened in Winchester? We have spent:

For Wages $527,000.00
Material and Work 100,000.00
Relief without Work 100,000.00

Total $727,000.00

The last item covers the payment for Welfare, Old Age Assistance, Mothers' Relief, Soldiers' Relief, State and Military Aid, either for food, clothing, medicine, etc., or else as aid to persons not able to give work in return.

We received $364,000 of the grand total from the Federal Government, the State, or the County.

We would have had to spend $600,000 anyway under the dole, and would have nothing to show for it. Instead, we spent $587,000 for wages, which happens to be almost the exact amount raised within our own town, and we have put with it $261,000 for materials, etc. By this course we have done much toward maintaining the morale of our unemployed fellow citizens, and we have, in addition, a long list of town improvements with which to credit them.

A definite dollars and cents value of considerably more than the cost of the materials and equipment necessary to obtain them.

While it is impossible to set a market price on all of these results, a list of some of the more important ones will show that they are about $200,000 for excavation, grading, and rip-rap, only. We have completed virtually all that we suggested, with some things further which he did not include, notably the athletic field. We have now a beautiful park system consisting of a series of mosquito swamps, with a potential increase in land values along the river. This work includes the reclamation of the old mill race, and the relocation of the river, and construction of a new park at North Washington street, improvement of the Mill Pond, Horn Pond, Brook, and Russell's Pond, and general cleanup of the river and its banks from the Woburn line to Main street bridge. Certainly all of this is worth at least $250,000 on the basis of the Kelley figures.

Under the so-called Chapter 90 work on the highways, we have re-built a main road, Main street from the Medford line to the center, the entire length of Church street, and Washington street with its new bridge, and also the bridge on Main street at Wedge Pond. These jobs, if done by the town alone, would have cost at least $120,000. Yearly maintenance charges have been greatly reduced.

We have laid two miles of water main, and the Water Department's own average costs are worth $40,000.

At the reservoirs we have transplanted 100,000 trees, and thousands small trees, excavated and rip-rapped five coves, repaired roads, and have made a miscellaneous lot of improvements to the land and the water supply, which are worth over $10,000.

In Wildwood Cemetery the entire northerly portion has been cleaned up, trees set out, nearly three acres of saleable grave lots prepared, and roads and paths built. The probable value is $10,000.

Primer street has been relocated and constructed, giving us an $8000 street.

Among the many other projects are several upon which it is impossible to place a price, such as the following: The Women's Sewing Unit has furnished employment for two years to 100 women from families which other had no breadwinner, or else he was incapacitated. Several thousand yards of cloth have been delivered from the Welfare Department for distribution at a direct saving to the town in clothing purchases.

A much needed revision of the book of the history of the town historical collection at the Library is still in process which will make their records as modern as the new building.

A parking space has been built behind the Town Hall, and the rough land graded and seeded.

A survey of all oil burners in town has been made, and the Fire Department now has a duplicate card index, one copy of which goes in the Chief's car.

to every fire. The card indicates on a plan of each building the location of the oil burner, the tank, and switches, and shows what is in relation to doors and windows. This saves the firemen from hunting blindly in a dense fog for the location of the oil burner. Shortage of work has caused two firemen to be killed in Greater Boston from this very cause.

traffic survey, as yet unfinished because not yet authorized upon order of P. A., will furnish the Selectmen with full information needed for the co-ordination and safety of traffic. It is the means of saving one life it will easily pay its own way.

In conclusion, the foregoing is only a partial list of the many projects, large and small, which have been carried on during the past four years. Many of them would have been done anyway in future years at the town's sole expense, and at a probable cost of very close to one-half million dollars.

Which is preferable—to have spent $900,000 and have only demoralization among 9 per cent of our fellow citizens, or to spend $555,000 (one-third of which we will be taxed for whether we accept it or not) and have public improvements worth half that sum, created by men and women who gave their work in exchange for aid?

Yours truly,
Frank T. Olmstead

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Miss Eleanor Hudson, Federation Secretary, broadcast twice recently; as guest speaker for the State Federation of Women's Clubs, she gave an 11 minute talk on the "Fortnightly Preservation of Antiques Committee," which she founded in 1932, and which is considered one of the most outstanding groups in any federated club. The following day, Miss Hudson was speaker on "Women on Parade," conducted by Mrs. Frances Blanchard of the Boston Herald. Her subject was "Hobbies as a Hobby."

Garden
The February meeting of this group took place at the home of Mrs. George Hayden on Feb. 2. Thirty-two members were present and luncheon was followed by the reading of poetry, clippings, etc., on flowers and gardens.

Community Service
The first meeting of the Community Service Committee was held on Jan. 31. In the chair of the chairman, Ruth Hiltun, Mrs. Robert Beyer presided. Mr. Henry Chapman, former Editor of the Youth's Companion, an old resident of Winchester, presented an informal talk on interesting parts of his "History of Winchester," which he has just written. Mr. Albert Gannum of Winchester, presented his plan for the swimming and recreation center and gave an interesting talk concerning this project. The Misses Betty Ann and Mary McIsaac presented lovely tap numbers. Ten was served by Mrs. Beatrice Campbell, Mrs. Marian Gilbert, Mrs. S. Alice Andrews and Mrs. Alice Newton.

Art Open House
On Friday, Feb. 7, another open house was held by the Art Committee. About 60 people were present and expressed their enthusiastic approval of these informal afternoons. Many of Mrs. Elizabeth Lobinger's lovely paintings were on exhibition. Members of the class in oil painting were shown and had their partly-finished paintings displayed at one end of the "studio." Mrs. Lobinger gave an exceedingly interesting talk, followed by a question period in which many eagerly participated.

A very lovely moving picture of New Hampshire mountains in autumn (coloring, was loaned by Dr. Roger Farguey. There was much interest in photographs loaned and album, by Mrs. W. D. Goss, Mrs. George Hayden, Mrs. Gerald Hills, Mrs. Hubert Arcowsmith and others.

Tea was served by Mrs. Harriet Sutter and her committee, assisted by Jean Worthen, Priscilla Howard, Jean Howard, Margaret Abbe. Guest of honor was Mrs. Herbert Stephens of Arlington. State Chairman of Art in the Massachusetts Federation.

Club members are reminded of the exhibition to be held at the next open house, March 6. Bring anything that you or members of your immediate family have done, to share with other members. There are no restrictions.

The State Federation of Women's Clubs will hold its mid-winter meeting, Thursday, Feb. 10-30, a. m. at Hotel Bradford, Boston, (nearly opposite the Metropolitan Theatre). There will be an interesting program. The speakers include Miss Mary Ward, Commissioner of Immigration for the Port of Boston, and Commissioner Paul Kirk of the Department of Public Safety.

Lunch will be served in the hotel's attractive dining room, "The Cascades" and reservation must be made at least a week in advance. Charles R. Storey, 248 West Elm street, Brockton.

It is hoped that a large number of Fortnightly members will attend this mid-winter meeting, noted for its interesting and inspiring program.

Eleanor Hudson.

The regular meeting of the Fortnightly was held on Feb. 10. The president, Mrs. Grosvenor, spoke of the love to the club in the recent death of Mrs. Dora Elliott and the members paid her memory the tribute of a moment of silent prayer.

Miss Concettina Bartoli, lyric soprano, sang a group of songs, most charmingly:

"La Serenata"
"Love I Have From Thee" from Cycle of Life
"The Star" (from "The Star")
"The Star" (from "The Star")
"The Star" (from "The Star")

The speaker was Mr. Dale Warren, public director of the Houghton Mifflin Co., who took for his subject, "The Publisher Goes to London." Mr. Warren, a confessed Anglophile, spoke in a delightful and intimate manner of the English and the English people that he knows so well. Quite as fascinating were his glimpses of English authors, from tea with Rebecca West to a long afternoon with Havelock Ellis, a young man of many of us went away with firm convictions that we too were Anglophiles, or "Anglo-maniacs."

LUNCHEON BRIDGE

Mrs. Guy Howe and Mrs. Elsie Pierce are co-chairmen for the Luncheon Bridge to be given at the parish house of the Church of the Epiphany, Tuesday, Feb. 17. Individual tickets are: Mrs. Guy Howe, Mrs. Elsie Pierce, Mrs. Ralph Gardner, Mrs. Louis Barta, Mrs. John Shanon, Mrs. Charles Werley, Mrs. Jane Riley, Mrs. Dunbar Carpenter, Mrs. John Johnson, Mrs. Robert Hart, Mrs. Frederick Hamerstrom and Mrs. Donald Heath.

Extensive plans have been made and it is expected this luncheon bridge will be one of the outstanding events of the pre-Lenten season.

JORDAN GROUP HELD MEETING

The Jordan Group of the Church of the Epiphany held its February meeting at the home of Mrs. Charles E. Werley with Mrs. Charles H. Wansker, co-chairman.

There was a large attendance. Committees were appointed and plans made for the lobster luncheon to be held under the auspices of the Group in the parish home next May.

At the tea table, Mrs. Fred H. Cameron and Mrs. Archibald C. Jordan presided. Valentine Day decorations, flowers, and a delicious hot set together with dainty refreshments made the table a joy to behold. All present felt well repaid while gathered around the cheery fireplace for leaving the treacherous walking.

ATTENDED ANNUAL BANQUET
A number of Winchester Elks and their ladies attended the annual banquet of the Massachusetts Elks Association at the Copple Plaza Tuesday evening. The affair was in honor of Grand Exalted Ruler Judge James T. Hansen of the New York Superior Court.

Included in the Winchester group attending were Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Scholl, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Callahan, Mr. Harry Stevens, Exalted Ruler of Winchester Lodge; Mr. Everett N. Hamby, Mrs. Joseph Coakley, Miss Alice Sullivan and Miss Molly Falvey.

GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOR

Hostesses for the tea following the meeting last Tuesday were Mrs. Edwin Hrobin, Mrs. W. S. Bowen, Mrs. Stewart Edgington, Mrs. F. W. Evans and Mrs. C. A. Farrar. Miss Anna Kuhn was the speaker and her subject "Catholic Literature" was most inspiring.

Lecture
On Friday morning, Feb. 12, Lieut. Geo. Joseph M. Hurley will be a guest of the Guild at their second lecture of the winter. Mrs. M. H. Hamilton is opening her home for this lecture. An extensive coffee will be served one half hour preceding the program. Miss Mary Lucy is also giving a line program of readings on this morning.

On March 2, the Winchester Chapter working with the Boston Guild will present a tableau of living pictures. Twelve famous pictures will be posed with models from Boston and Winchester. The Guild Glee Club will furnish the music.

March 28 has been chosen as the date for the annual spring bridge and fashion show.

Tea
Mrs. Thomas Hennessey of 12 Salisbury road entertained at a lovely tea at her home on Thursday afternoon. Spring flowers graced the table and were used throughout the house. Guests included members of the Board of the Guild of the Infant Saviour.

"PUT A STICK IN IT"

The "stick" in two glasses of beer were attacked by Thomas S. Macario of 1091 Main street, Woburn, for the accident which befell the Erskine when he was driving south on Main street shortly before 1:30 Monday afternoon. When near Hoxington street the sedan got out of control and tipped over, being badly damaged. The Police were notified of the accident and Patrolman John H. Boyle arrested Macario on charges of drunkenness and driving while under the influence of liquor. Accused him to the authorities. Macario admitted having had two glasses of beer and thought that "some one must have put a stick in it."

In District Court Tuesday morning Association Justice Curtis W. Macdonald acquitted Macario on charges of drunkenness and driving while under the influence of liquor. He was fined $50 for the drunken driving.

OBSERVATIONS
(By the Observer)

The average Winchesterite is more apt to tell what he doesn't believe than what he does.

There is nothing wrong with the mind of a man who minds his own business.

The Winchesterite who can forget is often happier than the Winchesterite who remembers.

In the case of the flea and the dog, Winchester dog owner figures that two can live as cheaply as one.

There is something decidedly wrong with the character that is impaired by truth.

Mozart, an Infant Prodigy
Mozart, the great composer, must be regarded as the classic example of an infant prodigy. He was only three when he began his study of music. A year later he was writing his first compositions. At the age of seven Mozart could play the harpsichord, the organ, and the violin as well as the bass. Known musicians in Germany, one of his most extraordinary feats—transcribing Allegri's "Miserere" after hearing it only once—was accomplished shortly after his fourteenth birthday.

(By the Observer)Frankly the girls of the Winchester of 1936 are franker. This is a frank statement.Jealousy is referred to as the green-eyed monster, and it causes many red eyes from weeping.Less than six months from now Winchesterites will be receiving souvenir post cards marked "Guess Who?"No Winchesterite is a hero to anybody who sees him in wrinkled pajamas.They have found the gland that limits growth. Now all that remains to make a lot of Winchester homeowners happy is to find the gland is located in lawn grass.Even here in fair Winchester few politicians take the trouble to do much handshaking after the results of the voting have been announced.Winchester clump who is a severe shifter in a Boston theatre is a fellow as he gets a change of scene without even leaving the job.Let us remember that human life is like a bank. We have to put something in it before we try to get anything out of it.The Winchesterite who tells you the faults of others will tell others of your faults.Do not be afraid to speak right out loud. The world is too busy to listen to whispers.One Winchester woman is said to have changed her mind seven times an hour. Perhaps her intuition was just getting the range.It is possible to meet many fellows here in Winchester who labor under the impression that they were intended for something better.We know a fellow in Winchester who takes up so much time telling one what he is going to do that he never gets it done.Remember the fellow in town some years ago, yes, many years ago, who used to place a ring of beer bottles bottom up around the two rose bushes in his front yard.

READING THEATRE

Drama and song, pathos and laughter are most effectively blended in "The Little Rebel," the Fox picture which offers Shirley Temple her greatest acting opportunity in two years and is at the Reading Theatre
Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.The story centers about the adventures of a beautiful little girl in Virginia, caught between the forces of two invading armies.John Boles and Karen Morley are cast as little sister's parents in the picture, with Jack Holt, Bill Robinson, Guinn 'Big Boy' Williams and Willie Best prominently featured in the supporting cast.The co-feature will be "A Thou-

We note from Wednesday's paper that Springfield Italians gave gold to the Italian Consul for the Ethiopian war and that Federal agents entered a safety deposit vault in a New York bank and seized a lot of gold stored there. The law is quite a puzzle these days.

Meanwhile the United States maintains its neutrality.

The privilege of running for a town office is open to anyone. The successful candidate is the chosen voter. But to belittle an efficient officer holding a job, even to the extent of claiming as "false" reports of his ability, is introducing a dangerous element into Winchester politics which is grating to a mass of our voters. Thus we feel impelled to recommend to Winchester voters the better letter in this issue written by Henry F. Long, Commissioner of Corporations and Taxation. To those who received a recent unsigned political circular criticizing the ability of our present Collector of Taxes Nathaniel M. Nichols, now up for re-election, we quote but the last paragraph of Commissioner Long's letter:

"Your work is much to be commended and I am more than happy to send this communication to you as I send similar communications to other collectors who like yourself stand out as persons who have the interest of the community at heart, and sensing that tax money must be had, obtain it at the earliest possible moment, and by doing so maintain the level of the financial credit of their municipalities at the highest level."

There may be more able and more efficient men for Collector of Taxes than Mr. Nichols, but they have to be proven—as at least he is by the State Commissioner.

There are few violations of the motoring code more exasperating than the careless driving of automobiles when streets are choked with snow and as a consequence make much more narrow than usual. Many a driver has had his car stuck in the snow during the past heavy storms in attempting to get by a car left half way toward the middle of the road by some thoughtless or careless driver whose chief concern was stopping where he wished to stop. These same thoughtless parkers would naturally deny any motorist who is attempting to pass their carelessly parked cars chances to strike and damage them. They have no consideration for the drivers of heavy commercial vehicles, who are not driving around for pleasure and who have to cover their routes within a reasonable time to hold their jobs. They think of no one but themselves, and the unbelievable part of it all is that in many instances their own drivers are actually being available to take their machines off the narrow roads entirely. If our present parking laws are inadequate to care for the further blocking of snow-choked roads by thoughtless drivers, they should be broadened to include a trip to court for those who add to the hazard of winter driving. If there is nothing to cover such selfishness, special provision to this end should be made. A five or ten dollar fine might be levied as a bit of consideration for the convenience and safety of others, though it is our opinion that a sentence to dig out the poor devil who was stuck trying to get by a carelessly parked car would be more to the point, particularly if the shoveling could be done during a raging storm.

This year's election bids fair to be the most interesting and hardest fought, if not the pleasantest, that Winchester has seen in many months, particularly insofar as it concerns the Board of Selectmen; though the contests for Townsman and Tax Collector will also be closely watched. It is always desirable to have a representative vote cast at the polls, but this year it is so important as to be vital. The voters of the town have a very real responsibility this year. Unfortunately, or not, this is to be a "movie" election in Winchester. By that we do not mean determining whether or not the town wants motion pictures. A referendum vote in favor has been recorded after years of negative decisions and this matter is presumably decided. "Movies" enter this election, however, in the matter of a site for a motion picture theatre, and in many quarters candidates for the Board of Selectmen are being rated largely upon their opinion as to the proper place for displaying pictures locally. Granting that the location of a motion picture theatre can interest the town greatly and should be carefully decided, with a view to the best interests of ALL the people, the Star believes that any candidate who runs on such a location is after all a poor yardstick by which to gauge his value to the community as a public servant holding the most important office in the town. There are matters of far greater importance likely to come before next year's election. How do the placing of a movie theatre? How do the candidates shape up from the standpoint of accepting such responsibility? What interest have they in town affairs or management? What interest have they shown in civic matters prior to this year? These are some of the questions our voters should ask themselves before they mark their crosses beside the names of candidates for the Board. When, and if, the movie question is settled, how much experience and to go further, actual interest, will the candidates have in the remaining matters which come within the Board's jurisdiction. A Selectman's job is a 24 weeks proposition. It is arduous far beyond the belief of the average individual. It takes time and not a little study to learn the " ropes " of municipal affairs. The management, or mis-management, of the town means much to all of us. We should not permit our interest in any one item (a movie site for instance) to blind us to the fact that the Selectmen will be concerned for the coming year with matters of far greater importance than this issue, live as it may now seem. We should all vote carefully and as dispassionately as possible, selecting men whose interest in town affairs is well rounded and who evince an interest in serving the community rather than in furthering a particular project. Above everything, we ALL should vote. There seems plenty to vote for this year.

FAVORS SOUTH MAIN STREET MOVIES

To the Editor of the Star: Some ten months ago the townspeople of Winchester spent some $800 for a special election to express their wishes on whether a motion picture theatre should be approved in the town or not. The vote was decidedly affirmative, and was acknowledged by the Board of Selectmen who stated their purpose to follow out these wishes, but not hastily which was commendable. Unfortunately, it would seem, some mistakes were made, and the townspeople were left very much in ignorance of what was happening. Some six months passed and the people were beginning to wonder what this silence was all about, when a report was published which looked as if it was made to cover an error. In other words, both the Selectmen, and the Planning Board had discouraged the theatre project by attempting to tell the applicants how they could spend their money and where. Not much inducement for a man to come to Winchester, pick out a location, which he felt to be successful, and then he led to an abandoned mill on the outskirts of a very popular business center, and advised he can go ahead with his project providing he builds there. Apparently, the Planning Board had one idea in mind only in their report, and that was to get the cars of the street, and with this thought they shut their eyes to the applicants viewpoints and to his ultimate chances of success. If the Planning Board had desired to make a complete report they would have procured information from Winchester's neighboring towns, and cities; and they would have found in each instance the motorist parks in an easily accessible location, which also suggest they take a little trip to the Capitol Theatre parking space in Arlington, and see where they would park on a second visit. Another point, they should familiarize themselves on, is the location of theatres in other towns, and in all instances they will find them in successful business centers, not on the outskirts of a section where there are no other business centers. Another point they miss is, that the real successful theatres are built in such a way that stores can be included to give additional revenue, and the more revenue the better the theatre and also its pictures. The railroad crossing argument is always a losing one as an obstacle with the usual "It's" and "When's." We think it might be of great interest to the citizens if the Board could start working from another angle, remembering it is the other fellow's money to be spent, and his location to be approved, not theirs.

Yours very truly,

DEMORALIZED GOVERNMENT

To the Editor of the Star: It is very evident that listening to discussions regarding the question of the issuing of a license by the Board of Selectmen for a moving picture location, that a large number of citizens than all the other business affairs of the Town.

If people will vote for or against a candidate under these conditions regardless of his qualifications or disabilities, or to all other business, it will be a great misfortune to the Town of Winchester.

While the sentiment of the majority of the people voting was in favor of a moving picture license being granted, it would seem that the matter of a site for a movie theatre, and to the Board of Selectmen. As I understand the situation, the granting of a license is not the issue but it is a matter of location.

After all, the qualifications of a man for office should be the controlling factor rather than his stand on one narrow issue.

Yours respectfully,

George M. Byrne

PRESENT BOARD CANDIDATES

To the Editor of the Star: During the past few many stories have reached my car regarding each member of the present Board of Selectmen, and their re-election. Every one of these stories that I have heard is absolutely false, and without the slightest bit of foundation. I have had the pleasure of serving with these men during the past year as their Chairman. They have all been men of high character and their main thoughts have been for the best interests of the Town as a whole, and not for any

To the Editor of the Star: Individual, group or section. This means good government. It would be most disastrous if they were not re-elected as a most difficult year is ahead with the uncertainty of Federal Assistance in our relief problem, as well as other matters which naturally come up in the conduct of the business of this town. They must have the knowledge and ability to carry on this work in an efficient manner for the best interests of all concerned.

I do not like to break out into print at this time, but I hope that you will see your way clear to publish this letter in the next issue of your paper as these stories are so malicious and persistent that I believe it is proper that one who does know the truth, and can speak, should do so at this time.

CARE SHOULD BE TAKEN IN VOTING

To the Editor of the Star: From present indications it would seem as if there is a possibility that some of the voters of Winchester may endeavor to turn the coming election into a moving picture contest.

We have every reason to be concerned over the location of a moving picture theatre in Winchester, and it is my opinion that the Board has used extreme wisdom in holding off on issuing a license in order that the very best location for the future of Winchester should be obtained.

Speaking of the Board, I wonder if most of us realize that we are really securing the services of not only the Board members, but of many other men in the conduct of the town affairs, at no expense to the town, the men whose services are mighty valuable, and who are not only hurrying the midnight oil, but after a weary day, at night, but spending a generous portion of their days in working on the problems that continually confront them. We should be very thankful that there are men who have sufficient civic pride to give thus lavishly of their services.

Few of us can realize what the present Board of Selectmen have been up against in this matter of moving pictures, and yet they have been asked to seek out other problems much more important in the long run than the matter of a location for motion pictures.

Let us elect a Board of Selectmen which will use the same careful discrimination in not only the picture problem, but a multitude of others which are continually coming up.

I am informed that at the last election only 49 per cent of the voters in Precinct 4 voted. Surely it would seem that we should take more interest in town affairs than to pass up the consideration of the men who are running for offices. It behooves each of us to use to at least go to the polls and mark our ballots for five Selectmen and the other officers under consideration, as well as any referendum that may also come up for consideration.

Sincerely,

Ernest Dudley Chase

APPRECIATION TO BRICK COMPANY

To the Editor of the Star: The residents of Park road would like the Winchester people to know about the kind consideration shown them by the Winchester Brick Company.

Friday night about 10:30, the plow came up Park road and cleared the snow very nicely on one side. Since there was no room for a large truck to turn around, the Brick Company plow had to back down. While doing this, a snow rut caused the truck to get stuck in the large pile of snow on the side of the road. Three quarters of an hour's work of shoveling was necessary to get the truck the rest of the way to Washington street.

As the truck near Washington street, a resident of Park road suggested that the plow turn around on Washington street and back up to the top of Park road so it could plow the other side on the way down. The driver of the truck said he was thinking of doing so.

Believe it or not, in spite of having so much trouble, he turned around, backed all the way up Park road and plowed the other side on the way down.

The residents of Park road are especially anxious to express their appreciation to the Winchester Brick Company for the wonderful co-operation and every one of us to let at least go to their driver. We have large trucks in our town which we could have published here and thank him personally.

WASHINGTON AND HIGHLAND MOTHEIRS
Winchester Institute

May 1, as scribe for the Washington and Highland Chapters of the Mothers' Association, take this opportunity to thank the committee for giving us the opportunity to attend the Institute.

The talk given by Mr. C. Ellwood Drake at this morning session was received with enthusiasm and many of us would like to see some of his ideas put in practice here, but it is our enthusiasm will manifest itself in the forthcoming of the necessary funds. If we want to further modernize our school system, we must be prepared to pay for it as the present school budget does not allow for additional expenditures.

We understand and realize that a guidance department in our school system and I believe the presidents of our Mothers' Associations should talk this matter over with their members, so that every mother will thoroughly understand what advantages such a department has to offer her children.

Many were interested in the visiting teacher idea, but it seems to me such a teacher would only be necessary among the foreign-born families which work is now covered by our hard-working Mrs. Savage, and with the growing interest in the Mothers' Association it does seem as though we mothers should establish our own personal contact with the classroom teacher by going to the school and talking over with her our own little problems. We have few "problem children" such as are encountered at the Lyman School and these few have been handled with great care by Mr. Quinn.

Your reporter may be unusually dumb, but she must admit she did not get much out of the panel discussion inasmuch as Winchester mothers are interested in the average child, and would like to have had the discussion run along the lines of movies, radio and other things in which the average child is interested as suggested by Mr. Carl Werler.

Few people realize what close contact exists between the Welfare Board and the School Department, and those who know, the remarks of Mr. Malcolm S. Nichols reminded us of the hundreds of adjustments made necessary by the depression.

The work of our school nurse has been extremely heavy during the depression yet she must carry on without remark could be more efficient. I wonder if we have a visiting teacher, what would

VOL. LV. NO. 31

WINCHESTER, MASS., FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1936

PRICE SEVEN CENTS

TO THE VOTERS OF WINCHESTER

The undersigned voters of the Town of Winchester endorse the candidacy of Mr. Franklin J. Lane for the office of Selectman.

He was born in Winchester and has lived here most of his life. After graduating from Winchester High School in 1913 he attended Tufts College and received his degree. He enlisted in the United States Navy and served as an officer for many months on the U. S. S. New York operating in foreign waters.

His business connection for the past 15 years with the Boston Varnish Company, of which he is now Vice President, has given him experience and training which make him a logical candidate for the Board.

Mr. Lane served as a member of the Board of Selectmen in 1931-35 and is now a member of the Town Finance Committee. He also is active in many community organizations.

We know his election to the Board of Selectmen will be of benefit to the Town.

ARLINGTON PLAYERS TO PRESENT TWO ONE-ACT PLAYS IN WINCHESTER

On Monday, March 2, at 8-15 p. m. at the invitation of the Winchester Unitarian Players, the Friends of the Drama of Arlington will present in the Parish House of the Winchester Unitarian Church two one-act plays: "The One of Them Perfect," by Sophie Kerr, and "This Mortal Coil," by Ralph Sharpe. The Boston Transcript has remarked in commenting on this forthcoming event, it is "in pursuance of the idea of exchanging talent with the other dramatic clubs in nearby towns."

The reputation for skillful acting which the Arlington players have acquired by their successes in the past assures their Winchester audience of a delightful evening. The affair is open to the general public and a large audience seems assured for what should prove one of the most interesting dramatic events of the season.

W. ALLAN WILDE
CANDIDATE FOR RE-ELECTION

Having served the Town of Winchester as a member of the Board of Selectmen for the past year to the best of my ability and with the interests of the whole town in mind, I am seeking re-election for a further term to this important office, knowing full well its various demands. I respectfully solicit your support at the coming election.

FORMER POSTMASTER
GEORGE H. LOCHMAN
FOR Town Treasurer

28 years resident of Winchester, 12 years in Winchester Banks, during that period serving nine years as Clerk of the Board of Selectmen and three years as Town Auditor. For 11 years as Postmaster, being removed Nov. 12th, 1935. Seven years, and at present, Chairman of the Welfare Committee of the local Lodge of Elks.

As my entire business life has been devoted to bookkeeping, accounting and the conservation of other people's property and interests, I feel that I am amply qualified by ability, experience, and temperament to fill the position. If you agree with me as to these qualifications I will greatly appreciate your vote.

RICHARD W. MACALANS FOR SELECTMAN
We believe that Mr. MacAlans possesses the necessary qualifications for the office of Selectman. Born and educated in Winchester he is personally acquainted with many of its problems. His candidacy is actuated by a keen sense of civic responsibility.

His technical experience is broad. In the past he has held as Chief Engineer of ocean going steamships, holding an unlimited marine chief engineer's license. At present he is chief engineer of the New England Engineering Department of one of the largest casualty insurance companies in this country. As a member of the American Society of Safety Engineers he has been instrumental in fostering safety programs which have won commendable recognition in New England.

Senior Lieutenant in the reserve of the United States Navy—Finance Officer of Winchester Port, American Legion—member of the Committee Club—a few of his out-of-town activities.

Mr. Richard W. MacAlans is a responsible, aggressive, independent candidate who is determined, if elected, to serve the town in its entirety.

DID NOT FILE PAPERS

To the Editor of the Star:
In fairness to myself and my friends who have supported me in the past, I wish to correct what I consider a false impression created by a news item in last week's Star.

I did not file nomination papers for any town office, not because I could not get sufficient names, but because I felt I did not have, and would not have sufficient time to do justice to my candidacy.

In consideration of any future action which I may care to take in town politics I feel it wise to explain to the voters my reason for not running for any office but that of precinct chairman.

COLLECTOR NICHOLS, A CANDIDATE FOR RE-ELECTION

To the Voters of Winchester:
I am again seeking re-election as Tax Collector which now includes the office of Town Collector. I have 51 days endeavoring to collect the taxes efficiently, impartially and with as little friction as possible and I am asking your votes and your generous support which they have always given me.

Most cordially yours,
Nathaniel M. Nichols,
29 Crescent Road,

EDWARD R. SHERBURNE
CANDIDATE FOR SELECTMAN

These are the times when it is necessary for men of years of business experience to serve the public.

My business experience during the past years has qualified me as a candidate for this office; and I do promise at least to give the people of Winchester the benefit of my experience and training by dealing with the various problems as presented from time to time to the Board, giving them due deliberation and thought.

When you vote on Monday, March 2, 1936 be convinced that the candidate for Selectman has the qualifications for this office, and that his actions while serving will be for the best interest and general welfare of the town.

There are many important issues to be dealt with in these trying times, such as: Expense, Taxation, Unemployment, Relief, and many other problems and there are decisions to be made—but made accurately.

I am a property owner and have been a resident of Winchester for the past twenty years.

I would appreciate your support, and assure you that you can have full freedom in my work during the coming year.

FOR TREASURER
FRANK T. OLMSTEAD

To the Voters:

The Town of Winchester now represents a business of two million dollars a year. As such it requires a business man who can operate its fiscal affairs with efficient, modern methods.

I believe that I am equipped by training and experience to fulfill this need.

Age 48, and a resident for 26 years. Accountant with 14 years' experience, including the handling of securities, in Boston banks, and with five of these years as auditor; 9 years in the home office of an insurance company, including 5 years as Treasurer. Elected in the U. S. Navy in 1918, and was assigned to Naval construction.

Served on Winchester Finance Committee of 1933-34-35; secretary last year.

If you agree that this important Town office should be modernized, vote for the LAST name on the ticket.

D. A. R.

The February meeting of Committee of Safety Chapter D. A. R., was held with Mrs. J. Frank Hodge of 17 Edgell Hill road.

Mrs. George M. Byrne gave a resume of the State Board meeting that was very interesting and gave us many things to think about. Mrs. Sewell E. Newman gave an instructive 15 minutes' talk on the signing of the Constitution, bringing to our minds many facts not forgotten such as Madison, the father of the constitution. Each state sent its best men. Fifty-five members in all.

Benjamin Franklin, senior member, 81 years old at that time.

Delegates to the March Conference and to Washington were selected. Professor Mr. Samuel S. Stames, talk Mrs. Charles Coker read an inventory of goods and lands belonging to Samuel Richardson of Woburn taken on the 25th of the first month of the year 1678. This was certainly unique and the reading had to be given such as Madison, the father of the constitution. Each state sent its best men. Fifty-five members in all.

Tra was served by the hostess, Mrs. Hodge and her assistants.

JAMES J. FITZGERALD, JR.
SHOULD BE RE-ELECTED

James J. Fitzgerald, Jr., a candidate for re-election to the Board of Selectmen is a native of Winchester. He is a college trained engineer with his business centered in Winchester and has every reason to be vitally interested in the proper development of the community and the sound administration of its affairs.

He is independent, pledged now as last year only to work for what he believes to be the best interests of the town as a whole.

He has completed a year upon the Board of Selectmen and has the experience and training in town business necessary to successfully discharge the duties of the office he seeks.

We believe he should be re-elected, and ask your support of his candidacy at the polls on March 2.

ANY WAY YOU LOOK AT IT!

IT COSTS LESS NOW TO BUY "ON TIME"

The new GMAC 6% TIME PAYMENT Plan reduces the cost of financing a new car purchase. Use these savings to get a better car—a car that's a joy to own, a thrill to drive—a safe, smart, new Buick that packs pleasure in every mile. We'll gladly show you the exact figures and how much you save.

For thrift, for prolonged resistance to wear, tear and abuse. It will write family history in the new sort of satisfaction it gives you and yours.

But highlight of the news is that you can buy the Buick Special for a mere two or three dollars a week more than the lowest-priced cars. The new GMAC 6% Time Payment Plan brings down the cost of buying "on time," makes payments easy, removes the last cause for waiting to "step-up" to a Buick.

We'd like to show you the phenomenal Special, let you drive it, figure out the arithmetic on it. It's worth your while just to find out how little it costs to get a car that's big in more ways than its inches! When may we see you?

TILTON ACADEMY TRIPPED WINCHESTER

Winchester High lost its first basketball game of the current season last Friday evening in the high school gymnasium, going down to defeat at the hands of Tilton Academy, 27 to 25. Angewin, visiting left guard, led both teams with 11 points, and his right guard mate, Cox, was second with 12 points. Ebbelach was Winchester's high man with 12 points. Just to make it unanimous the undefeated Winchester seconds had to blow their season's record in the preliminary game, losing a close decision 18 to 16, to the Wakefield High seconds, a late game rally falling a single basket shy. The locals had a chance to tie, but couldn't sink double foul shots just before the final whistle. Following is the first game summary:

TO ATTEND CONVENTION

Dr. and Mrs. Milton J. Quinn of Church street leave Sunday for Detroit where the doctor will attend the convention of the American College of Physicians, in which he holds an associate fellowship. After the convention he and Mrs. Quinn will go on for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Quinn, in St. Joseph's, Mo., also visiting Lexington, Ky., and Cumberland, Md., before returning to Winchester. They will be gone about two weeks.

WINCHESTER SPORTS ENTHUSIASTS AT JACKSON, N. H.

Registered at the Eagle Mountain House, Jackson, N. H., for winter sports over the weekend were the following from this town: Mrs. and Mr. Hogue, Ford, Miss Piscella Maynard, Mr. Ralph D. Larson, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall W. Symmes and Mr. Albert H. Dalympis. Sport conditions were perfect with 18 inches of snow and the weather clear and cold. The mountain bathing Mr. Washington were entirely clear of clouds which is unusual for this time of year. It is reported that Horace Ford gave a wonderful exhibition of skiing and Marshall W. Symmes found a 50 cent piece in the deep snow. Between four and five thousand winter sport enthusiasts visited Jackson, N. H., over the weekend and every hotel was full including the Eagle Mountain House. This is the first winter for four years that there has been enough interest to warrant opening up in the winter time.

SATURDAY MORNING CONCERTS FOR JUNIOR

Mrs. John P. Carr and Miss Alice Mann are Winchester women interested in the Saturday Morning Concerts for Juniors, the last of which is to be given at Sanders Theatre, Memorial Hall, Cambridge, on Saturday, March 7, commencing at 10:45 a. m. An interesting program has been arranged in keeping with the purpose of the concerts which is to provide the best type of music for boys and girls, performed by able musicians so that the youthful audience may become acquainted with and acquire a taste for the best in musical literature. Further information about the concerts may be secured from either Miss Mann or Mrs. Carr.

Miss Nan, J. Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth S. Hall of Worslow road, a freshman at Jackson College, has been pledged to the Omicron chapter of the national sorority, Sigma Kappa. Miss Hall is also a member of the Jackson All Around Club.

OPEN HOUSE DAY AT EDISON SHOP

Observing Golden Jubilee Occasion
All customers of the Boston Edison Company are invited to attend "Open House" day on Saturday, Feb. 28, at the local Edison shop at 131 Vernon street, Winchester. An all-day program from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. will include many interesting features to signalize the 50th anniversary of the local electric utility company. The local electric utility company, assisted by members of the domestic science staff, known as the company's "home service" division, in the presentation of a complete and interesting routine throughout the day. Attendance prizes will be awarded by the store manager.

Lecture demonstrations will be given on the complete line of modern electric appliances on d-day at the local Edison shop and sales specialists will be offered for Saturday visitors. The Edison Company's 50th anniversary date was Feb. 20.

WON SKI DASH

David Livingston, son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles S. Livingston, of Brooks street, won first place in the junior ski dash, and second place in the junior cross country ski race at the annual winter carnival at Eaglebrook School, at Bedford, last weekend. This winter carnival is one of the oldest in the country. It was started about the time that Dartmouth began to develop its winter carnival.

CALUMET CLUB BOWLING

There were many spirited contests for prizes which were awarded at the semi-monthly Mixed Bowling tournament held Tuesday, Feb. 18, at the Calumet Club. An unusually large number of bowlers turned out and prizes were won by the following: first prize, Mrs. William Ferguson; second prize, Mrs. Wallace Flanders; third prize, Mrs. Charles Fitz.

YOU GET A BETTER USED CAR FROM A BUICK DEALER

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Again it was a pleasure to welcome that group of male quartets, the Variety Club Quartet of Boston, under the direction of Earl Widener—Clifford Johnson, 1st tenor; George Wheeler, 1st baritone; L. Ralph Taylor, baritone; Robert Ilessee, bass. It is rare that one hears a finer blending, color and balance of voices or a finer choice of program. Every moment was enjoyable and our one regret was the seeming shortness of it. The stirring "Cavalier" by Janson, the popular "Hills of Home" by Fox and "One Alone" from Romberg's "Desert Song" made up the first group with "Lift Thine Eyes" by Logan as an encore. Mr. Wheeler, well known as a radio artist, chose songs that not only showed the dramatic quality of his voice but also the lyrical quality of his song. "Lift Thine Eyes" by Pearl Curran; "Will You Remember" from "Springtime" by Friml and a charming Irish Irish tune, "A Little Town in Old County Down." Following, the group did two original and clever arrangements, made by Mr. Wheeler, the first, Liszt's immortal "Liebe, traute mich" and the dramatic "Bird of the Wilderness" by Hornemann. Mr. Ilessee sang two very beautiful numbers, "Melodie in the Woods" by Goeckel and one of the sweetest songs in the English language, "The Cloths of Heaven" by Dunhill. His charm of voice and manner completely won the audience. One of the greatest works for male voices followed a setting by Hammond of Sir Walter Scott's "Lachinvar." Particularly enjoyable were the incidental solo by Mr. Taylor and Mr. Ilessee and the splendid performance of the very difficult accompaniment by Mr. Wheeler.

If applause is an indication, the high moment of the afternoon was reached in Mr. Taylor's group, "Gwine to Helben" by W. H. Auden and "Perfect Love" arranged by Mr. Taylor. "Dedication" by Franz, "Old Man River" from Kern's "Showboat" was the encore. Mr. Taylor, who endeavored himself to our hearts that we have exhausted our vocabulary of charming things to say of his glorious, golden voice except this, that we never can hear him too often and always look forward eagerly to the next time he will be with us. The last part of the program was well chosen. The rhythmic "March of the Grenadiers" from the "Love Parade"; a Russian Cossack song, "The Carols of Love," arranged by Mr. Wheeler of a Victor Herbert melody and finally "The Bells of St. Mary's." A word should be said of Mr. Wheeler, a sympathetic accompanist and of the way he, with his supporting background of piano playing, rounded out the program so that it was one of the most delightful we have heard for some time.

Literature
The March meeting of the readers group on the first Monday of the month, March 2 at 2:30 p. m. will be given to the Epistles of Paul, which Mrs. Hodge will discuss, and to Mr. Hayden's personal anthology of letters which she will read with comments. There will also be time for suggestions for the next meeting. The April session which will close the season. These may be in the nature of reviews, reports, resolutions or other personal suggestions to the 1935-36 program. Some of the committee will be near the book case at some time or other they will be ready to talk over the year's study.

Garden
The Garden Group will meet on Tuesday, March 4, at 2:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. W. E. Chamberlin at 34 Wildwood street. Mrs. Arthur Coville will speak to the group on "The Delights of the Little Garden." Tea will be served. All club members invited.

Scholarship Committee
The Scholarship Committee will have their last full school day during the regular meeting, March 3 during the club meeting, to control the list of names for the scholarship. There is no philanthropy more worthy than this of helping in the education of Winchester boys and girls.

WILLIAM P. CALLAHAN
Candidate for Collector of Taxes

Winchester, Mass., February 27, 1936
To the Voters of Winchester:

My submission and my solicitation for this office would be to my advantage to conduct a clean campaign, so we have long decided to run on a platform of honesty and integrity. I will also refrain from making any of the last minute "WHISTLE-BLING" CAMPAIGN methods that are frequently used to win the favor of a candidate in a doubtful race. I have a letter written the undersigned by Henry F. Long, it seems a shame that this letter should be injected into clean Town Politics. Mr. Long wrote me under date of February 21st in answer to my letter of February 18th:

Quote: This is to acknowledge yours of February 18th unavoidably delayed in answering because of the necessity of my being before a number of committees. The difficulty of course, lies entirely on my inability to know exactly what a letter is to be used for when I send it forth. If a person asked me for a letter to be used politically it would not be my practice to give any kind of a commitment. It would be just as pleasant if I could time these so that they would not come anywhere near an election, but I assume even if I did I would be unable to stop a collector or any other officer to whom I might write from leaving the date out and publishing it even though it was some months, or a year or two after it had been written. Of course, I have no means of knowing when people are running for office and a collector of the Town of Winchester is just as remote from me and no more so than a collector of taxes in Great Barrington or Gosport. It has been my consistent practice and will continue to be, not to take sides, but it is true that frequently something I may say, or do, or write, offers an opportunity and the advantage is taken without my knowing anything about it. End of quote.

It has always been the custom of Mr. Nichols to use a letter from Mr. Henry F. Long, Commissioner of Carriage and Taxation, about election time, so I called this fact to Mr. Long's attention and after noting what he has stated above you can easily realize that this fact has been published the letter February 21st instead of February 28th. We have numerous other efficient town officials and I have no reason to believe that Mr. Nichols for political purposes testimonials from State officials who have supervision over their departments. Surely at some time or other they will have received unsolicited communications commending them on their services to the Town.

Winchester voters have always been able to choose satisfactory candidates for Town offices without having to consider the Fox for reference, so I called this fact to Mr. Long's attention and after noting what he has stated above you can easily realize that this fact has been published the letter February 21st instead of February 28th. We have numerous other efficient town officials and I have no reason to believe that Mr. Nichols for political purposes testimonials from State officials who have supervision over their departments. CHINESE NEW YEAR'S DAY A SEVEN-IN-ONE HOLIDAY

New Year's Day comes twice a year in China. Out of courtesy to that newcomer from the West, the "sun-calendar," which guides the Government in dating its bonds and the merchants, Government offices and schools observe a New Year's holiday on Jan. 1. For most of China's millions, however, the real Chinese New Year's Day comes this year on Jan. 24.

The Chinese lunar calendar year begins on a variable date which, like Easter, meanders back and forth through three months, according to the fickle moon, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society. The year's first thin silver crescent may appear at any time from January to March, but always it is welcomed with the Feast of the Three Beginnings—of the year, the month, and the day.

A Year's Holidays Condensed Into Two Weeks

When four hundred million people take a holiday all at the same time, it has to be a big one, and it continues. New Year's Day for the Chinese opens two whole weeks of merry-making, so thorough that it suffices them for the entire year. This combined holiday combines elements which in the United States would be distributed over seven occasions. With the Chinese New Year's Eve watch parties and welcoming noises are associated family reunions, decorations and gift-giving as at Christmas; the feasting of Thanksgiving; the firecrackers and rockets of the Fourth of July; the relaxation of summer vacation; the fashion parade of the New York financial frenzy, both in spending and in feverish debt-juggling, of a universal pay-day.

Moreover, New Year's Day in China is everybody's birthday. On this day, instead of on anniversaries of birth, four hundred million people automatically become a year older.

During this red-letter holiday everyone literally sees red—everywhere. Houses are decorated with thin, geranium-red paper scrolls, interspersed with texts from the classics. Streets are littered with scarlet tawny of the "lucky" Chinese lanterns in carved black frames, shaped like flowers, butterflies, birds and animals, swung from dark posts. Gifts are exchanged, wrapped in red striped paper or economically tied in brown wrappings decorated with a little strip of red. Big fragrant incense, in all recourses, is set to music, decorate homes of the wealthy. Busy hostesses force their bloomers for the guests.

Everyone Pays Debts

During the year's last weeks, the "poor month," the business merry-go-round is speeded by an almost universal payment of debts. "Both borrower and a lender be" would seem to be an unwritten financial law, and truly everyone has lent money to all those he doesn't owe. Even children have bartered toys and food, "chaps as much in a willingness to care as to profit. Since the man who doesn't discharge all debts by New Year's Day can hope for no credit during the ensuing year, every effort is made to obtain money. Men temporarily turn brigands and gamblers to save their reputations, for a creditor asks no questions about the money he receives.

The New Year's Eve midnight feast provides the only meat which many can afford during the entire year. It is so extensive that the entire year's late on New Year's Day before starting the two weeks' round of social calls that brings all business to a standstill.

Served in courses, the feast includes many varieties of sweets as well as more substantial meats. Macaroni in strands or three ways, long life is eagerly devoured to insure long life. Meat and vegetables are chopped fine and delicately seasoned, to make the feast memorable for quality. Hardly a pig, duck, chicken, or fish in the Republic is safe until every family is prevailed with to eat meat, including even little pickled fish hardly larger than pins. Sticky rice dumplings are as popular as plum pudding in England, and rice flour cakes are fried in huge numbers days in advance. When the final dish of the banquet is served, satisfaction and etiquette both dictate that it must be refused.

Throughout the holiday season tables are covered with generous bowls of fruits, cakes and sweets. All callers are invited to partake of melon seeds, plums, peeled oranges, lichee nuts, almonds, shredded bamboo, and sugared dates and ginger. "Old" eggs, hard-boiled and preserved for years, are consumed with relish, along with countless cups of tea. In place of ivory chesses and porcelain spoons, some hosts now provide knives and forks.

To make certain of funds sufficient to pay debts and buy holiday supplies, many Chinese join New Year Societies, which resemble the Christmas Savings clubs of American banks.

Reverses of Polygamy

Polygamy the custom of a woman having more than one husband at a time, is a common one in very primitive societies. Caesar notes its existence in his day among the Persians and the Irish, and there are evidences that it existed among other Aryan stocks. A form of it existed in Iceland when those islands were discovered by Europeans, and it has only lately disappeared from other Pacific islands and Ceylon. It is still found in some tribes of northeastern Siberia, in the Alouatta islands, and in Africa among the Hotentots and some mountain tribes of Hantus.

Physicians Took No Fees

Sis, Cosmas and Damian were twin Arab physicians of the Fourth century, who took no fees. Martyred by Diocletian, they are mentioned in the canon of the Mass and are patrons of physicians and apothecaries.

OBSERVATIONS

By the Observer

Those couple of Winchester fencing enthusiasts make a point of coming around.

That Winchesterite who is a good conversationalist is an individual who can talk freely without saying anything.

Believe it or not there is a certain Winchester fellow who recently returned from a fishing trip in Florida and he refuses to let about the size of the fish he caught at Palm Beach. That fellow's word is as good as his bond.

A few fellows lacking in brains still continue to obtain bootleg liquor but it's a safe bet very little of it is bought in Winchester. Chief Rogers and his men see to that.

One woman here in Winchester says the real boss of this town is her business never says anything about being the boss—at least when she's about.

How many Winchesterites remember the bright things many of our fellow citizens said when they were invited?

Let us bear in mind that nearly all success is attained by striving against the dead bodies of our defeats.

A conservative Winchester gentleman says that if we do about it, namely, that when folks dance on the Sabbath the devil plays the fiddle.

A lot of times some fellows right here in Winchester like to harbor that in their mind which retards one's progress.

The utterly reckless driver tries out the speed of his car on an icy street as we saw a fellow do the other day.

Here's a tip, men of fair Winchester. The women folk are never seen on the street corners arguing politics.

We know a husband here in town who expects his wife to work seven days a week and risk taking her pleasure on the eighth.

Winchester's children are among the healthiest and happiest in all New England.

Not long ago we overheard a fellow remark, "I got my nose broken. Why don't he get off the down grade and be on the level?"

If a Winchesterite is a right sort of fellow himself, his friends are kinder to him than his enemies are cruel.

It is the fear of consequences that make cowards of a lot of Winchester fellows.

Remember when our grandfathers used to have an alma-knack of doing things?

"EDDIE" CANTOR AT THE UNIVERSITY

"Eddie" Cantor in "Strike Me Pink" the pop-eyed comedian's sixth annual musical extravaganza for Samuel Goldwyn, begins a four day run at the University Theatre on Sunday. This lavish million-and-a-half dollar production, featuring Ethel Merman, Fred Astaire, Dick Cavanagh and William Fraxley and a glorious new array of Goldwyn Girls, casts "Eddie" as a timid little college tailor whose secret ambition is to become a singer. In the person of Miss Merman, moves him to take a correspondence course in personal magnetism, and becomes involved with a gang of shot-chasing racketeers who have put every previous manager on the spot. "Strike Me Pink" was based on Clarence Budington Kelland's Saturday Evening Post story and novel, "Dreamland."

"The Mystery of Dr. Harrigan," the companion feature is an exciting murder mystery melodrama, based on the story by Mignon G. Eberhart. Kay Linaker and Ricardo Cortez head the cast which also includes John Eldredge, Joseph Crehan, Frank Reicher, Anita Kerry and Phillip Reed.

Scenes of intimate grandeur and scenes of spectacular romance vie for supremacy in "A Tale of Two Cities," starring Ronald Colman, which comes Thursday. The story of "A Tale of Two Cities" is intimately known to millions of readers. It tells of the joys and sorrows, the adventures and the trials of a little group of people, English and French, who are caught in the maelstrom of the French Revolution of 1789. Specifically, it tells of the strange love of Carton and Lucie Manette, played by Elizabeth Allan—a love that was doomed to frustration in life, yet which transcends death in its sublime majesty. With the star is a cast of 112 stars and featured players, most of them world favorites. Among these outstanding performances are contributed by Miss Allan, Edna May Oliver, Reginald Owen, Basil Rathbone, Blanche Yurka, Henry B. Walthall, Donald Woods, Walter Catlett, Fritz Reber, H. B. Warner, Mitchell Lewis, Claude Gillingham, Billy Bevan, Isabel Jewell, Lucille Laverne and Tully Marshall.

Injecting a note of satire into its story, "Another Face," the companion feature comes on the series as a comedy-drama set in the intriguing locale of a Hollywood studio, with the nation's most-feared gangster, most-loved screen star and most-bated publicity man involved in the baffling developments. Wallace Ford, Phyllis Brooks and Brian Donlevy head the cast.

Billingsgate

Billingsgate refers to the coarse language used by the fish peddlers in the market at Billingsgate, London.

GRANADA THEATRE ATTRACTIONS

James Cagney and Pat O'Brien in "Ceiling Zero," and "Rose of the Rancho" starring John Boles and Gladys Swarthout will be the double feature program opening at the Granada Theatre in Malden on Saturday. "Ceiling Zero" is one of the most thrilling and glamorous air romances screened. The picture is based on the successful Broadway stage play but far outstrikes the foot-light production. There is every sort of thrill in the picture, as well as plenty of laughs and romance.

James Cagney, Pat O'Brien and Stuart Erwin have the roles of three flying war buddies who have turned to commercial aviation. Cagney is the devil-may-care stunting, irresponsible member of the trio, with O'Brien as the superintendent of the flyers, and Stuart Erwin is cast as a somewhat steadier pilot than Cagney. Cagney is also a great man for the ladies and makes a play for June Travis, a hostess for the company. In order to keep a date with her talks Erwin into taking his run. Erwin takes his run, meets up with a terrible fog and storm and is killed. Cagney is completely broken up over the death of his pal and his way of making amends brings the film to a powerful climax. The supporting cast includes Martha MacLane, Isabel Jewell, Bartha Tibbets, Addison Richard and James Bush.

"Rose of the Rancho" presents Gladys Swarthout, youthful star of the Metropolitan Opera, in her film debut opposite John Boles. This new team makes a happy combination. "Rose of the Rancho" is the screen's musical version of the Broadway play which centers around Monterey, California's first state capital and scene of disorders almost unprecedented in our pioneer history. It concerns a gang of land-grabbers headed by Charles Bickford who steal land from the Spanish Don, John Boles is cast as a secret federal agent sent out by the government to attempt a settlement of the bitter dispute. In the film Miss Swarthout departs for the first time from her accustomed operatic airs and sings two popular numbers, "Thinker Over Paradise" and "Don't Tell a Secret to a Rose."

John Boles is also heard in several musical numbers. The supporting company includes Willie Howard and Herb Wilbanks, who provide the laughs, and Grace Bradley, H. B. Warner, Don Alvarado and Russell Horton.

STRAND THEATRE, MALDEN

"Paddy O'Day," starring Jane Withers and Jean Arthur in "The Public Menace" is the double feature program opening at the Strand Theatre in Malden on Saturday. To many people Jane Withers is the cleverest of the juvenile stars and her new film presents in support Jane Darwell, Pinky Tomlin, Rita Cansino and George Givot. The story of "Paddy O'Day" follows the trail of a little lass who comes over to the United States on the steerage of a liner and captivates the hearts of all her fellow passengers. When she arrives at Edis Island, she is only to meet disappointment. Her mother has died and she must go back. She eludes the immigration inspectors and escapes to the house where her mother used to work. It is a crazy household presided over by two eccentric aunts and irresponsible Pinky Tomlin, Jane and Tomlin have a great time together and she introduces him to some Russian acquaintances of the ship. From this point the film moves to a happy climax with plenty of laughs and fun all the way. "The Public Menace" relates the hectic misadventures of a newspaper reporter and a blonde ship's manicurist who gets themselves involved in a thrilling man-hunt for a gangster, known affectionately as "Public Rat No. 1."

The girl, needing an American husband to get into the country, offers the reporter a cock-and-bull story of an escaped kidnaper's confession which she has, providing he marries her. He agrees, only to be fired when he submits the wild yarn to his editor. From that point on things begin to happen, ending in a thrilling gun fight between the gangsters and the police in the city room of a newspaper office. On Monday and Tuesday evenings each lady attending the Strand receives two pieces of silverware free.

"Too Tough to Kill," starring Victor Jory and Sally O'Neil, and "The Lady in Scarlet," with Reginald Denney and Patricia Farr as the featured players, will make up the double bill for next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. "Too Tough to Kill" tells a dramatic story of a tunnel building project in the Sierra Nevada. The support includes Thursday, Arthur Hurd, Arthur Dewey Robinson and Ward Bond. "The Lady in Scarlet" is a mystery drama with Reginald Denney cast as a scientific detective. Aside from its mystery the film has plenty of laughs.

READING THEATRE

Final scenes for "Captain Blood," Cosmopolitan Production's spectacular adventure picture, which comes to the Reading Theatre on Sunday for three days as a First National release, were filmed in Palm Canyon, near Palm Springs. These were love scenes between Errol Flynn and Olivia de Havilland, playing the leading roles in the picture, and marked the end of a strenuous 12 weeks.

All told, "Captain Blood" has been a year in the making. After the screen play had been written, additional weeks were spent taking film and voice tests of players for more than 40 speaking parts. The design and construction of sets, including seven sailing vessels of the type used in the 17th century, occupied the technical departments for months. Under Michael Curtiz' direction the filming of the picture moved along on schedule in spite of many difficulties. At times the company was divided into three working units. The battle scenes which climax the picture required two full weeks of dangerous and exciting work on the part of one of the largest technical crews ever assigned to a single picture.

Heading the cast of "Captain Blood" are two young players, who are expected to achieve early stardom by virtue of their work in this production. These are Mr. Flynn and Miss de Havilland who are aided by such film favorites as Lionel Atwill, Guy Kibbee, Ross Alexander, Basil Rathbone, David Torrence, Hobart Cavanaugh, Robert Barrat, Forester Harvey, J. Carroll Nash, George Haskins, Mary Forbes and many others. The double feature program for today and tomorrow includes Ralph Bellamy and Claire Trevor in "Navy Wife" and "Millions in the Air" with Wendy Barrie and John Howard.

WAKEFIELD THEATRE TIME SCHEDULE

Friday and Saturday, Feb. 28, 29, "Captain Blood," 2:15, 8:15; "Thunder Mountain," 2:24, 7:51.
Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, March 1, 2, 3, "Millions in the Air," 1:30, 7:25; "Whisper," 2:24, 7:51.
Wednesday, March 4, Review Day.
Thursday, Friday, Saturday, March 5, 6, 7, "Collegiate," 4:50, 7:25; "Lower Smoke Range," 2:24, 7:51.

THE MERRY MOVIES

The "Merry Movies" program at the Repertory Theatre, 264 Huntington Avenue, Boston, all day, Saturday, Feb. 29, features "The High School of Skating." This is a two reel picture which shows skiing in the Austrian Alps and teaches various ways of coping with some of the most difficult obstacles.

The other pictures are: "Water Babies," a Silly Symphony; "Giant Land," in which Mickey Mouse plays "Jack and the Beanstalk"; "An Irish Melody," Irish scenes and songs; "Doctor Bluebird," a Color Cartoon with a great deal of charm; "The Country Mouse," a story of a mouse who thinks he is a real prize-fighter, but has to be rescued from the ring in the city, by his mother; "Ye Old Toy Shop," a Terry Toon; and "Vim, Vigor and Vitality," a new Popeye picture.

This program will be given for the benefit of "The Trinity Neighborhood House and Day Nursery" which is situated in East Boston and gives recreation and instruction to some 300 boys and girls of various ages.

Action of Mars' Polar Caps

Because the polar caps on Mars expand and recede like our own, astronomers believe that Mars enjoys seasons similar to our own. The seasons are longer, for the years on Mars are 687 days long. Certain areas on the planet change color regularly from yellow to green, and back again, just as the change in the color of the foliage here in fall and spring would appear from Mars.

We have received this week a letter of criticism of our election officers from one who signs himself "Fair Play." REMINISCENCES OF A VETERAN

During the war a Winchester resident got a leave to the French Riviera and straggling along the coast one day came to a large estate with a high board fence around it. Finding one board out he entered and saw the magnificent estate right on the Mediterranean Sea. He had just about decided that the place was unoccupied when an elderly man approached who was evidently the caretaker and he thought at once that this was the time that he got the bounce for trespassing. The old gentleman made him good morning and to make pleasant conversation the intruder asked who owned such a beautiful estate. The caretaker replied that he owned it, the Car of Russia and when offered a frame and asked if one might see the place he replied that one could, since he had been paid for a long time. During the trip through the house and grounds the impression was given that perhaps some of the Car's things might be purchased since he had been killed by the Soviets and the caretaker had not been paid for weeks.

However, the Winchester resident was not a very good financial condition himself and he did not buy any of the Car's belongings. He only got a few things that he was sure would be of use. The estate was finally checked up after the war practically all of the movable articles had disappeared and the caretaker must collect his pay some how. Near by were some very ancient olive trees and it is said that these trees were bearing olives before the Romans called for America. The region was full of Roman ruins and a stone citadel stood on the hill nearby. Inside were many Latin inscriptions and the caretaker told of the passing of various Roman Legions on their way to the Gallic Wars. Taking a pencil the Winchester resident scribbled his name and rank in United States Army beneath that of the Roman Legions. Let us hope that record is still there.

WHO PAYS FOR IT?

Do you know that there is over $1,000,000,000 for the army and navy in the estimated budget for 1936? Do you know that shipbuilders have started propaganda for the replacement of battleships at a cost of $25,000,000 each? Sir Norman Davis has proposed at London the extension of the life of a battleship from 20 to 26 years. This would at least postpone the day when we would have to scrap and never replaced which is what Japan has proposed. Do you know that as a nation we are about 1000 per cent more militaristic than we were 30 years ago? Compulsory military training has increased about 400 per cent in the last 20 years in this nation, and is on the increase. In expenditures for armaments we are leading the world and we are starting a new era of the most disastrous races in naval competition the world has ever seen.

NOTICE TO VETERANS

All veterans wishing to make application for the payment of their Adjusted Service Certificates are hereby notified to bring their certificates, papers and certificates to the Local Board, 34 Washington Street. THANKS TO VOTERS

March 3, 1936
To the Editor of the Star:
Would you permit me, through the medium of your valuable publication, to express my sincere appreciation and gratitude to those people of the Town who so generously supported my recent candidacy for the office of Selectman.

I assure you the generous vote accorded me was indeed most gratifying, and while I did not succeed in office, the results as they affected me personally were highly successful when I measure these results in their true value.

To those who did not vote for me and could not support my candidacy, I wish to convey a feeling that is indeed friendly and understanding. To the candidates who succeeded I wish a very successful and enjoyable administration.

Yours very truly,
Richard W. MacAdams,
194 Forest Street,
Winchester, Mass.

APPRECIATES OPPORTUNITY TO SERVE

To the Editor of the Star:
The citizens of Winchester, in my opinion, showed excellent judgment in electing as Selectmen four men who have had previous experience on the Board. I sincerely appreciate the opportunity which the voters have given me to serve with them, and feel confident that we shall be able to co-operate in an effective administration of the town's affairs.

Arthur S. Harris,
4 Hillside Avenue

MR. WILKINS THANKS VOTERS

To the Editor of the Star:
I wish to thank the voters of Winchester for their splendid endorsement of my candidacy for re-election to the Board of Selectmen. The high vote was very gratifying, and I deeply appreciate the interest and efforts of those who made it possible. I shall endeavor to meet my obligations as Selectman in a manner to justify their confidence.

Raymond S. Wilkins,
25 Cabot Street

THANKS TO VOTERS

I wish to thank the voters of Winchester who supported me in the last election—and I want them all to know that I appreciate their faith and confidence in me.

I also wish to congratulate the incoming Board of Selectmen, and wish them a most successful administration in the coming year.

Sincerely yours,
E. E. Sherburne,
2 Lakewood Road

FROM MR. FITZGERALD

To the Editor of the Star:
I deeply appreciate the continued confidence of the voters who returned me to the office of Selectman on Monday, and wish to thank them sincerely for furthering my election. I shall give to the town during the coming year the best service of which I am capable.

James J. Fitzgerald, Jr.,
2 Elmwood Avenue

FROM MR. WILDE

To the Editor of the Star:
I wish to thank all those who supported my candidacy during the past election campaign and assure those who voted for me on Monday that I shall do my best to justify this confidence during the coming year.

W. Allen Wilde,
9 Edgemoor Road

EXPRESSES THANKS

To the Editor of the Star:
I wish sincerely to thank all those who in any way furthered my candidacy. I am deeply indebted to all those who voted for me on Monday and assure them that their confidence is appreciated. I shall do my best to justify this confidence during the coming year.

Frank J. Lane,
31 Yale Street

THANKS VOTERS

To the Editor of the Star:
I wish to take this opportunity to thank all those who supported my candidacy for the office of Selectman, and to express my sincere appreciation of their efforts in my behalf. To the newly elected Board I offer congratulations and best wishes for a successful administration.

Edward L. Dunn,
15 Maxwell Road

APPRECIATES SUPPORT

To the Editor of the Star:
I deeply appreciate the voters' confidence as expressed in my re-election to the office of Tax Collector for another term. I shall try to serve the town in a manner to merit their continued support.

SELECTMEN'S NOTES

The Board approved the permanent appointment of the three lieutenants who were appointed in the Fire Department last September for six months probation. They are Lieut. David J. Meskel, Lieut. Raymond Hanscom and Lieut. J. Edward Noonan.

The examination for promotion to lieutenant in the Police Department will be held on March 21 at 2:15 p. m. in room 37 at the high school.

At the special meeting on Wednesday evening, Raymond S. Wilkins was unanimously elected chairman for the year.

William H. Rogers was appointed Constable for the ensuing year. J. Frank Tuttle, 2 Elmwood avenue and John D. Walsh of 27 Nelson street, were drawn as jurors for the Superior Civil and Criminal Courts, respectively.

The Board of Survey received a petition from Fred A. Russell and others for a proposed street at Symmes Corner to be known as Chardon road. Date of hearing to be announced later.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

At the meeting of March 5 four absentees were recorded. "Dan" Kelley admits that he is afflicted with a cold, which is a considerable handicap for "Dan". We are confident that the next report will tell us that he has forgotten about this little matter. Good work, "Dan".

In spite of all this, "Dan" did not forget to send us a substantial reminder of a certain happy event that has recently taken place in his family. Many thanks, "Dan".

It seems probable that this club will be represented at the Atlantic City Convention by a delegation of satisfactory size and unquestioned enthusiasm. We are about to make preliminary reservations and wish to hear at once from other club members who can make decision now.

We have at hand District Governor Henry Porter's official report on his recent visit to this club. We are most grateful for his stimulating words of encouragement and shall proceed to carry out to the best of our ability those recommendations which he offered for the betterment of the service which our club seeks to perform.

The names of three club members were on the ballot presented at the election of town officers, March 2 and all were successful. Harris Richardson, "Nat" Nichols and Harry Winn were receiving congratulations today.

We wish to thank the members of the Past District Governor Albert Comins of the Rotary Club of Wakefield who returned as Town Meeting member from Precinct 3. These good Rotarians will render most efficient service to their community as they are proved by their past records and no Rotarian will doubt that their familiarity with Rotary ideals and constant endeavor to achieve those ideals will immensely enhance the quality of this service.

Howard O. Russell, member of the Rotary Club of Wakefield and general secretary for N. M. C. A. in Wakefield, was visiting speaker at the current meeting of this club. Howard has for many years been interested in boys work. This year he is going as a tour leader of a Boy's Fellowship Tour of Europe, which will occupy the greater part of the months of July and August. His outline of this trip, as we listened, gave assurance that 21 boys from eastern Massachusetts will enjoy their summer experience of which they will never fade from their memories, while offering educational advantages of measurable value.

Percentage of attendance, Feb. 27—96.77 per cent.
Average attendance for February, 1935-94.35 per cent.

Miss Brenda Skene of Bradford Junior College, spent the weekend visiting her family in Glenbury.

Mr. "Jimmy" Burns of Williams College, spent last week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Burns, Sr. of Rangely.

Frederick Preston Sawyer of this town was elected chairman of the senior care committee of Bowdoin College by his fellow students.

He will be in charge of the purchase and distribution of the candles traditionally carried by seniors during the last months of their college year. Sawyer was elected to the Ivy League committee by his classmates last year, and has also been a member of the cheerleading squad since his sophomore year. He is a member of the Bowdoin chapter of Alpha Delta Phi fraternity.

Yes, we have some MONOPOLY games at the Star Office.
Howard and Sexton, both of Winchester High School, placed third and fourth respectively in the dice at the annual interschool swimming meet sponsored by Brown University and held last Saturday in the Colgate Hot pool at that college.
Winchester's H. K. "Bud" Fitts was finally defeated in an intercollegiate diving contest last Saturday, the Harvard senior being placed out for first place in the dual meet with Dartmouth by Nelson of the Indians. Fitts has been winning consistently in a series of events after a good showing a year ago.

WAS NATIVE OF WINCHESTER

Mrs. Mary Emerson Riley, widow of former State Senator Herbert S. Riley, who died Saturday, March 7, at her home in Newtonville, was a native of Winchester and made her home in this town until her marriage.

She was 74 years old and the daughter of Thomas and Mary (Brecken) Emerson, her father having been for many years Superintendent of Schools in Newton and later in Woburn.

After her marriage to Mr. Riley she lived in Woburn until 1917 when she went to Newtonville. Her husband died Oct. 3, 1935, and there are no immediate survivors.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon at the late residence, 296 Walnut street, Newtonville. Interment was in the Emerson family lot in Wildwood Cemetery.

CHARLES MILLS

Word was received in Winchester this week of the death on March 4 in Hutton, North Dakota, of Charles Mills, husband of Mary (Bassett) Mills, and a former resident of this town.

Mr. Mills left Winchester about 30 years ago. His home in town was on Euclid avenue and he was well known here, being a member of William Parkman Lodge of Masons and otherwise interested in community affairs. He was well known in the professional field as a civil engineer. He leaves a daughter, Eunice, and two sons, Amos and Chester Mills.

Private funeral services were held yesterday afternoon in the chapel at Woodlawn cemetery in Everett where the committal was made.

AMATEUR NIGHT TO FEATURE LADIES FRIENDLY SUPPER

Plans are now being completed to feature this year's Ladies' Friendly supper, to be held Tuesday evening, March 24, at 6:35, in Metcalf Hall, with an Amateur Night under the direction of Mrs. Forest Pitman and Mrs. Robert Reynolds. There is much talent available for such a show and it is expected that an excellent entertainment will be given. Amateurs who would care to participate are requested to communicate with Mrs. Pitman at Win. 0844-W.

The Ladies' Friendly supper is always one of the more important events upon the Unitarian calendar and a large attendance is looked for. Arrangements are in charge of Mrs. Irving Gamage and Mrs. Theodore Godwin.

WINCHESTER GIRL AT JACKSON

Miss Virginia B. Besse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Besse, 340 Washington street and a junior at Jackson, the Department for Women in Tufts College, is treasurer of the All Around Club and is a member of the committee in charge of the program which will be presented March 11. On that date Miss Dorothy Spence, author and opera singer will speak on "A Writer Visits Hollywood." Miss Besse is also a member of the Tuftsian staff, the literary publication at Tufts, and is a member of Sigma Kappa, a national sorority which has a chapter at Tufts.

FASHION SHOW

The plans for the approaching Fashion Show of the Winchester Mothers' Association are fast nearing completion. The show is to be held in the Wyman School auditorium on Friday, March 27, at 2 p. m. and the tickets are 50c apiece. Tickets may be procured from Mrs. E. L. Rooney, or any member of the Wyman School board or Mrs. Harold Richmond's committee.

What the well dressed woman or miss will wear this spring will be demonstrated by the following group of women and misses: Mrs. Charles Wooley, Mrs. Robert G. Abbott, Mrs. Joseph M. Gault, Mrs. John Joy, Mrs. Robert Burr, Mrs. Gretchen Butler, Mrs. William Elmer, Mrs. Edward McGee, Mrs. Charles S. Eaton, Miss Betty Worff, Miss Evelyn McGill and Miss Norma Godfrey.

They will wear clothes from F. Lane's of Boston, and the Sporting Tailors, Inc. of Newbury street. The proceeds from the Fashion Show are to be directed toward the Scholarship Fund, which fund annually helps defray the expenses of some worthy and deserving high school graduate at a higher institution of learning.

ENTERTAINED FOR MRS. SYMMES

Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Ladd of Yale street entertained last Monday night for their daughter, Mrs. Marion Symmes. Mrs. Ladd showed movies of her recent trip to Alaska as well as some very delightful colored pictures which she had taken in Massachusetts and New Hampshire last summer. Colored movies of skating on Winter and Wedge ponds and skiing on the lake here in Winchester caused a great deal of merriment.

Those present were: Miss Gladys Dodge, Miss Ethel Drinkwater, Mrs. Eleanor Downer, Mrs. Anna Burgoine, Mrs. Dorothy Butterfield and Mrs. Carolyn Brown, all of Winchester. Mrs. Edith Kelley of Andover, Mrs. Caroline Kizer of Lowell and Miss Marguerite Macfadden, former Winchester girl, now living in Maine.

THE MYSTIC SCHOOL MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

The regular meeting of the Mystic School Mothers' Association was held at the school on Tuesday, March 10, with an unusually large attendance. The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. John Tarbell, president of the chapter. The speaker of the afternoon was Dr. Bryant Moulton, president of the Association of the Judge Baker Foundation. Dr. Moulton spoke on "The Problems of the Average Child." Following the talk, there was a question period in which many members of the audience took part.

After the meeting, tea was served by Mrs. Harold Elmer, assisted by Mrs. H. Arthur Hall, Mrs. Francis Booth, Mrs. Eugene Brooks, Mrs. John Wallace, Mrs. Theodore Hurl, Mrs. Daniel Beggs, Jr. and Mrs. Arthur Jackson.

Mrs. Win. H. P. DeCamp of Highland avenue is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Jerome Holland Bishop, Jr. in Pasadena, Calif.

Mrs. J. F. Gaffney, Mrs. H. J. Donovan, Mrs. P. J. Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Clarence Dunbury, Mrs. F. R. Hurley and Mrs. M. G. Moffat were hostesses for the tea following the regular meeting on Tuesday afternoon at Lyceum Hall. Tea table appointments were in green and white honoring St. Patrick, whose feast day is celebrated this month. An informal program of music and glee was enjoyed.

The third lecture of the series will be held on Friday, March 20 at the home of Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini, Foxcroft road. Mrs. Claire Dawes will give a timely and appropriate lecture on "The Blessed Virgin." Mrs. Dawes has done considerable research through the old and new testaments concerning the lineage of the Blessed Virgin's family. A very fine musical program will be given with Miss Sylvia Baratta as soloist. Miss Baratta is a dramatic soprano of unusual talent and for whom a brilliant future is predicted. She has been successful in her efforts at Jordan Hall and Symphony Hall during her brief career. Coffee will be served one half hour previous to the lecture.

Spring Bridge and Fashion Show
The annual bridge and fashion show will be held at the Winchester Country Club on April 24. It promises to be as big a success as the one given last year. The chairmen are filling their various committees with enthusiastic workers.

Future Meeting
The next future will be held on the evening of April 24 at the home of Miss Elizabeth V. Clancy, the blind reader will be on the program. It is hoped every member will attend.

HIGH SCHOOL VAUDEVILLE NEXT FRIDAY

Those who enjoy seeing a good show and at the same time like to assist a worthy cause are reminded that the annual Vaudeville Show, given by the Winchester High School A. A., for the benefit of its athletic fund, is to take place on next Friday evening, March 20, in the high school auditorium, commencing at 8:15.

This show on merit alone has packed the auditorium each year since its inception, there being many who are unable to get in to the performances. In an effort to ensure better seating facilities all seats for the evening performance of this year's show have been reserved and those who wish to be sure of seeing the young actors "strut their stuff" will do well to get their pastebards reserved as soon as possible. The show is being given in the afternoon for pupils of the junior high and grade schools. Past vaudeville shows have drawn large crowds and talent among the high school pupils, and this year's performance is expected to prove no exception. In fact each show has proved just a bit better than its predecessors. There are always plenty of acts and something doing all the time. Faculty Director of Athletics, Wendell D. Mansfield and the girls' Physical Director and Coach, Miss Rosamond Young are in charge of arrangements.

BIRD VISITORS

Residents of Fenwick road were recently very much interested in a large flock of cedar wax wings that were observed in the elm trees there and also in the shrubbery which offered berries as food. These birds are usually seen singly or in pairs. Among them was noted a pine grosbeak, a bird which is seldom seen south of Canada and Canada. Apparently lack of food on account of the severity of the winter has driven these birds farther south than is usual.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Miss Suzanne Gleason, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loring P. Gleason of Central street, was entertained at her home on March 6 with a surprise party celebrating her 15th birthday. Among her guests were Miss Louise Wilde, Miss Margerie Bird, Miss Mary Louise Collette, Miss Nancy Newton, Miss Natalie White and Miss Harriet Squires. After dinner the "The Bear Car" presented at the high school.

1879 1936 THIS IS OUR BIRTHDAY But You Get The Presents!

7th BIRTHDAY OF ITS PRESENT OWNER—M. L. SNYDER.

We are very proud of the clean record of this old store, both past and present.

We are proud of having been able to weather the past six years of financial adversity.

But most of all do we take great pride in our loyal clientele. It is you who deserve this credit, for your loyalty to this Old Institution has made this possible.

TO OUR WOMEN PATRONS—IN APPRECIATION!

We offer "Gordon's Hosiery" Free of charge with every purchase of Women's shoes from $3.85 up.

Regular stock hosiery, full-fashioned chiffrons or service weights.

FREE HOSIERY!

With every purchase of Men's or Children's Shoes.

OUR POLICY

To give you the best merchandise possible consistent with price.

Our twenty-three years of experience in the fitting of shoes. Your, and your child's feet are our responsibility. Service, with courtesy.

OUR SHOE LINES

"BRICKTON COOPERATIVE" MEN'S SHOES in price ranges from $6.00 to $8.50 in arch-preserving types, we consider the maximum in shoe values.

"QUEEN QUALITY" or "GROVER" WOMEN'S SHOES are outstanding for comfort or dress, ranging from $6 to $8.50.

"DR. CLINTON" WOMEN'S ARCH-FITTING SHOES at $3.00, are outstanding in their field.

"BASS" Shoes and Moccasins for every member of the family certainly need no introduction.

"KALISTENIKS"—Women's Walking Shoes are the last word in shoe-making. No better shoes at or anywhere near these, at $6.50 and $7.00. They make walking a pleasure. Ask the woman who wears them.

"KALISTENIKS"—Children's Shoes are the cream in this same crop, as the automobile manufacturer of a certain well-known car says, "They have everything!" coplan horse-limbed soles with special rubber heels that are unbeatable for wear, indestructible toes, best grades of upper stock and all their shoes have seamless backs. They are absolute money-savers.

"PETER-PAN"—In Kreider's (peddling) Children's Shoes of sturdy elk uppers, de-sirable oak-leaf soles, made by an old manufacturer who is irrefragable in his field, ranging from $2.75 to $3.75 according to size, comparable at these prices with any children's shoes, anywhere.

We have traveled a long way since the horse and buggy days, in shoe-making and shoe-fitting.

SEE OUR WINDOWS FOR SPECIAL REDUCTIONS

Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Graham of Bacon street spent several days last week in Hanover, N. H. They returned on Saturday accompanied by Mr. Graham Peterson of Barnmouth College, who was their guest over the weekend.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Mrs. Vincent Farnsworth of Copley street, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. George Neiley of Bronxville, N. Y., Mrs. Harold V. Farnsworth of Calumet road and Mrs. Vincent Farnsworth, Jr. of Lawrence street left on Sunday for the South where they will remain for about two weeks.

Mrs. H. A. Peterson of Oneida circle, with Mrs. Philip Hendrick of Arlington are making an extended stay in Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Holland Bishop, Jr. of Pasadena, Calif., announce the birth of a daughter on March 7. Mrs. Bishop was the former Louise Pierce DeCamp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. P. M. DeCamp of 241 Highland avenue. Mr. Bishop is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Holland Bishop of Pasadena, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Prescott Wilde of Everett avenue returned Thursday to their home after a six weeks' cruise to Bermuda, Nassau and Jamaica. Mr. Charles Reeves of Robinson Park has been ill with grippe at his home.

"THE GHOST GOES WEST" AT THE UNIVERSITY THEATRE

Robert Donat, the handsome young English actor makes his latest appearance in "The Ghost Goes West," Alexander Korda's gay romantic comedy which comes to the University Theatre on Sunday for three nights. Jean Parker and Eugene Pallette hold the supporting cast. "The Ghost Goes West" follows the amusing and amusing adventures of a handsome and amiable "spook" who haunts an ancient English castle.

In the colorful, glittering atmosphere of the theatre, with its com-brettes, songs, clowns and songs, the action of the companion picture, "King of Burlesque," takes place. Warner Baxter heads the gala cast of this picture, which includes Alice Faye, Jack Oakie, Arthur Junior, Anna Barrie, Gregory Ratoff, Dixie Dunbar, Kenny Baker, Fats Waller and Nick Long Jr.

On Wednesday, Review Day, the program includes Ronald Colman and Loretta Young in "Clive of India" and "Squonk" with Jean Parker.

Victor McLaglen and Freddie Bartholomew, are together for the first time in a gallant, stirring tale of romance and adventure, "Professional Soldier" which comes Thursday. The story is built about the fascinating adventures of a boy king and his soldier pal who always loved to fight, but who had to learn to fight for someone he loved.

Ring Crosby says it with fresh paint in his new picture, "Anything Goes," the companion picture. The singing star plays the part of a happy-go-lucky romantic fellow who comes aboard an ocean liner, his heart aflame for a beautiful stranger whom he imagines to be in danger from gangsters. He furthers his romance by painting words of adoration on smokestacks and lifeboats. A passenger or a ship's officer must then be induced to be the unwitting messenger of his affections to the fair one by leaning against the paint, and having the back of the imprinted jacket serve as moving letters. Others in the cast of this screen presentation of the Broadway stage hit are Ethel Merman, Charlie Ruggles, Lila Lapina and Grace Bradley.

READING THEATRE

Through an arrangement sanctioned by the U. S. Post Office Department, the United Airlines loaned First National Pictures not only a number of Boeing air liners, but all the equipment necessary to make "Ceiling Zero," the Cosmopolitan production which comes to the Reading Theatre on Sunday for three days. The picture is an authentic saga of the romantic air service of the nation.

The equipment borrowed includes planes, innumerable dispatch forms, weather reports, weather maps, stewards' banners, luggage trunks, which fit into nose of planes, radio earphones, head sets, helmets, mail bags, etc.

James Cagney and Pat O'Brien are co-starred in this thrilling picture while others in the cast include June Travis, Stuart Erwin, Barton MacLane, Henry Wardsworth, Marjorie Tibbets and Isabel Jewell. The screen play is by Commander Frank Wood, who is on his debut as a screen writer.

On the same program will be "The Skipper," in what is claimed to be the grandest comedy of the year, "Hitch Hike Lady," the double feature program for today and tomorrow includes Bette Davis with Franchot Tonne in "Dangerous" and Betty Burgess with Johnny Downs in "Crucial." Every Tuesday and Friday are bargain matinees at "The Reading Theatre."

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

Eddie Cantor in his new hit "Strike Me Pink" is a singing and dancing company which includes Ethel Merman, Nick Parkyakarkus, Sally Eilers, William Frawley and a gorgeous new crop of Goldwyn Girls, in the special attraction opening at the Granada Theatre in Malden on Saturday. Magnificently mounted in true Goldwyn tradition, this fast moving fun-festival presents the saucer eyed comedian in his funniest role. Handsomely mounted and studded with side-splitting gags and some swell song hits, "Strike Me Pink" is a riot of fun that moves at roller coaster speed.

"Exclusive Story" with Franchot Tonne and Madge Evans as the featured players will be the second feature on the bill starting Saturday. As timely as a front page, the new picture deals dramatically with the notorious policy racket and number one New York. Stuart Erwin plays a not-so-dumb reporter whose unearthing of evidence leads to the apprehension of the gang. Joseph 'Allois' is cast as the rathsketched public enemy and gang leader. Others in the large cast are J. Farrell MacDonald, Louise Henry, Margaret Irving, Doreen, Robert Barratt and Wade Boteler.

Far above other low priced cars in all but cost!

TERRAPLANE

Yes, different from other low priced cars—and far ahead of the rest—in style and everything else that counts! Can we prove this? Just look at a few facts about Terraplane.

Wheelbase, over-all length, inside leg room, head room, shoulder room—unmatched by any low priced car. Untouched by some costing $125 and $145 more.

"Extras" At No Extra Cost

Of all low priced cars only Terraplane gives you—at no extra cost—a rear opening baggage compartment with more room than the average trunk model, with spare tire lying flat inside.

Power—the same story. Terraplane is ahead of other cars in its price class by as much as 18 horsepower. And no vibration at any speed! Terraplanes with 125,000, 150,000 miles and more to their credit show you what smoothness means in long life.

23.95 Miles per Gallon

Interested in economy? Here is Terraplane's latest—23.95 officially certified miles per gallon over 352 miles of mountain roads, with three passengers and baggage, in the recent Los Angeles-Yosemite Economy Run.

More... Terraplane is the only leading low priced car with body all of steel and seamless steel roof. And no other car in its whole price range has Duo-Automatic Hydraulic Brakes (patent applied for)... Radial Safety Control (patent applied for)... True-Line Steering... or The Electric Hand, optional at small extra cost.

The most amazing car in the low price field—this 1936 Terraplane. And right down with the lowest in cost for the model and features you want. Come in and see for yourself.

MAIDEN STRAND THEATRE

Gene Raymond in Earl Derr Biggers' celebrated mystery tale, "Seven Keys to Baldpate" will head the double bill opening at the Strand Theatre in Malden on Saturday. The story opens with Raymond as a novelist seeking a quiet place to write a new book, coming to a deserted mountain inn on a midwinter night. Though he expects to be alone, a series of unexpected and mysterious visitors arrive and his solitude is turned into a turmoil, amid which the heroine, Margaret Callahan, remains almost as baffling as the rest. The supporting cast includes Erin O'Brien Moore, Eric Blore, Grant Mitchell and Ray Mayer. Ben Lyon and Helen Twelvetrees in "Frisco Waterfront" will be the second attraction on the bill starting Saturday. Ben Lyon is cast as a waterfront worker who climbs to the Governorship of a great state. The supporting company includes Rod LaRocque, Russell Hopton, Lee Shumway and Purnell Pratt. On Monday and Tuesday evenings each lady attending the Strand receives free two pieces of silverware.

"High School Girl," a picture endorsed by educators, women's clubs and the clergy will head the program for next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. "High School Girl" is a revelation of conditions which exist in practically every high school in the United States, according to a survey made by the producers. "High School Girl" does not stress the flimsy moral laxity revealed in this amazing survey. Rather it shows that the lack of frankness and refusal on the part of parents to discuss these problems with their children often leads to tragic consequences. "Grand Exit" starring Ann Sothern and Edmund Lowe, will be the second attraction on the bill starting Wednesday. "Grand Exit" is a mystery story with Edmund Lowe cast as a fire investigator who first suspects Miss Sothern and later falls in love with her.

SURPRISED ON BIRTHDAY

Tax Collector Nichols Had Many Unusual Gifts

Last Sunday, March 15, turned out to be quite a red letter day for Tax Collector Nathaniel M. Nichols and members of his family. The occasion was the recently re-elected town official's birthday anniversary, but prior to its arrival Mr. Nichols had thought little of this fact and had been entirely innocent of "anything in the wind" when, while attending a meeting of the Rushlight Club last Saturday in Medford with his brother, Mr. M. T. Nichols, he had accepted of the latter's invitation to have dinner with him and his family the next day.

At the appointed dinner hour on Sunday Mr. Nichols, with his wife and daughter, Miss Doris Nichols, arrived at the home of his brother in Medford, and as he entered the house was greeted by a chorus of "Happy Birthdays" from his relatives assembled there, including his elder daughter, Mrs. Marion Parrot, her husband and children from Weymouth.

A most unusual collection of gifts was presented, each with a clever and appropriate verse, written by Mr. Nichols, and all bearing upon Mr. Nichols' hobby for the out-of-doors or the fine white collie which has recently become a member of his family.

There was laughter aplenty as each new gift went home and all expressed admiration as the handsome birthday cake made its appearance. The table surrounded with lighted candles. The cake was of huge size covered on the sides with replicas of wild flowers and bearing upon the top an excellently executed little camping scene. Friends of Mr. Nichols about town and especially at the town hall, came to the party to see the cake.

All in all the occasion was one long to be remembered and to the congratulations already received by Mr. Nichols, the Star adds its best wishes.

ELKS ELECTED TUESDAY EVENING

At the annual election of officers of Winchester Lodge, 1145, E. P. M. held Tuesday evening, March 17, the following were chosen to serve for the ensuing year:

Exalted Order: Harry McGrath.
Exalted Ruler: Joseph Callahan.
Exalted Lecturer: Joseph Callahan.
Exalted Treasurer: Joseph Callahan.

Secretary: Dr. James H. O'Connor.
Treasurer: Arthur J. Barry.
Exalted Master: John J. Barry.
Treasurer: William J. Whelan.

These officers will be installed at a ceremony to be held April 7 in the Calumet Club with Hon. William Ferguson of this town, P. E. R., of Everett, officiating with his Everett suite.

At the conclusion of the election Tuesday there was an entertainment and refreshments were served. All in the spirit of St. Patrick's Day. Duanees were supplied the members and guests and there were also plenty of green carnations for boutonnieres. Delicious green peas were served and a pleasant social hour enjoyed.

AMATEUR NIGHT TO FEATURE LADIES' FRIENDLY SUPPER

L. E. S. Will Broadcast Tuesday Night

Plans are now being completed to feature this year's Ladies' Friendly supper, to be held Tuesday evening, March 24, at 6:15, in Metcalf Hall, under the direction of Mrs. Ernest Pitman and Mrs. Robert Reynolds. There is much talent available for such a show and it is expected that an excellent entertainment will be given. Amateurs who would care to participate are requested to communicate with Mrs. Pitman at Win. 1814.

The Ladies' Friendly supper is always one of the more important events upon the Unitarian calendar and a large attendance is expected. Arrangements are in charge of Mrs. Irving Gamage and Mrs. Theodore Godwin.

GRACE'S GOWN SHOP IN NEW QUARTERS

Announcement is made in this week's issue of the Star of the removal of Grace's gown shop to new quarters at 22 Thompson street.

The proprietor, Mrs. Grace Hush, has had eight years of successful business in Winchester and numbers many of the town's most stylishly dressed women among her regulars. She is offering, in the new quarters, a fine line of gowns, dresses and frocks, carefully chosen to reflect the latest style trends and most desirable fabrics.

Grace's shop is attractive and centrally located to afford added convenience. She will be pleased to take her regular patrons and greet any new friends who may care to "drop in and look around."

OBSERVED 25TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. William Goodnough of Salem street were pleasantly surprised last Saturday evening by a number of relatives and friends gathered at their home to extend congratulations and best wishes upon the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary.

The evening passed pleasantly, a mock wedding being staged as the order of an entertainment. The guests were regaled with a buffet lunch furnished by talented guests. Mr. and Mrs. Goodnough were the recipients of many beautiful gifts and a delicious buffet luncheon was served.

BAD CHECK PASSER SUCCESSFUL HERE

A bad check passer had something of a field day in and around Winchester last Saturday evening until his activities were brought to a halt by the police of Woburn who picked him up as he emerged from a shop in that city after an unsuccessful attempt to add to the funds he already secured.

According to the Police the purveyor of "rubber" checks commenced his operations when he secured a check-book at a Cambridge banking house. Just why he was indicted by the staff at that institution is not quite clear, but he has apparently been sent from the bank to the Big Bear in Somerville and there made a small purchase, receiving the change from a local store.

From the Big Bear the check passer came to Winchester, where at a local store he succeeded in cashing a $25 check for the purpose of securing repairs to a broken down truck. Leaving Winchester, he successfully passed a bad check for $25 in a Reading store, and then went on to Woburn where he made a nominal purchase at the Mohican Market, receiving in excess of $20 in change in return for his check.

Some of the checks were made out to one "Lillian" and signed by one "Murphy," but the thing about the one taken in at the Mohican Market was that it aroused the suspicions of the bookkeeper who was the high number, well up in the thousands.

The bookkeeper communicated with the Police, who in turn got in touch with the bank authorities. Naturally there were "no funds." The constabulary immediately broadcast the alarm while in Somerville, Winchester and Reading inate merchants were in conference with the "gendarmes" and radio messages were being put onto the ether.

In Woburn the "checker" decided to have another try out, but this time he was leaving the "rubber" check. The "checker" was taken into custody by Patrolman Arthur Fay of the Woburn Police who escorted his man to "headquarters" for discussion of the case of the past few hours. The latter gave his name as Charles H. Miner and his address as Springfield, Mass., and was under suspended sentence from Southbridge.

In the District Court at Woburn Monday morning Justice Jesse C. Woodman, after hearing the evidence and making restitution in the three cases under his jurisdiction, gave him one year on each of the three counts and ordered that he be committed to the State Prison for the balance of the term.

The case was taken by the Somerville Police to appear before Judge Malcolm E. Sturtevant in the court in that district.

WINCHESTER PAINTER CHOSEN

Mrs. Carlene Samoiloff, 314 Highland avenue, is one of the painters whose work has been chosen for the inaugural exhibition to be opened to the public on Thursday, March 26, in the new Federal Art Project Gallery, Boston. Mrs. Samoiloff will exhibit an oil painting.

On Wednesday, March 25, a tea will be given in the gallery. The new gallery is situated at 30 Beacon street, Boston and will be under the direction of Mrs. Ernest Pitman, director of the art project. Mr. Frank W. Steiner, through the co-operation of former Governor Alvan T. Fuller, himself an art collector. Three spacious rooms, the front one facing the historic Boston Common are available, and the first exhibition will include examples of the work of nearly 100 Massachusetts painters.

AN UNUSUAL "FRANK"

Police Headquarters was notified last Monday morning that a "Frank" had been spotted by the Maine Railway Police that while a large freight train bound for Boston had stopped in Winchester on Thursday, March 19, the car pulled a connecting pin between two cars midway in the train, also cutting off the airbrakes.

The curious incident of the locomotive being fully hauled to Boston, the other half of the train remained in Winchester. The railway authorities were not too pleased about the matter and the local police are attempting to locate the party or parties responsible.

HIGH SCHOOL BATTERY MEN START MONDAY

Winchester High School will commence its indoor baseball practice on Monday when candidates for battery positions will be put through their paces by Coach Fred A. Mansfield and Capt. Buzz Kendrick. Prospects for a winning team are bright this season and if the team is successful, it will be developed to work regularly with Kendrick. Winchester should be in the thick of the Middlesex League championship in the latter part of the season.

Some time ago, a second string pitcher, short stop seems the only position for which some tried candidate is not available.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS NOTICE

Civil Service Study Class will meet on Thursday, March 26 at 10 a. m. at the home of Mrs. William K. Denison, 42 Fletcher street. Civil Service Examiner of Massachusetts will speak. Interested friends of the class are invited to attend.

MISS PARROT ENGAGED

At an informal tea at their home in Winchester last Friday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Parrot, Jr., announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Kay Parrot, to Aaron Hayden Andrews of San Diego, Calif.

WILLIAM H. MARSTON

War Veteran Died March 12 in Winchester at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Austin M. Pinkham, 103 Church street.

He was a life-long citizen of Gloucester, but during his latter years spent much of his time in Winchester. He enlisted in the Union Army in 1862 at the age of 17 and participated in the North Carolina campaign. After the war he was employed in the grocery business in Gloucester, retiring about 20 years ago. He was the last surviving member of the 15th Mass. A. G. Co. of which he had been for a number of years Commander.

He is survived by his daughter, and two sons, William H. Marston and Edwin F. Marston of Gloucester, both veterans of the Spanish War, by 15 grandchildren, five of whom are World War veterans, and by 13 great grandchildren.

The City of Gloucester publicly mourned the passing of this old soldier. His funeral of Sunday last at the Unitarian Church in Gloucester was attended by the Mayor and Council, by all the local military and veteran organizations and their auxiliaries. The Rev. Ralph S. Barker delivered the eulogy.

Interment was at Mount Pleasant Cemetery in East Gloucester, where the firing squad gave the last salute, and the buglers sounded taps.

SELECTMEN'S NOTES

The selectmen's committee of the Winchester Mothers' Association of the elementary schools has been granted a permit to sell taxes on May 9 for the benefit of the scholarship fund.

The Kn Ka Society has been granted the use of the Town Hall and grounds for its Street Fair on May 9.

A public hearing will be held on April 6 at 8 o'clock on the petition of the Winchester Mothers' Association for permission to construct and use a portable bathing plant for assembling materials for and delivering connection with the construction of the new North Metropolitan Sewer. This plant would be located on land of the Boston & Maine Railroad, between the location of its main line and the southerly end of Red Street.

RED CROSS FLOOD RELIEF

Admiral Grayson, chairman of the American Red Cross, saying: "The flood is raging through at least 11 states, bringing loss and suffering to countless families," Grayson said in a formal statement. "To meet the needs of these families, the Red Cross is appealing to the nation for a $3,000,000 disaster relief fund."

Winchester Chapter of the American Red Cross asks contributions for the National Disaster Fund. Its quarterly contributions are being earnestly requested. Send to Mr. William Priest, Treasurer, Winchester Savings Bank, all contributions will be forwarded to Washington.

Mrs. Bowen Tufts, Chairman

WINCHESTER REUNION IN HOLLYWOOD

Miss Marjorie Brown of Norwood street who vacationing in Hollywood was recently invited to the swimming pool of the Ambassador Lido Club to watch a movie company make a swimming picture of one of their actresses. When the actress emerged from the pool, Miss Brown realized that it was none other than her old friend, Dorothy Thibbets. A pleasant New England reunion followed as Miss Brown's mother was accompanied by her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Thorneike of Boston.

HIGH SCHOOL VALENTINE THIS AFTERNOON AND EVENING

The annual and long awaited Winchester High School Valentine Show for the benefit of the school athletic association takes place at 8 o'clock this evening in the auditorium. A matinee performance for junior high and grade school pupils takes place in the afternoon at 3:45.

An excellent bill has been arranged under the direction of Faculty Director of Athletics Wendell D. Mansfield and the girls' coach, Mr. H. J. H. in the morning. All seats for the evening performance are reserved.

MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Higgins of 17 Kenwin road announce the marriage of their daughter, Christine, to Edward J. Scanlon, son of Mrs. Robert Scanlon and the late Mr. Robert Scanlon of New York.

The ceremony was performed by Dr. Walter L. Whallon of the First Church in New York. The young couple will make their home at 69 Ninth street, New York.

WINCHESTER WATER OK

Winchester's drinking water is OK. All of Winchester's water used in the city is not contaminated by the flood. As a matter of fact, with the ice going out of the reservoirs and the new water flowing in, the water should be even better than it has been through the winter. No boiling is necessary. The Winchester Water Board, however, is issuing a close watch on our water and samples are constantly tested.

MAINE FISH AND GAME COMMISSIONER TO SPEAK

George J. Stobie, commissioner of the Inland Fisheries and Game Department of the State of Maine, who is to show fish and game pictures and to hand out fishing information at the Pine Tree State in Metcalf Hall, Unitarian Church, next Friday evening, March 27, has had a colorful career.

A native of Maine, he was educated at the State University in Orono where he distinguished himself as an intercollegiate pitcher. He left college to play professional baseball with the Boston Red Sox, but after part of a season in the big time, found the strain too severe and returned to Maine, securing employment as a woodsman with the Hollingsworth & Whitney Paper Company.

He was drafted from his woodsman's job by Governor William Tudor Gardner to become fish and game commissioner, an office which previously had been held by the absence of a political plan, changing hands with each administration.

Mr. Stobie's record as head of the department has been outstanding. He has lifted it above the plane of politics and has made it, in the opinion of many, more of a state's most important positions in the state. He was, as you know, reappointed by Governor Brann. He is recognized as one of the best conservation experts in the country and has been called upon by several states to assist them in setting up a conservation and fish propagation department.

Under his guidance Maine now raises and liberates approximately 17,000,000 trout and salmon each year. The trout hatchery plant at Dry Mills is one of the most successful in the country and this plant supplemented by a series of rearing pools now under construction at the State University will, when completed, the largest brook trout producing plant in the country.

Under Mr. Stobie's leadership the state is looking for an increase of 5000 pheasants annually. Although these birds are not sufficiently plentiful to provide an open season, if present plans materialize the production will be stepped up to 15,000 or more birds a year and an open season is not far off.

Winchester lovers of the out-of-doors and particularly sportsmen and women shouldn't fail to hear Mr. Stobie and see his unusual pictures.

GIRL SCOUT RALLY

On Tuesday night the Winchester Girl Scouts held a very successful rally in the First Congregational Church. Many enthusiastic parents and friends were present. The program featured the singing of the Girl Scout song, a play by the girls, and a presentation of the Bugle and Drum Corps under the direction of the Scoutmaster, Captain Phelps. The rally was a great success and the girls were very well complimented.

Commissioner Davis introduced Mrs. John Joy, the great friend of the Girl Scouts of Winchester, who then presented silver stripes to 21 Scouts among whom were Captain Howe. This silver stripe signifies five years of Scouting. Many of these girls were Brownies under Mrs. Joy, who sponsored the first Brownie Pack in Winchester. Captain Symmes was also present and presented a silver stripe which showed that she had given ten years of continuous service to Scouting.

Mr. Terry was very agreeably surprised by a thanks badge, which was presented to her by Troop 3, through the kindness of Jeanne recalled to the audience a few years ago. Mrs. Joy has been in the past for Scouts—her generosity, faithfulness, and devotion to the cause of the Girl Scouts who were her original Brownies over five years ago.

ADJOURNED SESSION OF TOWN MEETING

Departmental Appropriations Made

In a particularly tedious and confusing town meeting session in the town hall last evening 171 precinct members finally concluded Article 8 in the warrant providing funds for the operation of the various town departments during the current year.

It was well along toward 11 o'clock when Mr. Rowe moved adjournment after amendments to amendments, original motions, explanations and recommendations had left many of those present in a state of bewilderment and the strain apparently confused even the moderator and those long experienced in town meeting procedure.

As the meeting opened Mrs. Bowen Tufts, chairman of the local Red Cross Chapter made an appeal for $500 as Winchester's quota for flood relief. Mr. Gundry represented the Finance Committee and the absence of the flood marooned chairman, Mr. Kerrigan, and did a first class job under difficulties.

The first item under consideration was the appropriation for the Collector of Taxes, and after a brief difference of opinion between Mr. Laraway and Mr. Gundry, the latter moved to amend the $7,688.31 asked in the original motion by the increase of $100 to be paid to the chief clerk in the department.

Mr. McCormick opposed the increase on the ground that the clerk is a so-called junior clerk and now gets $400 a year. Mr. Gundry moved the Salary Committee appointed to fix the clerk's pay.

Mr. Laraway then announced his plan for raising the amount for the collector to $7,828.31 with $1200 for the chief clerk who was to become a senior clerk. The motion was carried, 10 to 6, after which Mr. Tompkins moved to reduce the amended figures by $200, taking this amount from the $400 salary for the chief clerk, who he said has the "softest job in town."

Opposition to the reduction was led by Mr. John W. Sanders and Mr. Gundry, the motion to amend being lost without the necessity of a poll vote.

Before the appropriation for Highways and Bridges was made it was voted to take up Articles 10 and 11, dealing with the reconstruction of the town street bridge and rebuilding Washington street, also Articles 23 to 42 inclusive, concerned with street layouts.

The sum of $2,000 was appropriated for the Lake Street bridge as a Chapter 90 project, and $25,931.75 appropriated for the reconstruction of the bridge on Washington street from Forest street to Main street, amounts being added to the last figure $127.74 remaining from the 1934 main street job, $60.20 remaining from the 1935 Main street job, and $3,849.70 remaining from the Church street street reconstruction job.

It was provided that in the event the State and County do not agree to their part of the latter project $10,000 of the amount to go to the town for the Highways account for public works, sidewalks, drainage, etc., and $10,000 to the general improvement fund.

After the completion of the meeting, approved the Selectmen's layouts of Chesterford road, East street, Park and Willow streets, appropriating $16,470 for the layouts with an additional $2,050 for land damages.

Indefinite postponement was given on the proposed Winchester place layout, and it was also voted to discontinue a part of Palmer street as a public way, also.

There was no action on the matter of the proposed parcel of land under the control of the Cemetery Commissioners and situated between the Palmer street layout and West Pond.

This done the meeting returned to Article 8 and appropriated $30,822.47 for Highways and Bridges, and $1,000 of the amounts just named.

There was no further debate until the Library appropriation was reached when Mr. Terry attempted to learn how much of the figure asked was to go to the librarian's salary and how much to the assistants. The Moderator suggested that the appropriation might be held up until they could be secured. Mr. Terry thought he would try to get the figures for the salaries of the librarians and their assistants.

Mr. Terry also wanted to know what subjects two new teachers are to teach at the high school next year, also, and how much money for special courses and if there is money in the budget to bring outside lecturers.

Returning to the planning of the school appropriation the Finance Committee was called upon to explain certain figures calling for extra clerical assistance at the superintendent's office and at the high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Hollins of Boston street returned Wednesday from a three weeks stay in Orlando, Fla.

MISS AVERY'S LECTURE

In spite of the heavy rain last Wednesday afternoon, Miss Emma Avery's lecture on "Our Internal Affairs" was well filled for Miss Emma Avery's lecture on "Our Internal Affairs."

Miss Avery said that America, like the rest of the modern world, is trying to meet the new problem of mass civilization. This mass civilization has resulted from the idea that education and material comforts are not just a fringing for the upper crust of the social loaf, but are a haven which should permeate the whole.

The idea was original with America in the first place, and it democracy is to last, we must solve the problem in our own way instead of by communism, or fascism as Europe is doing.

Our means for doing this seem to be three:

First by so developing our system of education that our youth will be taught to discriminate instead of accepting facts as handed out. Every means possible should be used to present facts to adults as well as youth, but the essential training should be on thinking.

Second, by more "Pressure Groups." This was a new idea to the audience, but it was explained that practically every public organization in the country is a potential pressure group and that the more there are, the safer we are from minority rule, it would be less dangerous.

Raising the purchasing power of the farmer is our third way of saving democracy in a mass civilization. Wisely enough, Miss Avery did not try to tell how this is to be done. She did however point out that the germ of the late AAA was the work of an industrial analyst instead of a farm group, thus showing that the problem of the farmer is really not a partisan matter.

A short part of the lecture hour was given to bringing the foreign situation up to date in preparation for the lecture on "Germany and America as the Key to Europe." This final lecture is to be on the evening of April 1, and the committee is looking for a capacity audience in the high school hall.

WINCHESTER LIONS

Last Monday evening we were extremely fortunate in having with us Dr. Hugh McGill who was for eight years medical missionary in Ethiopia. Dr. McGill gave us a vast amount of information about that country, its people and climate, its history past and present and of the course of events leading up to the present situation, explaining the attitude of Italy, France and England. He also paid his respects (to) Hitler and incidents leading up to Germany's occupation of the Rhineland territory, all of which was very illuminating and enlightening.

There was a large attendance. Especially were we glad to have back to the fold a couple of lost sheep who had been unavoidably absent for several meetings.

It is planned to have many more talks on various subjects in the near future.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

There will be an important meeting of the Board of Directors of the Winchester Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday evening, March 24, at their office on Common street. Any one at all interested in the affairs of the Chamber is invited to attend and offer suggestions which may be of mutual benefit.

GROUP THEATRE ANNOUNCES CHANGE OF PLANS FOR SPRING PRODUCTION

The Winchester Group Theatre announces its forthcoming spring production, to be given Saturday evening, April 25, at the high school auditorium. The production committee has chosen the farcical comedy "Little Shot" by Percival Wilde.

At the outset of the season "The School for Scandal" was announced as the April play, but since that time a number of things have occurred to cause the production committee to change its mind.

In this dilemma the committee read some 30 other plays and as a solution to the problem have chosen "Little Shot."

The play will be coached by Doris Bramson Whitcomb, whose work with the "Bellamy Trust" and "The Torch-Bearers" was widely acclaimed.

The sets are two, an opulent Manhattan apartment, and a gangster's den. Both sets are being designed by the production committee and will be executed by members of the Group in all details.

To play the production committee has summoned a cast of experienced and well-known players: Sylvia Chevalier, who has made a splendid reputation with the high school and Lucile Townley-Libson, whose work with the Group and the Victorian Players needs no introduction on the distant stage and for the men, Gerald Hills, Wayne Davis, Theodore and Norman von Rosenzweig, all of which are well known to local theatre-goers. For the first time in many moons Theodore von Rosenzweig will play, not the part of an elderly character, but nothing less than Big Shot Scarlatti, the gangster. Gerald Hills will be seen in an Ernest Truax type of role at which he is especially apt. Norman von Rosenzweig in the most important part he has yet played in Winchester, and Wayne Davis in the balance-wheel role of the production.

The play went into rehearsal last Sunday.

The production committee is the same as that which was responsible for "Poor Richard" and includes:

Chairman—John Burdard.

Costumes—Winifred Merrin.

Properties—Doris Whitcomb.

Stage—George Boyd, Jr.

Arrangements—Unimad Merriam, Jr.

Liaison—Lyndon Burnham.

ENTERTAINED

Miss Frances Jane Hayden of Mt. Pleasant street was hostess to the following group of friends Friday evening when dancing, games, etc., were enjoyed. Katharine Blanford, Alcyone Rogers, Barbara Hickey, Mary Alice Mason, Dorothy Fitts, Edwin Logan, Richard Sexton, Max LeRover, Phyllis Drew, James Harris, Lawrence Comins and John Plumer.

EMBLEM CLUB AFFAIRS

The regular monthly social whist party of the club will be held on Monday evening, March 23, in the Town Hall. The game will start promptly at 8:20 o'clock.

As this will be the last social night till May, members are urged to assist in making it successful. Prizes are requested, and each member is expected to bring friends enough to make the party a social and financial success.

The house party, given last week by Mrs. Frank E. Goodhue at her home on Cross street, was largely attended and the lucky guests were regaled with refreshments. The genial hostess wishes to thank all who helped to make the party such a social and financial success.

Many of the members are planning to accompany Supreme Marshal Emily A. Schell to the Everett Club installation, which is scheduled for Wednesday evening, March 25. A list of nearby visitations may be obtained through Mrs. Schell, whose office on the Supreme staff puts her in contact with all coming events.

Plans for our own installation are well underway and will be announced at the business session, April 8. As usual a banquet will be served before the ceremony and many out-of-town guests are expected to attend.

ROTARY CLUB SEES NEW FILMS OF TELEPHONE COMPANY

Mr. J. E. Sullivan, manager of the business office of the New England Tel. & Tel. Co., lectured at the Rotary Club at its weekly meeting in the Clubhouse March 12 with very interesting and informative talking motion pictures.

Mr. Sullivan gave a brief talk concerning the importance of customer goodwill to any successful business management and stated that the philosophy of Rotary and of the Telephone Company was identical namely, "Be Profits Most Who Serve Best."

"The Modern Knight," a crime picture, illustrating the efficiency of police organizations internationally, was the first of a series of films shown. The great network of telephone circuits used in the nation-wide transmission of radio programs.

"The Call of the East" had a charming accompaniment of Oriental music and pictured Chinatown in San Francisco with its own unique Big Shot Scarlatti, the gangster.

At the close of the entertainment, President William Bezegs thanked Manager Sullivan for one of the most enjoyable programs the club has had this year.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

The home of Mrs. Harry G. Beyer of Sargent road, was the scene of a merry luncheon, held last Friday, in honor of her mother, Mrs. William Heron, whose 80th birthday was celebrated.

The house was artistically decorated with ferns and cut flowers, while a beautiful birthday cake with candles, graced the dining room table.

Four generations were represented which included Mrs. William Heron, her two daughters, Mrs. Harry Beyer and Mrs. Wesley, Mrs. Beyer's son Robert and his two daughters, Barbara and Elizabeth.

Other guests included Mrs. James F. Gaffney of Winchester and her mother, Mrs. William Linn, Mrs. Belle Towle, Mrs. William Macdon and daughter, Helen of Swampscott, Mrs. George Ray and Mrs. Harry Orr of Somerville, Mrs. William Heron, Jr. of Milton and Mrs. Harry Beyer and daughter of Winchester.

After luncheon, monopoly and contract bridge were enjoyed and many merry wishes were bestowed on Mrs. Heron and her charming daughter.

ANNUAL ROLL CALL OF SECOND CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

The annual roll call of the Second Congregational Church has again passed into church history. This year the event had the greatest interest, marking the 30th anniversary of the church of Winchester Highlands. The festivities commenced at half past six when the pastor, George W. Allen, sat down to a most bountiful and delicious turkey supper in the assembly hall. This room was decorated in pastel colors with yellow, the church color, predominating in flowers and candles.

After supper, the roll call was held in the church auditorium and members responded to their names with scriptural verses. The clerk mentioned that only eight charter members of the church now remain after 30 years. Two of these, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Nutting were present and verses were read by two others.

Mr. Whitley spoke very optimistically of how much had been accomplished in the past 30 years since the new church edifice was built. The year's mortgage payment has been met and there remains only one more payment on the building due next March, and the $45,000 property will be clear. Plans are under way for raising this last $500 in time for the 10th anniversary of the dedication of the church next October, and it would certainly be a fine thing if the mortgage could be burned out that occasion.

The treasurer, Mr. W. D. McElleney, read a letter from the Congregational Missionary Society in which the church was highly commended for its regular and prompt mortgage payments, and the fact that the fine building is so nearly paid for.

The evening's speakers were Rev. Ralph M. Timmerman, president of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference, and Rev. Charles R. Small of Lynn. Mr. Timmerman in his short talk, commended Mr. Whitley on his work in building this church, and his resourcefulness and persistent courage in keeping up the payments in such hard times as we have passed through. He spoke of the duties of the church members in supporting their church and the need of more "Fear of God."

Mr. Small gave an address on "Appreciating the Church of Jesus Christ." He pointed out that men are innately religious—that none of the persecutions or imperial powers had been able to blot out Christianity. He spoke of the fact that the church is the champion of the underprivileged, and serves as police power for the state. In other words police costs are paid by the churches, desirably. He stated in no uncertain terms that the teaching of Christ, taken seriously, would avert war, and in this way only could the world be saved. He closed with the thought that the Second Congregational Church will be a church of Jesus Christ only first so far as the members share the ideals of Jesus Christ.

At 9 o'clock the entertainment of the evening started. Mrs. Lilian R. Whitman, a friend of this church, gave a very lovely reading, the setting of which was a cathedral during the reading of "The Lord's Prayer." This is a touching story of three people who lived in very different times from ours but one of whom knew the true meaning of self-sacrifice.

Following the reading Mrs. Mary Ranton Whelan gave two charming vocal selections, "Kreutzer," "The Old Refrain" and "Londonderry Air." She closed with an encore, a Brahms waltz.

Mrs. Whitman then gave three amusing Arthur Guiterman selections, and closed the program with two delightful songs, "Don't Smile at Me of Spring" and "My Daffodils Are Blowing."

The 30th anniversary of the Second Congregational Church was remembered as a very pleasant occasion. Much thanks are due to the Robby Society who served so delightful a supper, and the speakers and entertainers who made the evening so pleasant and interesting.

We of the church also owe many thanks to many friends, some of whom are anonymous, who have generously contributed toward mortgage payments. We are deeply grateful to these readers and we invite those who ever they may be, and all others who will, to come and worship with us at any time in the lovely building their contributions have helped to make possible.

JUNIOR FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Miss Marcia Hooford who spoke at our last meeting, gave us many new and interesting ideas on interior decoration. She brought with her several lovely lamps and a few mirrors. The predominating theme being a ship's wheel. This design was also carried out very uniquely in an ash tray and small nautical picture.

Those of you who shipped this meeting, really missed a lot.

Last Friday the Junior Fortnightly held open house for hobbies. The Juniors had a few articles displayed. Margaret Webber donated a water color portraying an Arabian scene. Colorful and interesting activities were sort in by "Dot" Osborne. Frances Pierce had an unusual and interesting collection of green buttons.

In spite of all the busy knitters at club meetings there was only one representative of that ambitious group, Janet. She was unanimously elected. What happened to the rest of you?

A change in our program has been made for the next meeting. Instead of the play being presented for the senior club, that has been postponed until the following week. For this week we are unusually bold and devoted the entire evening to games and a general good time. Do come down and enjoy yourself. Monday at 7:45 in Fortnightly Hall.

The Friends of Proctor Association is an organization of men and women interested in Proctor Academics. Andover, N. H. About 200 are expected at the banquet, and among the speakers is Mrs. T. Grafton. The subject of this town whose subject is "What Parents Have a Right to Expect of a School."

A new shipment of good looking initialed note paper in the popular small size, Cellulose wrapped and looking like more than the quarter we ask for it. Wilson the Stationer, The Winchester Star.

Tuesday evening Police Headquarters was notified by a resident of Everett avenue that a gladstone bag had been stolen from an out-of-state car parked in the yard at his home. Sergeant Charles J. Harrold went to investigate, but was unable to locate the party responsible. The bag and contents were valued at about $35.

The Fire Department was called at 1:17 Tuesday afternoon to put out a grass fire in the rear of the home of Dr. A. L. Maletta on upper Main street.

Returning from a business trip last evening, Mr. Percy Bugbee of Symmes road received a warm welcome in the shape of a red card packed most from a door announcing that his youngest son, Allen, was ill with scarlet fever.

Winchester escaped the great flood which inundated the country this week. The high water here occurred last week, when the river and ponds rose to a level not seen for over 40 years. Outside of flooded cellars and the loss of a footbridge carried away by the water and at north Winchester, the town suffered no harm.

En Ka girls are hard at work preparing for the coming Street Fair, which made such a hit last spring. This year's fair will take place on May 16 at the Town Hall, where an Italian Village will be erected. Work on the various houses is now under way.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Boy Scouts of Troop 7 are the first to reap the benefits of the Red Cross first aid course now being conducted every Thursday evening at the Lincoln School.

Students at the course are Scoutmaster Raymond Bonhann and troop Committeeman E. H. Butterworth and at the last meeting of the troop at their First Baptist Church headquarters these two leaders conducted a class of their own in bandaging.

Indoor baseball has captured the fancy of the youngsters of this troop. Introduced as a diversion in their regular program of games, it quickly became the most popular of all.

Troop 2 continues to maintain its remarkable pace patrol activities. Next Monday the Flying Eagle patrol, champions of Winchester district, will meet the Wolf Patrol in a contest of all-around scouting. Meanwhile, the Flying Eagles await the challenge of any other troop patrol.

With three regular patrols and one tent patrol already completely organized, Scoutmaster Charles A. Hart is forming a fifth patrol at the Church of the Epiphany headquarters of the troop. The tenderfoot Beaver Patrol under the leadership of Donald Cass and Carl Bolter is advancing rapidly toward full participation by the benefits of extra meetings at the Cass home. All of the troops are taking hikes for credit in the second inter-patrol competition of the season.

Reports from all five troops of the town reveal much eagerness for the period of weather conditions that will permit the utilization of Camp Lane in Burlington. The rising of the first and cessation of spring rains will make this possible within a few weeks.

First steps toward the organization of Cub Packs for boys between 8 and 12 were taken by Chairman William E. Spaulding at the last executive board meeting of Fellowship Council. With the return of Scout Executive Edward E. Nelson from the national meeting of the Boy Scouts of America this week the plans for the formation of the packs will be given additional impetus.

MR. MORRILL'S GROCERY STORE ON CHURCH STREET

GEORGE EVERETT MORRILL

George Everett Morrill, formerly for many years in the grocery business in Winchester, died early Sunday morning, March 15, at the Masonic Home in Charlton, where he had been living for the past seven years.

Mr. Morrill was born June 4, 1852, in Amesbury, son of John and Aizal (Porter) Morrill. He came to Winchester about 1883 and was first employed in the grocery store of Mr. J. C. Stanton which was on Main street at the site now occupied by the Fells Market.

Later he was employed by Mr. C. F. Lunt who conducted a grocery business in the store on Church street which was removed at the time the present Star Building was erected in 1911. Mr. Morrill became a partner in the firm of Morrill & Bliss who took over Mr. Lunt's interests, and after a few years bought out Mr. Bliss becoming sole owner of the business.

For more than 25 years the Church street grocery of George E. Morrill was known in an around Winchester, many of the town's leading families being regularly among its patrons while several well kept teams were busy taking orders and delivering goods. Several men who later became proprietors of local stores or markets were employed by Mr. Morrill during this time.

In 1914 he closed out his business, but for several years thereafter maintained an office in the center. He made his home in Winchester until 1929 when he entered the Masonic Home, but regularly thereafter was a visitor in town until failing health made the trip to Winchester impossible. He had been in poor health for about a year.

Mr. Morrill was 50 years a Mason, having first joined the order in Amesbury. He was a member of William Parkman Lodge of this town, of Winchester Royal Arch Chapter, Hugh E. Paget Commandery, Knights Templar, and of Aleppo Temple of the Mystic Shrine. He was one of the first group to join the Waterbury Lodge of Old Fellows after its institution and during his business life in town was a member of the old Board of Trade.

June 17, 1890, he married Hattie C. Smith of this town, who was then employed as bookkeeper by Mr. J. C.

Stanton. She died Jan. 12, 1908, and he leaves no immediate family.

Former business associates and old friends taxed the capacity of the Kelley & Hawes chapel at the funeral services Tuesday afternoon. Rev. George Hale Reed, minister of the Unitarian Church, officiated and presided at the various services. Masons and Odd Fellows organizations, with which Mr. Morrill was affiliated were in attendance. Interment was in the Morrill family lot in Woodland Cemetery.

DONAGHEY, NEW HOOP CAPTAIN

At a meeting of the letter players, held Tuesday afternoon, Robert "Red" Donaghey was elected captain of the Winchester High School basketball team for the season of 1935-36.

Donaghey, a thurday thurday, is a member of the junior class at a high school and one of the most aggressive athletes on the basketball squad, playing a guard position. The past season has been his first in varsity basketball competition, but at the close of the past basketball season he was rated first string catcher on the nine. He is the son of Patrolman and Mrs. James P. Donaghey of Washington street.

"GRUMPY" MAKES A HIT

An extremely successful production of this mystery comedy was presented at the evening of Friday and Saturday, March 13 and 14, by the Unitarian Players in Metcalf Hall, under the direction of Frank E. Fowler, with Mrs. Wayne Davis as production manager.

The part of "Grumpy" was effectively portrayed by Theodore von Rescuers, who brings to every new characterization the same intelligence that made it possible for Grumpy himself to solve the problem of the disappearance of the diamond which had been entrusted to the care of his nephew, preventing at the same time his adoring and adorable granddaughter from falling into the power of a scoundrel. His satisfaction at the successful outcome of his efforts was contrasted by the happiness for his two favorites—his granddaughter and his nephew, brought equal satisfaction to a most appreciative audience.

Janet Burns, whose brief appearance as the maid in the Group Theatre production of "Poor Richard" earlier in the season showed unmistakable evidence of dramatic ability, gave a delightful and spontaneous portrayal of the granddaughter Virginia.

Lyndon Burnham, whose work in Group Theatre and other productions has been greatly enjoyed by Winchester audiences, made a thoroughly satisfying Ernest Heron, the nephew to whom the valuable diamond was entrusted.

Harold Dodds, who is a newcomer in the field of dramatics, gave a convincing picture of Jarvis, the deceiver. Paged villain, who was determined to capture both the diamond and Virginia.

Brief parts of Dr. and Mrs. Madaren were brought to life through the efficient work of Ralph Hale and Ethel Goodwin. Another short but effective part was played by Warren Whitman as Isaac Wolfe, the Jew who was also interested in the acquisition of the diamond.

Grumpy's five servants—the delectable maid Susan, played by Lucille Townley-Tilson, who is always a delight to see, Eulack, the elderly valet, played with fine restraint by Theodore Goodwin, Kelle, by Robert McKee, Morrieville, by Arthur Thad Smith, Jr., and Dawson, by Roger Newell, added tremendously to the effectiveness of the production.

The stage was attractively set for the two scenes under the direction of Mrs. Theodore Goodwin. The back drops, which were painted for the production by George Hayden, Jr., were particularly effective. The stage crew, under the efficient direction of Harry Goodwin, contributed, as usual, to a finished performance.

Another delightful feature of the evening was the music by the instrumental trio, the youthful violinists, Laura Sibley and Barbara Hughes, with Helen Sibley at the piano, giving much pleasure by their performance.

THE WINTONS FETTERED BY THE WINTONS

The "Winton Club," which, last year made its debut as an organization, last Saturday night again honored the Winton Club with a dinner, entertainment and dance at the Winchester Country Club. The event was participated in by the most curious and pleasure by Winton Club members, from whom all arrangements had been kept a deep secret.

Taking for their theme the Winton Club's 25th anniversary, the gentlemen appropriately entitled their production, "Silver Service." Silver predominated in the decorations, streamers and decorations, and all were beautifully done. "A Silver Supper" was served by gorgeous waitresses in an interesting variety and abundance of costume.

Later, the guests were reduced to an almost helpless state of mirth by a remarkably funny movie. Stript, east and photography were all of the merriment; the scenes being the last of several well-known Winchester chesler families. The verbal explanations which accompanied the pictures were a most enjoyable feature. The historical thought of the film was the "Birth of the Wintons."

The entertainment which followed was a sprightly baroque of many numbers from past Winton Club shows. All were well-remembered and greatly enjoyed; the highlight being the appearance of the late William Wynn, whose appearance on the floor was the signal for hearty applause.

Mr. Wynn came from his home in Albany to be in the show, and his performance showed that he has not lost a bit of the skill which made him such a popular figure in past shows. Several numbers from the most recent cabaret were done in burlesque, the Waltz, the Choral Society and the Hawaiian dance, and were most amusing.

Participating in the colorful and varied program featuring the Winton Club shows of his-gone years, and testifying the enthusiasm of its members were the following:

1. Wedding 1929.
Bride Buster Birkley
Groom Ernest Stoddard
2. Billie

After the performance, Mr. Gordon Parker gave a short speech in tribute and presented to the Winton Club a handsome gavel, with the hopes of the Winton Club that future club meetings might be thus pleasantly reminded of the male auxiliary. Also a delightful surprise was the presentation of a beautiful mahogany plaque on which were mounted 25 silver dollars in the form of a "W" that had hung in prominent place all evening and its beauty and originality had been greatly remarked upon.

Miss Helen Barr gracefully sang, her charming personality and beautiful voice adding much to the enjoyment, and a distinct feature of the show performance was the impromptu dance by Messrs. Kenneth Moffatt and "Dick" Hull. Jack Marshall's orchestra admirably accompanied the entertainment and dancing was enjoyed until midnight.

Though non-professional male advice is sought and often encouraged by the committees who work on the Winton Club shows, this advice is seldom taken; she being a rare wife considers her spouse a second Zeigfeld or Fred Astaire. Consequently, these loyal souls are, for the most part, relegated to obscurity because the reason they have not been determined whether it was this sense of frustrated histrionic ability which brought forth this display of masculine talent, or whether it was a commendable wish to give the Winton Club a most delightful party after their busy weeks of effort toward the cabaret. For whatever reason, Judging by New Deal performance to date, the present "breathing spell" and the cry for business to come to the rescue and increase employment is but another choice bit preliminary to the 20-hour week. A lot of business men would like to see an assured future along with the curtailing of Washington spending. They feel that if some of the funds which have been "blown in" were available now, they would have less to worry about when looking into the future.

The recent warm rains and foggy weather have taken the snow and most of the ice from the battle scarred surface of Manchester Field. It really is worth a trip to the city ground to see the present condition of the town's most used athletic field. We suppose there is no other place to dump snow and rubbish during the winter, but it seems too bad that such has to be the case. The long awaited new athletic field won't be available for the use of the high school for another year and Manchester Field will, we understand be used for practice even after the enclosed field is ready. It is well nigh impossible during the few days before baseball practice starts in the spring to undo the harm done during the winter and even the surface grows steadily worse. We can't remember when it has looked as generally bad as this spring.

The story is told of a group of people gathered together to hear of the straitened circumstances in which a mutual friend was known to live. After hearing the sad story, general regret was expressed and several persons prayed that his burden might be lifted. One elderly member of the "church body" type took up part in the lamentations and indeed said nothing until there was a brief pause in the chorus of woe. Then he took from his pocketbook a $5 bill and laid it upon the table. "That's how sorry I am for Henry," he said bravely. The assembly, which applied particularly to the sore straits in which many of our friends and neighbors of the flood districts find themselves, there are none of us who have not exclaimed over their situation and expressed our regret at the loss of life and property. Now, with the opportunity to back words with dollars, our local Red Cross has been asked to raise a quota for Winchester of $200 for the relief fund. It is up to us to see that the quota is met. We wouldn't think $200 much for other folks to raise for us if we were sitting on a cushion, but the elderly member who said "Blessed be the Lord who has brought us to this" let us contribute to "Blessed be the Lord" who has brought us to this. The town's quota ought to be over $200.

Winchester has, since the beginning of the development of the Kellaway Plan for the beautifying of the River and Ponds, had several occasions to pay tribute to the scheme and commend its sponsors and the architect. With the most exceptional conditions Winchester escaped with no damage whatever. That this has been a one-wholly to the benefit of the town, ponds and vital changes in the River channel have shown their worth in a most practical manner. The beauty wrought has been a boon to the town for a considerable time. Once again the far-seeing ability of our able and generous citizens is amply manifest. Who is there in Winchester who would not welcome this beautiful and practical change? That Mr. Kellaway, in his comprehensive plan embracing the whole of Winchester's valley, included the work of eliminating our grade crossing in an equally beautiful and practical way, is not fortunate. If any resident has any doubts whatsoever regarding the outcome of his grade crossing elimination, they should be wiped away by the successful demonstration of last week of what has been done on our waterways.

THE PRESIDENT'S REQUEST

President Roosevelt has neglected continually the plucking of the heads to which he now looks for a rich harvest.

A far-sighted statesman would have realized a year or two ago that re-employment by private industries was the only remedy for idleness. Such a statesman would have managed to retain the good will of these industries. He would have put them in such sympathy with him that they would have been willing to submit to sacrifices to assist him. He would have made proper concessions to such a group. He would have concluded that it was better to force the aid-plans which would come to him from denouncing business men as "Fories," "reactionaries," and "barbarians" than to have occurred to him that the secondary reaction would be distinct, if adverse.

The President has waged war unwittingly on what is called "big business." He has not seemed to understand that businesses big and small operate on the same general principles. In consequence, he has antagonized business interests throughout the country. Whether he can woo them back to friendliness is doubtful. If a poll of employers, ranging from corner grocers to the managers of huge corporations, were to be taken tomorrow, the President and the New Deal would be rejected by three-quarters of them.

The President now requests those men to do more re-employment than necessity requires, and thereby to reduce the federal appropriations needed for relief. Obviously the response will not be enthusiastic. Even under ideal conditions, the success of such a proposal would be almost miraculous. In the present circumstances, with uncertainty ahead, profitless days behind and an incalculable gentleman in the White House making the request, many employers will react with cynicism the sentence in which he says: "A vigorous effort on a national scale is necessary by voluntary concerted action of private industry."

It is perfectly plain that the President is correct in his statement that "this problem of unemployment is the most difficult before the country." But have his efforts to date made it less difficult? Have they not aggravated it?

There is a growing belief that his program has encouraged idleness, harmed private industry, propagated the notion that the government owes everybody a living, increased the number and proportion of the unemployed, and made recovery slower, more difficult and more expensive. The waste, the infusion of politics, the perfunctory gesture to block the home, the reckless undertaking of Quoddy projects—these have made millions distrustful of the schemes of the New Deal.

The administration may not be playing politics with human misery, but there is plenty of evidence of particular attention to sections, where the party should be strengthened.

The billion and a half which the President wishes in new money is about what was expected. It is less than the majority of the country requested recently, but it is also a half billion more than speaker Byrnes considered ample. It is a great deal more than the total which Lewis W. Douglas and many others regard as adequate. With the sums available from other sources, the President will have at his disposal about two billions and a half. That figure itself answers the question whether the New Deal policies for the relief of the unemployed have been successful.

THE RAG WILL FLOAT

Mr. Wilson: Have you ever heard of the ETHIQUETTE of the FLAG? You certainly have, if you have seen the RAG float from your building night and day, rain and shine.

A Winchester-letter

Whether this anonymous letter is sent by its unknown Winchester patriot for publication or not we cannot say, but it is a very interesting one. The Star uses on its building from ten to twelve flags a year. There have been times when the new flags have been used in one week. When the flag was first flown from its building hard coal was almost universally used and it was largely on the railroad and oil was not burned for heat at all. While a flag with a special type of sewing is used, one day's exposure to the wind conditions will run a new flag. Damaged and dirty flags are replaced as early as is feasible, and since it is not possible to have the flag at sunrise and sunset, the Star has the choice of flying its flag as it has for the past 21 years or flying it on the roof of the building. It is to do. It invites the Winchester patriot to compare its flag with the very few others displayed about town, and to see that it is not our public schools, and trusts that his own display of the National Colors is above reproach.

—Mr. Wilson

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION

To the Editor of the Star: Our sympathies are certainly with the Fire Department in the matter of telephone calls on "No School" mornings. Moreover, if a house should catch fire at 8:30 some stormy morning, we should be distinctly worried about telephoning for help with all the lines busy.

Nevertheless there is another side of the problem which the town ought to recognize and find means of correcting. When the wind is from the south or southeast, as it often is during a storm, there is a considerable section of the town where the whistle cannot be heard. Last Thursday morning we stood with the doors open listening for the no school signal, watch in hand. We heard the Arlington whistles at 7:55, and not being willing to bet on the accuracy of our watches, thought it might be Winchester. Again at 7:40 we listened and downstairs we heard nothing. From an upper window, however, one member of the family (an adult) thought she heard the whistle. Then we telephoned.

We live between the high school and the Mystic School. There must be hundreds of families further away from the whistle than we. So we respectfully suggest that something should be done about it. Could another bell be installed in the southern section of the town? Or would some other device serve? An early message to the radio broadcasters would help a good many families. Or we might adopt the scheme used in some towns (among them Whitinsville, Mass.) of turning on the 475,000 cycle signal for five minutes at the time the signal is given.

We don't care what is done, but we wish it might be something. We really don't like to telephone any more than the Fire Department likes to have us!

WINCHESTER SELECTED AS DEATH SPOT

Winchester has been selected as one of 109 cities and towns in Massachusetts which are classed as "death spots" to children, by the traffic department of the State Department of Public Works, which is conducting a state-wide safety educational campaign to reduce automobile accidents.

In the past two years in these 109 communities, there were more than 300 auto fatalities to children under 14 years, including one in this locality. The analysis of this death record for Winchester is as follows:

During the two year period of 1934 and 1935, a child pedestrian, six years old, was killed.

Commissioner William F. Callahan of the public works department is making an intensive educational campaign among the schools in these 109 communities. State Traffic Engineer Edgar F. Capell has prepared a unique booklet which is being distributed by school superintendents and principals.

The pamphlet is entitled: "Where Death Struck 300 Times at Children in Massachusetts." On the cover is a startling outline of "death" as a skeleton reaching his greedy fingers at playing children.

Mr. Capell's staff stressed six major causes of auto fatalities to children, as follows:

Child pedestrians, 123
Occupants of autos, 106
Cyclists on roads, 31
Bicycle riders on streets, 12
Cyclists on highways, 10
Cyclists on wheels, 10

Total, 282

In addition, there was listed one case of a child killed while riding a bicycle on a highway.

About 10,000 copies of the booklet are being distributed, including a few in this locality.

BALONEY

How many Winchester residents have noticed the so-called Republican and Democratic one dollar bills? The $1 bill, nicknamed Republican, states that there is an deposit $1, while the so-called Democratic $1 bill states that there has been deposited $1 in the treasury. Perhaps the last statement is nearer the truth. Anyway there is a great deal of discussion caused by the wording on the face of the bills that we use the most.

BASKETBALL

The Congos lost a close game at the hands of the Winchester A. A. last night in the Congregational gym by the score of 39 to 35. The game was close all the way, the Congos were behind one point at the half 30 to 29. "Dex" Mobbs was high scorer for the Congos, while Macdonald was the game's high scorer with seven baskets for a total of 14 points. The summary:

ADJOURNED SESSION OF TOWN MEETING

to Winchester to lecture to the teachers.

In reply Mr. Cary stated that because of Finance Committee opposition there is no money in the budget for either of the last named items and that he could not expect that the new teachers are to teach. The sum of $262,775.55 was then appropriated with an additional $500 for janitor expenses in connection with school hall rental.

The next discussion arose under the consideration of the Selectman's account when Mr. Laraway moved to amend the figures asked for by reducing the salary of the clerk $500 claiming it is costing too much to have two clerks in the Selectman's office and that $1000 is enough for the amount of work the clerk is called upon to do. Mrs. Woodside concurred but Mr. Wilkins raised vigorous objections, asking the voters not to interfere with the Selectman's Department and the amendment was lost.

The final debate took place when Mr. Worthen moved to amend the figures asked for the Town Treasurer by increasing $450 to provide for a full time clerk, feeling that the office should be open all of the time.

Mr. Laraway agreed to the full time clerk, but moved to amend the amendment, making the increase $836 and placing the clerk at $15, the starting figure for junior clerks. Mr. Sanderson explained that the clerk had been in the office two years and was entitled to $17 and Mr. Laraway's amendment was lost.

Mr. Gunby stated the Finance Committee's objections to the full time pay, saying that much of the work which the clerk was put in the office to do under the ERA is now done elsewhere and that the raise given the treasurer two years ago was in consideration of the fact that he has a full time job. Mr. Worthen's amendment was put and lost, 99 to 49.

Under sewer construction $8800 was voted for the construction of a sewer along Hillcrest Parkway as a Chapter 90 project, the State and County to pay $35,000.

Following are the appropriations made:

TOWN MEETING CONCLUDED Midnight Session Finally Finished Warrant

In a session that was concluded two minutes before the chime of midnight Monday, 105 of the 168 precinct members who were present when the session opened finally finished the business remaining in the warrant for the annual March town meeting of 1936. Several of the articles considered early in the evening proved highly controversial and there were eight articles remaining for consideration when an attempt was made to adjourn at 10:45 and Thursday evening. Moderator Hayward asked those in favor of concluding the warrant to remain in the hall and after it was determined that more than the necessary quorum of 100 would be available, business was resumed, 62 of the delegates calling it a night and going home.

At the opening of the meeting Moderator Hayward requested that all articles be considered in the places upon the Finance Committee be sent to him, and Mr. Gunby, again acting as chairman in the absence of Mr. Kervin, again took the work done by the latter during the year past in preparation for the problems to be considered.

Article 9 was first considered for the purpose of making an appropriation for the conclusion of the work done by the Finance Committee. It was moved to appropriate $5000 to finish this work, the money to be spent by the Park Commission, but an amendment was offered by Mr. Davidson, asking that the figures be raised to $6000. Mr. Davidson explained that $5000 would not be enough to finish the work on the river which should now be completed and asked $1000 extra to this end, the additional $500 being necessary to replace the damage done by the recent flood. He stated that if this money was not appropriated it would be necessary to stop the work and have a special town meeting to make a new appropriation.

Mr. Gunby stated that the Finance Committee felt the smaller figure should be voted, adding that this year the sum of $11,000 is being appropriated for unemployment relief as against $8,500 expended last year for the same work. He felt that every citizen possible to unemployment relief should be cut and that the extra money asked by Mr. Davidson would better be in the general unemployment relief fund which is more flexible and available for any unemployment need rather than restricted to a particular job.

Mr. Olmstead moved that the Finance Committee's figures be not complete and that the sum spent last year for unemployment relief, adding the amounts spent under this head by the various town departments. He said that the sum was less than $5000 on the river job was to cut down on material.

Mr. Davidson again urged the Finance Committee to consider this case the problem is known and money for it should be appropriated rather than run short and have to have a special town meeting. Mr. Elwell moved to amend Mr. Davidson's amendment by transferring the $1500 from the reserve fund to Mr. Laraway wanted to know whether Mr. Olmstead or Mr. Gunby was right about the figures given. Mr. Pike ruled that Mr. Elwell's amendment was not legal and the latter offered a substitute amendment taking the $1500 from Excess and Deficiency fund. Mr. Olmstead, Mr. Laraway opposed, saying that the money necessary had already been provided in the $20,000 appropriated at a previous meeting. The amendment was lost, and reverting to the original amendment of Mr. Davidson, Mr. Farnsworth moved in favor of the Finance Committee. Mr. Davidson is not so familiar with the problem as Mr. Olmstead, Mr. Davidson and the Selectmen.

Mr. Gunby felt that the money in which pocket we put our money in and that no one can tell which figures would be right. He felt that if money is needed, it will be quite all right to have a special town meeting and provide it.

Mr. Olmstead's opposition and Mr. Davidson's amendment was lost, the original motion providing $5000 being carried.

Under Article 10 the sum of $10,000 was provided to be administered as a general unemployment fund by the Selectmen, a unanimous vote of 14 being recorded.

The motion to appropriate $3500 for the erection of bleachers upon the new athletic field was carried. Under Article 11 and championed by Mr. Davidson, who explained that the matter should not be deferred as asked by the Finance Committee. He stated that the new field is of little or no value without seats and that the increased revenue from a properly fitted field is badly needed to provide adequate equipment for the high school's athletic teams.

Mr. Gunby opposed the appropriation, stating that the present temporary bleachers should be used at the field for the first year so that added information as to the proper type and number of seats can be obtained. Mr. Tansey favored the appropriation and stated that the town had pursued a niggardly policy in erecting athletic teams and should give the boys the benefit of the added revenue which decent seats will provide. He felt that the temporary seats are of little value.

Mr. Fay questioned the advisability of taking the old seats from Manchester Field and moving them to the new place for a dump. Mr. Laraway opposed buying new seats until some

BURSTING TIRE CAUSED CRASH

Last Sunday evening at 7:30, Police Headquarters received several reports of a bad accident at the corner of Cambridge street and Foxcroft road.

Patrolman John E. Hanlon was sent to the scene in the ambulance with Sgt. Edward W. O'Connell and Patrolman James Noonan in Patrol 52 and Patrolman William E. Cassidy from his west side route.

According to the police a Chrysler sedan, being driven south on Cambridge street got out of control in front of the residence of the late David Carus and crashed into a tree at the side of the road, breaking the tree and badly smashing the front of the car.

The operator, Samuel C. Brickman, of 31 Harlem street, Dorchester, told the officers that the crash had been caused by a bursting front tire which made the car swerve sharply against the tree. He and his wife and son, Stephen, aged 6 were taken in the ambulance by Sergeant O'Connell and Patrolman Hanlon.

Mr. Brickman was taken to the hospital where he was attended by Dr. Roger M. Burgoyne. Mr. Brickman sustained lacerations about the forehead and neck, while Mrs. Brickman was bruised about the legs. Their son, who was not hurt, was given first aid treatment was held at the hospital. The car was towed to the Central Garage.

The police discovered while examining the broken tree that a wire connected with the Town's Fire alarm system had been broken and the car hit the tree, causing a stray blow. Fire Headquarters was notified to repair the damage and Assistant Superintendent James Michael Grant was notified to take care of the smashed tree.

Patrolmen John Murray and Winthrop Palmer were sent to Synnemes street, where the car was abandoned by the young thieves on Brooks street.

Ten minutes after the first call the department worked by Russell Symmes of 9 Sanborn street that his Ford sedan had been stolen from his home. Five minutes later the description of those who had stolen the bicycle, and having a wheel with him, had been seen around the car. The bicycle disappeared.

Later it was discovered that a motor vehicle inspector had attempted to stop a car driven by Ford sedan at a high rate of speed along Main street near Oak Grove Cemetery and police believe this machine was the stolen car. The car was recovered at 2 o'clock by the Medford Police in that city.

TO PRESENT "THE CRUCIFIXION"

On Sunday afternoon, March 29, at 1:30, the combined choir of the First Congregational Church in Stoneham and the Winchester Congregational Church will present "The Crucifixion," a Lenten cantata, in the First Congregational Church under the direction of Mr. Albert W. Wilson.

The cantata will be repeated on Palm Sunday by the same choir in Stoneham.

For the local presentation the soloists will be the university popular radio tone, George Wheeler; Harry Clark, baritone; and Robert E. Evans, baritone. Mr. Wilson will be at the organ. The public is cordially invited to attend.

DOWNES EXHIBIT WINS MEDALS

At the annual spring flower show of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society which was held Monday at the Merchants Hall, Boston, Miss Elizabeth Downes of this town has exhibited orchids in memory of her father, the late Judge Henry Downes who has always had prize-winning displays at the Boston shows.

At the front of Grand Hall, leading down from the stage is a large array of orchids surrounding a waterfall and pool, which won for Miss Downes the gold medals of the Massachusetts and Pennsylvania Horticultural Societies.

TO OBSERVE 10th ANNIVERSARY OF LAYING OF CORNER STONE

The Second Congregational Church of the Highlands, corner of Washington street and Kenyon road, will fittingly observe the 10th anniversary of the laying of the corner stone, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The Chase Orchestra will render selections and the young people's choir will participate.

The pastor will give the historical address and Rev. Austin Rice, D.D., of Wakefield will preach the sermon.

TO PRESENT BRAHMS' REQUIEM

The augmented choir of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church, under the direction of Mary Rantow, will present a performance of Brahms' Requiem for presentation on Palm Sunday afternoon. This great oratorio is seldom done because of its difficult score and music is being shown in the coming production. Mary H. French will be the organist.

Y. P. S. NOTES

Next Sunday is the annual Young People's Conference, which will be held this year at Haverhill. The young people of the Congregational Church are invited to attend and consequently there will be no meeting of the Young People's Society of the church. All those desiring to go to this conference will please notify Miss Scott and transportation will be furnished. There will be, as usual, two sessions, one in the afternoon and one in the evening. Supper will be served between the two for a small sum. It is too late to procure tickets for the latter, but all our young people are heartily advised to attend one or both of the conferences as in previous years they have always been very interesting. For further information call Kirby Thayer or Miss Scott. Last Sunday we were pleased to have as our guests the young people of the Unitarian and Baptist Churches. Miss Merle Easton talked to us on her experiences as a school teacher in the Kentucky mountains, and proved to be such a delightful speaker that we were indeed sorry she had to end at all. We sincerely hope that we may hear her again next year.

JUNIOR FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Girls, at last the time has come when we are to give our play. It ought to be the biggest thrill of this year. As you know, the West Roxbury Juniors are also giving their play with us on the same night. The judges are women picked from the state department of dramatics, and will be with us that night to judge the two plays for the finals in the contest. We also hope to have with us Mrs. York of Medford whom you all know and I have had the promise of our own Mrs. Wilson to be there. Now with all this honor conferred on us, we simply must strive to be the best, and I hope you will all agree with me, that you should be more interested in this night than our own club. Don't forget, Monday night at 8 o'clock promptly in Fortnightly Hall. N. H. C. Pub. Chairman

ICE IS OUT OF MYSTIC

The ice went out of Mystic Lake on Sunday, a week ahead of last year. This gives indication of an early spring. To Mr. Stephen S. Laughey of Cambridge street, has kept records of this event for years, the Star is indebted for the following table of the going out of the ice since 1918:

Year	Day	Year	Day
1918	March 1	1928	March 1
1919	March 2	1929	March 2
1920	March 3	1930	March 3
1921	March 4	1931	March 4
1922	March 5	1932	March 5
1923	March 6	1933	March 6
1924	March 7	1934	March 7
1925	March 8	1935	March 8
1926	March 9	1936	March 9
1927	March 10

SALE FOR BLIND

The Civic Federation of the Blind have had a most successful sale of articles made by the blind, at their new home, 22 Newbury street, Boston. On Wednesday, March 18, the Guild of the Infant Saviour offered their services in helping at different tables and well over $600 was realized due to their efforts. Miss Trainer, organizer for this sale, sent hundreds of these lovely articles to the Winchester Chapter on Tuesday, to be offered for sale at their regular meeting. Those members who were unable to go to the shop in town took this opportunity to help others handicapped by loss of sight. Orders can be placed for any of these articles through the Guild and every effort will be made to carry out color scheme of design wanted. Miss Trainer, herself blind, said all they asked was a chance to be self-supporting and happy despite their affliction. All who can be urged to visit the store and view the many useful and excellent articles offered for sale.

D. A. R.

The March meeting of the Committee of Safety, Chapter D. A. R. was held at the home of Mrs. Frank E. Rowe, 30 Vine street. There was a splendid attendance. Interesting reports were given by Mrs. Sewall D. Newman of the State Conference. It was voted to send a contribution to the American International College at Springfield. Also one to the Red Cross. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Rowe and her hostesses, Mrs. G. M. Byrne, Mrs. P. J. Catana and Mrs. Nestor Davis. A social hour was enjoyed by all.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE WINCHESTER HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The annual meeting of the Winchester Historical Society will be held on Thursday evening at 8 p.m., April 2, in the art room of the Winchester Public Library. Mr. Samuel S. Symmes of Winchester will be the speaker of the evening and will tell about "Winchester's Earlier Years" as he remembers them in his own experience, and as told him by his forefathers. Those who have ever heard Mr. Symmes speak will realize what a treat is in store for them. Townspeople, whether members of the Society or not, are cordially invited to attend the meeting.

SAGAMORE SPRINGS GOLF COURSE OPENS

Announcement is made this week that the Sagamore Springs Golf course, a favorite with Winchester golfers, is now open for the season, two weeks earlier than is usual. The courses is in excellent shape and it is expected that the regular greens will be ready April 1. The course is under the same management, Messrs. Lauff and Strodel, who will be glad to greet their former friends and all others looking for a good place to play golf.

GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

Lecture

One of the levellest lectures of the season was given on last Friday morning at the home of Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini, 12 Foxcroft road when Claire Singer Daves addressed a group of over 50 women, taking as her subject one loved and revered by all Catholics, "The Blessed Virgin." Mrs. Daves after considerable research work approached her subject from a historical standpoint. Very appropriate Easter decorations of palms, ferns, Easter lilies and candles were used throughout the living room and sun porch of the Ghirardini home. A lovely panel of Fortuny cloth formed the background for the speaker.

Miss Elvira Barretta, dramatic soprano, accompanied by Mr. Pellicini, gave a very fine musical program in conjunction with the lecture. Miss Barratta, who has appeared in many very successful concerts at Jordan and Symphony Halls, included Gounod's "Ave Maria" and several arias from operas in her splendid selections for the morning.

As is customary coffee was served to the guests one half hour preceding the lecture. Lovely wild crab-apple blossoms were used throughout the dining room. Presiding at the coffee table were Mrs. J. Edward Downes and Mrs. M. J. Meagher of Wolburn. Serving were Mrs. Joseph Downing, Mrs. Jonathan Felt, Mrs. D. J. Kelley and Mrs. Louis Smith. The ushers were Mrs. Franklin Evans and Mrs. Frank Williams.

The next lecture will be held at the home of Mrs. William Hickey, 12 Edgell road. Elias Scammon will lecture on the "History of the Greek Church." Mrs. Anna Newman, soloist at St. Agnes Church, Arlington, will give a musical program preceding Mr. Scammon's discourse.

Regular Meeting
At the meeting Tuesday, Mrs. J. R. Gaffey of West Medford, Mrs. J. J. Gorman, Mrs. J. B. Haley, Mrs. W. C. Hamilton, Mrs. G. C. LeDuc and Mrs. William Hickey were hostesses. After the lecture, Mrs. Elizabeth Clancy, blind reader, gave a most interesting program. She gave a brief outline of the work being done by the blind at their work shop in Cambridge. This work is carried on under the State Board of Educators, Division of the Blind. As the Perkins School for the Blind children, the Civilian Federation of Blind aids adults. Upon application, teachers will be sent to any home to give instructions in weaving, basketry, broom-making or any trade desired.

For her readings Miss Clancy gave "Redemption," "A Colored Lady on Telephone" and "The Blind Children." Tea was served. The next meeting will be on April 14. There will be an exhibition of sewing and guests are invited.

Spring Bridge
Remember, April 21 is the date of our bridge and fashion show at the Worcester Country Club. An automobile may be had at the club by making reservations with Mrs. William Coughwell, Win. City.

Special Notes

Congratulations to "Grandma" Dolan who celebrated her 75th birthday on last Sunday. Our warmest wishes go out to any who does so much to make others happy.

The sixth grade conducted recently, in connection with social study, a Scandinavian exhibit, to which were invited the fourth and fifth grades. Preliminary map information was given by Ellsworth Post.

The Norwegian exhibit included Norwegian money, stamps, jewelry, hand-carved wooden ware, an engraved copper cream pitcher and a silver hand-engraved confirmation spoon.

The Swedish exhibit consisted of Swedish newspapers, greeting cards, books and magazines, coins, stamps, dairy can, hunting knife, chinaware, a beautifully designed hand made tapestry, a hand woven table cloth and a monogrammed copper, coffee service.

The Norwegian exhibit was conducted by Boris Josephson and the Swedish exhibit, by Richard Young, Mary Russo and Robert Hallberg who also read in Swedish from one of his books.

Veronica McCarron presided and introduced each speaker.

SEVERAL FIRES FIRST OF WEEK

Monday at 1p:37 p.m. Box 142 called the Fire Department to put out a grass fire at the corner of High and Arlington streets. At 3:05 p.m. there was a brush fire near the residence of Mr. C. H. Zarse, 8 Fellside. A second brush fire was reported at 5 o'clock on the hill near the residence of Mr. M. C. Ambrose on Vine street. Tuesday's first run came at 10:02 a. m. for a grass fire on Mildwood street extension. At 10:55 there was a telephone call for a grass fire in the field near the residence of Mr. Robert W. Armstrong on Wedgemere avenue. Box 59 also came in for the same fire. A telephone call at 12:16 took apparatus out on a brush fire in a rear of the Highland School and at 2:07 p.m. the final run of the day was made to a grass fire at the corner of Clematis and Forest streets.

WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

On Wednesday, April 1, at 2:30 p.m. the regular meeting of the Winchester Women's Republican Club will be held in Waterfield Hall as usual. This is the annual meeting with the election of officers, but a worthwhile program is also offered. The various candidates for Governorship are to be the guest speakers, the first being the Hon. John W. Haigis, followed by the Hon. Joseph E. Warner, District Attorney Warren L. Bishop and Hon. Robert T. Bushnell.

This meeting promises to be an interesting one and it is hoped that all the members and their guests will avail themselves of the opportunity to gain first hand information about these candidates, one of whom they may have the privilege of voting for in November.

The club will also welcome many new members who have joined the ranks of Republican workers during the last few weeks.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Professor William J. Drisko and Miss Caroline Drisko are making a short visit in Winchester. With them are Miss Doris Crockett and Miss Mary Brooks, both of Addison. They expect to attend the opera and Boston Flower show.

William A. Grady of 17 Sheridan circle was named on the Dean's List which was recently announced at Northwestern University. He is a senior in the School of Engineering.

MRS. MARY QUIGLEY

Mrs. Mary Quigley, nee Doherty, wife of John J. Quigley, died Thursday morning, March 26, at her home, 88 Wendell street, after a brief illness which followed several months of failing health.

Mrs. Quigley was 82 years old and a native of Donegal, Ireland. She had lived 37 years in this country, during all of that time being a resident of Winchester and had many friends in this town and had many friends among older residents.

Besides her husband she leaves two brothers, Michael Doherty of New York City; also four sisters, Miss Agnes Doherty of New York City, Mrs. Bridget Quill of Woburn and the Misses Ellen and Margaret Doherty, living in Donegal, Ireland.

The funeral will be held Saturday morning from the late residence with requiem high mass in the Immaculate Conception Church at 9 o'clock. Interment will be in Calvary Cemetery.

TOWN MEETING CONCLUDED

idea can be obtained of what sort of seats are needed. He scouted the idea of any one not wanting to sit on the old seats, saying that any one would "sit on a tack" to go to a game.

Mr. Blaisdell was a little uncertain as to how much of the new field is needed. He believed most of the field is under water recently and the whole likely to settle. Mr. Davidson replied that none of the baseball field is under water and that it should be settled on its merits and that if the town did not want to buy seats, it should say so and not attempt to excuse its action by finding fault with the field. Mr. Terry asked if the Finance Committee had considered self-lubricating bleachers. The motion for the appropriation was then put and lost.

The sum of $1000 was appropriated under Article 15 for reconsecrating the town clock in the Congregational Church tower, the same to be under the direction of the Selectmen. Under Article 14 the Treasurer was authorized, with the approval of the Selectmen, to sell, lease or otherwise use such land, building, etc., to which title had been located because of unpaid taxes, the sum of $25 being appropriated to be spent by the Selectmen for each year.

Under Article 17, $550 was appropriated to establish a dog clinic for the vaccination of dogs against rabies, furnishing antiseptic treatment to dogs and otherwise dealing with such situations as may arise in connection therewith.

This brought the meeting to the consideration of Article 18, inserted to see whether the town would vote to instruct the Water & Sewer Board to open the land around the town reservoirs and provide a sum of money to police the same.

The sum of $2000 was asked for police protection and Mr. Sanderson in explaining a motion to that end stated that the Water & Sewer Board felt that this sum was necessary if the land is to be opened and maintained as a public park for out of town people. Mr. Gunby stated that the Finance Committee had no recommendation concerning the opening or continued closing of the reservoir land, or the appropriation.

Mr. Terry asked how the purity of the water compared before and after closing the land, and Mr. Sanderson replied that the closing of the land was done as a progressive measure to prevent pollution upon the advice of the State Department of Health. Mr. Sanderson said that the closing had not prevented pollution since swamps and streams over which there is no control are permitted to drain into the reservoirs.

Mr. Boyden felt that the attitude of the Water & Sewer Board has been unfriendly in the matter of closing the land and regretted that the Winchester people are deprived of the pleasure of walking on the water shed. Mr. Laraway favored closing, stating that the town has spent and is spending thousands of dollars to guarantee the purity of its water and that the closing of the land is a progressive measure to prevent pollution upon the advice of the State Department of Health.

Mr. Russell stated that in his opinion the Water & Sewer Board has done no good in closing the reservoirs and has not done so to deprive the Winchester people of pleasure. The rule had been made to protect the health of the town and he favored continuing the land, despite his own loss of horseback riding privileges. Mr. Gunby stated that the water had been sufficiently polluted to have the State require the installation of chlorinators at the cost of $2000. Mr. Worthen favored opening the water shed as a beauty spot and providing the amount necessary to police it. Mr. Rich felt that the Winchester people should be permitted to enjoy the beauties of the Fells unrestricted and that there were certain times in the year when it would be quite feasible to remove the ban around the reservoirs which constitute the most beautiful part of the reservation. Mr. Cary wanted to know how the lands could be opened to Winchester people and outsiders kept out. Mr. Sanderson said that they could not, and in reply to a question stated that in the Water & Sewer Board's opinion the best thing to do at the reservoirs to fence them at a cost of $50,000. The next best thing is to close the land and the next best thing is to police at a cost of $2000. Mr. Fallon felt it too bad the people can not enjoy the roads and Mr. Cullen favored the appropriation of $3000 for policing whether or not the land is opened. Mr. Russell opposed and Mr. Hucks opposed. Mr. Lochman voiced the regret that Winchester is denied the healthy exercise of walking through the Fells.

Mr. Sanderson was asked if the Water & Sewer Board would open the lands if the money was appropriated and he said they would try. Mr. Hucks pointed out that the matter is purely discretionary with the Board.

Mr. Ramsdell moved an amendment to the original motion providing indefinite postponement of the subject matter referred to a committee of five to report at the next special or regular town meeting. This amendment prevailed 10 to 32. Mr. Rich championed at length the motion under Article 19 asking $3000 to be expended by the Historical Committee for the publication of the town's history, which has been written for many years by Mr. Henry S. Chapman and for which material has been collected by men of the white collar group of the unemployed. Provision was made for the sale of books to townspeople and others at $2 per volume.

Mr. Gunby stated that the Finance Committee favored deferring publication, or at least binding up the books at this time, saying that Newton had found its history not a best seller. Mr. Davidson favored the appropriation and the town librarian, Miss Quimby also spoke in favor of the motion, which was carried.

Mrs. Conlon spoke clearly and convincingly concerning the growing dump nuisance in the vicinity of the Newman school, the location of which she felt was at the meeting. The town voted under Article 20 that the matter of public removal of rubbish be referred to a committee of three, one of whom is to be the health officer.

Under Article 21 the number of members of a lay society was fixed at eight and Mr. Guild was re-elected local director of the town's work done in connection with the County Aid to Agriculture. Under Article 22 reports of the Dutch Elm Disease and West Side School Committee were heard and accepted, provision being made for a new committee to study the advisability of having longer terms for Selectmen and changing the names of the committees. Mr. Gunby called for a committee of seven and Mr. Laraway moved to amend to have a representative of each precinct in the committee. His amendment prevailed and the motion was passed.

Mr. Clarke reported, under Article 24, for a committee the west side fire station, explaining the committee's proposal to secure a parcel of land in Myopia Park, roughly on High street near Summit road, as a site for a new station to afford adequate protection for the west side hill district. Mr. Russell stated that the committee said would not be built now, but it would be well to establish the fact that a house is to be built on the site. Mr. Parsons stated that the committee had been asked to give the Symmes Park water tower fiasco. Mr. Parsons voiced the Planning Board's opposition, stating that placing a station on a new committee proposes will exactly duplicate the water tower trouble in one of the finest residential districts in Winchester. Mr. Glendon opposed, stating the erection on the proposed site will depreciate the whole surrounding neighborhood.

Mr. Farnsworth spoke in favor, but Mr. Rich moved consideration of the article be laid upon the table with the committee instructed to give the matter more thought, and this was voted.

Certain changes in designations of by-law articles were voted under Article 25 and under 26 it was voted to have the Board of Appeal and not the Selectmen hear appeals from zoning by-laws and grant exceptions to them when extenuating circumstances may indicate a need for special action. Mr. Parsons explained that the change was asked to avoid a duplication of authority, now fixed by statute. Mr. McDonough felt that the few in the hall knew what the motion was all about and objected to voting for something she did not understand. Mr. Parsons then clearly explained the proposed change, to which the only spoken objection was that of Mr. Russell and Mr. Laraway, the latter feeling that the Selectmen ought to do something themselves instead of "passing the buck" to some one else. He believed better consideration of appeals would be secured from an elected body like the Selectmen rather than from an appointed body like the Board of Appeals.

Under Article 27 the investment of the cemetery permanent care fund was transferred from the Cemetery Commission to the newly established Board of Commissioners of Trust Funds. The meeting refused to put the superintendent of the water department under tenure of office as asked by the Water & Sewer Board under Article 28. Mr. Gunby and Mr. Laraway opposed.

The meeting voted to adopt a by-law forbidding dogs to run at large unless vaccinated against rabies, providing a $10 fine to be paid by owners for each violation.

This disposed of Article 30 and under 30 and 31, it was voted to forbid the display of show cards, placards, signs and advertising matter on public ways and also to forbid the distribution of handbills, cards, and circulars, etc., except newspapers and political notices, without the permission of the Chief of Police; also to forbid the solicitation of alms promiscuously and the delivering of printed matter, such as mentioned above at homes, without the permission of the Chief of Police.

Under the final article, 43, it was unanimously voted to exchange the former site of the Symmes Park water tower for a parcel of land on Riley road and the town road, the latter to be used for the installation of a pump for the water supply system.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

England's Green and Pleasant Land, that is a refreshing sound that brings to nerves frazzled and tired what worn by the wear and tear of winter season. And what a delightful surprise to find Mr. Charles E. Gilbert, teacher, lecturer and traveler, gave his interested audience on March 25th a thoroughly English picture of the country.

Just preceding the lecture, Mrs. Idabelle Winslow, accompanied by Mrs. Mary Ranton Witham at the piano, gave a very delightful group of English songs in her charming manner, which carried us readily into the mood for our visit to England. We started from London, not lingering in the city, but getting out into the high ways and by-ways where we could absorb the real beauty of English countryside. We went to the Shakespeare and Scott country and saw the thatched roofed cottages of Burns and Wordsworth. Boston is very quiet, but our Boston is much larger, as their population is 15,000 people. York is an interesting provincial city and Abbey is a picture of loveliness. Edinburgh, the most beautiful city in the world, is dominated by Castle Rock, which looms high above everything, and through the city runs Princess street, the most beautiful street imaginable. The Scottish hills were alluring in the cloak of mist, the hillsides covered with yellow gorse, and purple heather. The English lakes were charming and a series of scenes of lake beauty. Two spots of unusual delight are Lymouth, and Lynton, which we must see when we travel to England. After touring about among the hills and lakes, country roads, and beautiful gardens, and viewing the many ancient places built centuries ago, we were brought back to London.

Mr. Gilbert's colored slides were so lovely and the whole lecture gave us such a picture of the beauty of the English country, with the charming vistas, that we were filled with a longing to see these places with our own eyes.

Art Open House, Friday, April 3, 2:30 p. m.

The last of the series, "At Home" given for the whole Fortnightly by the Art Committee this year will be a program of flower arrangements. Prof. Edwin C. Newell, head of the Mass. School of Art, assisted by Mrs. Newell, will furnish an entertainment of music, poetry, and lovely fragrant spring flowers. The program there will be a social hour with refreshments. All members of the club and any of their friends who are not eligible for membership in the Fortnightly are cordially welcome. Members of other federated clubs are also invited.

BASKETBALL

The Cosmos defeated the Winchester Sharpshooters last night at the Congregational Church gymnasium by the score of 41 to 29. It was a very close game, with both teams showing a lack of practice. Smith and Hakanson played well for the Sharpshooters, while Mohs and Hill were the Congregational main point-guards.

MUSICAL

A very interesting musical was given Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Swanson, who has been a pianist for 16 years.

A group of 40 friends and music lovers gathered for the occasion to the program which was charmingly rendered.

Miss Swanson showed a very fine understanding of the art of singing, and her voice was beautiful in tone and color.

Tokens of flowers from many friends added much to the setting of the home, which was followed.

Miss Swanson's entire musical education has been under the direction of Lillian Adams Alexander. The following is a list of the program:

SOLDIER

Jim Dugan was no great shakes of a man. Not a doctor had finished what the World War had begun. There wasn't much left of him in the way of sound anatomy. He had slumped early in the shelling, his adventure and being spurred to patriotic duty by the eloquence of J. P. Robinson, president of the Robinson Pressed Steel Company, where Jim worked in the shops.

So Jim left his wife and went to war, was gassed, wounded, shell-shocked and came home to receive a paragraph in his town paper and a mechanical leg.

The gas kept doing things to him. Something mysterious ate at his vitals and gave him interesting diseases. He was the pet guinea of the hospital where he lay for three years. He had undergone removed bits of him, his nervous system, tampering with his spinal column, and it worked. Jim should have laughed and rejoiced, that he couldn't laugh, for the operation had left one side of his face and one eye paralyzed. Nothing painful, but it gave him a comical appearance.

Jim got his bonus and compensation, but every nickel had gone to his wife and kids. So Jim went slumping away on his mechanical leg seeking a job. His old job at the Robinson Pressed Steel Company had been filled long ago and Jim could no longer work at the lathe, anyhow, on account of his paralyzed eye. But Jim was lucky, and through the "pull" of a friend in the company he got a job as a window washer at $12 a week. So each morning Jim clump-clumped the stairs with his bucket, rug, ladder, and sponge, a quaint batch for a man who had just swallowed something bitter.

Jim had been at the same job 10 years now and he was getting tougher and tougher. He had leg was wasn't acting up, nothing mysterious, muscular atrophy or something.

One morning Jim made his weekly trip to the antechambers of the office where J. P. Robinson laid down the policies of his company. Though the windowless Jim caught a glimpse of the great man's back, the flag on the wall and a framed commission to a captaincy in the Home Guards.

Jim had helped the Allies win the war by patriotically turning out munitions and, incidentally, earning $12.00 a week by his sacrifice.

Jim climbed the stout ladder and went to work. And then, suddenly, a whistle blew, followed by a curious hush among the 40 clerks, that he knew. Whether it was the whistle, Jim never knew, but he was startled into a misstep on the ladder and Jim, bucket, mechanical leg and all, went clattering to the floor with a frightful racket in the dead silence.

The door of the president's office opened and J. P. Robinson, red with wrath, bellowed on the threshold. He advanced to Jim and shook a fat forefinger.

"I have noticed your inefficiency before," he barked. "This is the last straw, Mr. Perkins, who is this man and who hired him?"

Mr. Perkins didn't know. Nobody knew. They thought maybe Mr. Robinson of the service department hired the window washer.

"Then notify Saunders, that this man is to be dismissed," said President Robinson. "His inefficiency has caused the loss of the Robinson Pressed Steel Company's annual observance of Armistice Day. I gave strict orders for a two-minute general silence when the white flag was hoisted and now, ladies and gentlemen, I request you to be silent for a moment while we face east as a tribute to the Unknown Soldier."

President J. P. Robinson, captain in the Home Guards, turned his back on Jim and faced the east, with his hand at his side, to the Unknown Soldier in a tomb 200 miles away. So did Mr. Perkins and the rest. Nobody looked at Jim Dugan, that moment seemed to wear a diabolical grin. But it was, of course, only his paralysis that made him look so comical.

WINCHESTER TO BE CONGRATULATED

To the Editor of the Star:

Your excellent editorial of March 20 regarding the effects of the flood in Winchester and the fact that it would amount to but $500. This will cover the cost of rebuilding one small foot-bridge at the upper end of North Washington street, and re-flooding a small area above Cross street. There was no other serious damage.

We may well take pride in the fact that our good fortune is due to deliberate plan, and not to mere chance.

In his report of Jan. 31, 1928, page 14, Mr. Kellaway said as follows: "On account of the large area of the watershed, 27½ square miles, whose waters will pass through the center of Winchester, it seems wise to provide ponded areas to act as 'expansion space in time of flood.' Such ponded areas will be more in evidence as a need when the lands to the north are largely built over, thus causing the water to run off in a very rapid degree."

Last year the Main street bridge at Wedge Pond was rebuilt with the Town providing only one-third of the cost. Had this not been done, the old bridge would undoubtedly have gone out by now, and the nearby business district would have been flooded; probably the Water Department and the Town Yard would have been out of commission. The new bridge which we have just voted to build at Lake street will remedy the last weak spot.

The new culverts under the railroad have proved ample and although some water seeped over the Shore road near the new field, no harm was done to the street itself.

Horn Pond Brook has been excavated, straightened and graded, and upon Russell Brook will be completed this summer.

In short, anybody who will read again the Kellaway report will find that his recommendations have now been generally carried out, and that to this fact Winchester can attribute the lack of damage during the most serious floods in many years.

When we read of the many communities which supply water which has been polluted by floods, we can also congratulate ourselves that our resources are so situated as to be beyond all reach of such danger. This also is due to foresight and good judgment.

UNSATISFACTORY CONCLUSION

To the Editor of the Star:

In the Town Meeting Monday night there was a considerable discussion concerning the appropriation of money to the Water Board to be used to patrol the town reservoirs.

This discussion came to a rather unsatisfactory conclusion. The matter was referred to a committee whose sole function is to investigate a situation that the Water Board has already and wholly and whose activities will, at best, be nothing more than an unwarranted interference with the operation of that board.

There seemed to be a rather invincible feeling among the members present that the suggested appropriation was somewhat of a frivolous matter and that some other means brook the Water Board in opening the Fells without any appropriation. Now it must have been perfectly evident to anyone at the meeting that Mr. Sanderson and his Water Board are not going to be unopposed in opening the reservoirs unless they are confident it will be safe to do so. In this they are 100 per cent right. But the whole matter is of vital concern to the town.

The beauty of the Fells and of our reservoirs is unquestioned. There is afforded the people of Winchester a place for pleasant walks and recreation unparalleled in Greater Boston. The Middlesex Fells has for many years been a favorite place in the Commonwealth and this whether Mr. Sanderson views the reservoirs as a park or not. But all this is of no account so long as the reservoirs remain closed. It is unfortunate that in recent years there has been a steady increase in the cities north of Boston whose behavior has been such as to threaten our water supply. This situation must be met and the way to meet it is by appropriating funds to the Water Board adequate to afford protection of the reservoirs; not to throw up the question as to the place up. Such a procedure is not economy, but an utter waste of our resources.

We should also bear in mind that the Middlesex Fells is a State Park the purpose of which is to afford the people in the surrounding towns a place for recreation and a place for the people of Winchester to exclude people from the town lands in the center of this reservation we are to a considerable extent maintaining the purposes of the state in maintaining the reservation. The state has the power to appropriate these funds and to run them in a manner consistent with the purposes of the Fells. We can easily prevent any such calamity from befalling them in such a manner.

Yours very truly,
Arthur Thad Smith, Jr.

FISH AND GAME PICTURES NOT TO BE SHOWN

The illustrated talk on fish and game which was to have been given this Friday evening in Metcalf hall by the State Game warden, George J. Stobie, commissioner of inland fisheries and game for the State of Maine has had to be called off, since the State of Maine is still remaining in Maine for special law in connection with the flood conditions there.

Mr. Dana Cotton of the High School faculty, through whose efforts the talk was to have been given received the following self-explanatory letter from Mr. Stobie:

Augusta, Me.,
March 19, 1936

Diana M. Cotton
Winchester High School
Winchester, Mass.

Dear Mr. Cotton:

Due to the fact that Maine is experiencing a flood condition which none of us expected, it will be impossible for me to attend your meeting on the 27th. The Governor has instructed me to give all my time to flood relief and whatever else I can do until very existing condition is no longer serious.

I am very, very sorry that I cannot be with you and hope that I have not caused you any inconvenience. However, I am sure you will understand the situation.

Very truly yours,
George J. Stobie

Bids will be opened for highway supplies as follows: road materials on April 13 at 7:45 p. m., road oils on April 13 at 8 p. m., gasoline on April 20 at 8 p. m.

The Boston Sand & Gravel Company has withdrawn its application for permission to erect a temporary batching plant on land of the Boston & Maine Railroad between its main line and the southerly line of Sumner street.

Winchester Flood Relief
Winchester extended its complete co-operation in relief measures in the flood-stricken areas of the Merrimack Valley it was announced by the Board of Selectmen.

This co-operation was along several lines.

Delegations of the Winchester Post, 97, American Legion went to Lawrence to work on the flood-stricken areas of the Merrimack Valley it was announced by the Board of Selectmen.

The Water and Sewer Department made available a mobile pump unit.

The board was advised that the Winchester Chapter of the Red Cross raised several times its quota in the special subscription campaign.

A special meeting of the Board was held Saturday afternoon at which special relief plans were discussed, and at which time communications were set up with Mayor Archibald, of Lowell and Mayor Griffin of Lawrence.

Subsequently on request of Mayor Griffin it was arranged for the sending of blankets and cot tents to Lawrence.

A piece of fire apparatus manned by the members of the Fire Department was sent to Andover Tuesday morning and spent several days there assisting in pumping water supply for the city of Lawrence.

On receipt of the telegram from Lieut. Governor Hurley asking for co-operation in a tag day to be concluded this Saturday the Board replied stating that the town would co-operate to the utmost. Mr. Frank E. Crawford supported by a representative citizens' committee has been designated by the Board to take charge of this tag day.

The Selectmen urge that generous support be given by the citizens of the town to this movement on Saturday.

MRS. CATHERINE TRANFAGLIA

Mrs. Catherine Tranfaglia, wife of Giovanni Tranfaglia of 22 Swan street, died Thursday morning, March 26, at the Winchester Hospital, after an illness of several months which included two serious operations.

Mrs. Tranfaglia was born in Italy 58 years ago, but came as a young woman to this country and lived for 30 years here and some in Winchester, being well and favorably known among residents of the Italian section of the town.

Her husband leaves two daughters, Mrs. Angelina Caputo and Mrs. Laura Dattilo; also two sons, Angelo and James. She was the daughter of the late Antonio Tranfaglia, the latter captain-elect of the Norwich University football team.

The funeral will be held Monday morning from the late residence with solemn high mass of requiem celebrated in St. Mary's Church at 9 o'clock. Interment will be in Calvary Cemetery.

LIENS' MEETING

Last Monday evening was another banner night for the Winchester Lions. One more of Fred's fine dinners, good percentages of attendance, our usual congeniality, and the added pleasure of listening to remarks by Mr. Albert Leman, assistant editor of the Boston Sunday Post, on "Journalism."

Non-members are welcome provided they notify President "Bob" Emery or Frank Hurley by Saturday the 28th.

WINCHESTER CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

A meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce was held in their office, 3 Common street, last Tuesday evening.

Plans were advanced for the annual dinner and ladies' night to be held in conjunction with the Rotary and Lions on April 30 at the Calumet Club. Mr. Nichols was given charge of the tickets. Mr. Scholl was appointed to take charge of the menu.

President Lockman instructed to look after arranging for a speaker, music, and entertainment. These annual get-togethers of the Winchester service clubs are always looked forward to with a great deal of pleasure and it is anticipated that this year will be no exception.

Many items of interest to the town were discussed and it was voted to hold a directors' meeting once a month.

Considering the business of every body, what with the town meeting, the Red Cross, and flood workers, the attendance was very encouraging.

FOUR FIRES YESTERDAY

The first of four fires which took place yesterday was a grass fire near the residence of Mr. John Callahan at 191 Forest street, to which the Fire Department was called at 11:13 a. m. At 11:27 a. m. the department was called to correct trouble with a range oil burner at the home of Mrs. William Wigglesworth, 128 Forest street.

A brush fire near the residence of Mrs. Blanche Bennett at 30 Highland avenue gave the firemen a run at 11:50 and at 4:26 p. m. there was a grass fire near the home of Mr. Leon A. Pratt at 173 Forest street.

DEERKILL TO SAY

I don't like to talk a lot about other folks here but when folks talk I endeavor to say some good word of hate.

And when I see them head my way I make it of my busy day. Then and there they say they say near by some good word of cheer.

You'll be surprised what kind words do towards people passing from you. You'll find that they won't stay away. If you won't talk of folks in town.

Now if they've got to chin and nod and when they do they do too bad. But then again it's for the best. 'Cause it will give their tongues a rest. Roland Wells Robinson.

SHATT-AL-ARAB, TRADE ARTERY FOR IRAQ AND IRAN

Iraq and Iran (Persia) recently settled themselves, a boundary dispute so serious that it had been taken to the League of Nations. The line of contention was the Shatt-alarab, a river formed by the confluence of the Tigris and Euphrates Rivers, flowing into the Persian Gulf.

The Shatt-alarab's importance to Iraq and Iran is not apparent upon first glance at the map, says a Bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Silt a Blessing and Curse
Only 54 miles of the river, stretching from 16 miles below Basra to the Persian Gulf, are of commercial importance to both countries. More than 800 steamers sail up the Shatt-alarab each year to Basra, Iraq, and to Abadan, a busy port of Iran. Tons of silt are carried down the river annually. In flood times the silt enriches the lands along the river banks.

While silt is a blessing to farmers, it is a curse to mariners. At Fao, a report near the mouth of the Shatt-alarab, it piles up in a crescent-shaped bar which hinders navigation. Channels across the bar frequently shift and have to be dredged continually. Along the river's lower reaches, the reed and grass-covered banks are composed of mud so soft that it is almost impossible to land on them.

Producers Over Half of World Date Supply
Once across the bar, ocean steamers can ascend the Shatt-alarab for nearly 93 of its 123 miles. Its average depth is from 20 to 35 feet, its average width 500 to 600 yards.

The trip upstream gives one lively glimpses of the life of the region. On the banks one catches sight of ducks and snipes, wild hogs, and herds of cattle and buffaloes feeding on vegetation that extends down to the water's edge.

Both sides of the river are green. Gardens and groves stretch inland for from 1000 yards to two miles. Grains, opium, hemp, lentils, and dates are produced.

When one buys a package of dried dates in a local shop, the chances are it came from Iraq, via the Shatt-alarab, for Iraq produces more than half of the world supply. In 1933-34 it exported 114,000 tons of dates. Estimates place nearly one-third of the world's date palms in Iraq, or some 30,000,000 trees. At least half of these are concentrated along the Shatt-alarab. Near Basra, a date grove forms an unbroken stretch for over 36 miles along the river bank.

Oil Piped 110 Miles
Iran also grows many dates, exporting about 40,000 tons to the British Empire in good years. A large proportion of Iran's 10,000,000 date palms grow along the Shatt-alarab.

Many of the steamers ascending the Shatt-alarab stop at Abadan, an Iranian port of 40,000 inhabitants. Here is located a refinery of the Anglo-Persian Oil Company, in which oil is piped from Iranian oil fields 140 miles to the Persian Gulf.

North of Abadan, steamers reach Basra, a busy Iraq port with a population, largely Arab, of over 80,000. In the date season, the harbor of the date city is crossed in Iraq, or some 30,000,000 trees. At least half of these are concentrated along the Shatt-alarab.

Reverse of Polygamy

Polygamy, the custom of a woman having more than one husband at a time, is a common one in very primitive societies. Custom notes its existence in his day among the Picts and the Irish, and there are evidences that it existed among other Arayan stocks.

A form of it existed in Hawaii when those islands were discovered by Europeans, and it has only lately disappeared from other Pacific islands and Ceylon. It is still found in some tribes of northeastern Siberia, in the Aleutian Islands, and in Africa among the Hotentots and some mountain tribes of Tibet.

WILL STRUCK BY CAR ON OAK STREET

Mary O'Melia, 2 year old daughter of Fireman and Mrs. John J. O'Melia of 20 Oak street, was struck and knocked down shortly before noon time last Friday by an automobile being driven east on Oak street by Waldo J. Hill of 51 Pleasant street Woburn.

Hill told the police that the lister came from behind a parked machine into the path of his car. He took her to her home where she was attended by Dr. Daniel Joyce of Woburn. She is reported to have been bruised and shaken up, but not seriously injured.
